Listening to Listeners Ronald J Allen, 2004-06-01 Many preachers long to understand the dynamics of thought feeling and behavior at work in congregations They use many techniques to evaluate the needs of their congregation and to sharpen their sermons but preachers seldom give members of their congregation the opportunities to identify qualities of preaching that motivate them to engage sermons and qualities of sermons that prompt disengagement This book draws on one of the first large scale attempts in North America to do just that Drawing on extensive interviews and analysis based on traditional rhetorical categories derived from Aristotle the listener s perception of the character personality and trustworthiness of the preacher ethos the appeals to reason in the content of the sermon logos and the role of feeling in the event of preaching pathos the authors present case illustrations to help preachers listen pastorally to their own parishioners to understand how their listeners participation in the sermon is affected by the ethos logos and pathos and how the pastor can use this understanding to preach in ways that engage listeners Pastors are encouraged to compare and contrast their own perceptions of preaching with those expressed by their parishioners and to reflect more broadly and deeply about preaching in the preacher s own congregational setting

Media-Mediated Relationships Frank Hoffmann, B. Lee Cooper, Linda K. Fuller, 2023-07-28 Creating a nexus between techno-science and more fundamental disciplines, a phenomenon is emerging in our personal lives: we are beginning to preempt traditional sources for relationship formation. We are becoming more insular and more cautious in starting relationships. The media play an enormous role in our activities, encouraging us to self-advertise in newspapers and magazines, to participate vicariously through pornographic and borderline books, talk radio, and tabloid television; to use our telephones and computers for the ultimate in safe sex; to engage in video dating; and to explore many other aspects in the field of technoeroticism. As straight and gay people alike live in a time of reluctant commitments, a period of playtime, and the Age of AIDS, the time has come to chronicle the role of mass communication in our search for interpersonal connections. Media Mediated Relationships investigates the historical, economic, psychological, and sociocultural ramifications of the print and broadcast media, motion pictures, music, and new communications technologies: computers, video, interactive media, virtual reality, phone sex, in terms of both our individual and societal concerns. An extension of cultivation analysis by means of systems theory, it reports on a baseline survey of over 200 people regarding relationship mediation, demonstrating yet one more example of the symbiosis among and between various media sources. A descriptive case study, Media Mediated Relationships provides a barometer for better understanding the many singles and others searching for meaning and relationships in the sociocultural milieu of the 1990s and beyond.
