Literacy and Empowerment Courts, Patrick L, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, 1992-01-01 Literacy and Empowerment Patrick L. Courts, 1991-10-07 The first volume of the series Language and Ideology this work explores mature literacy Patrick L Courts argues that while by society's standards many people can read well they are unable to create meaning from the world of oral and written language His theory derives from psycho and sociolinguistics cognitive psychology philosophy literary criticism and whole language theory Courts criticizes programmed activities texts and workbooks challenging the control that commercial textbook publishers and test makers exert on education He shuns overemphasis on methods and offers an alternative approach firmly grounded in theory and aimed at empowering teachers and students Courts begins with a discussion of liberatory pedagogy drawing from whole language theory the social semiotics of Halliday reader response theory and the ideas of Heidegger and Derrida The subsequent methodological chapters build a case for what Courts calls a conservative revolution in literacy education teachers combining a sound base of theory with methodologies to tap students generative creative powers Courts's methodology aims to empower people as meaning makers This book is valuable to teachers and administrators textbook publishers and students of education The Lea Guide To Composition James D. Culture and Difference Antonia Darder, 1995-12-30 The yearning to remember who we are is not easily detected in the qualitative dimensions of focus groups and ethnographic research methods nor is it easily measured in standard quantified scientific inquiry It is deeply rooted obscured by layer upon layer of human efforts to survive the impact of historical amnesia induced by the dominant policies and practices of advanced capitalism and postmodern culture Darder's introduction sets the tone by describing the formation of Warriors for Gringostroika and The New Mestizas In the words of Anzaldua those who cross over pass over the confines of the normal Critical essays follow by Mexicanas poets activists and educators of all colors and persuasions The collection coming out of the good work of the Southern California University system relates to all locales and spectrums of the human condition and will no doubt inspire excellent creativity of knowing and remembering among all who chance to read any part thereof

McKenna,Linda D. Labbo,Ronald D. Kieffer,1998-04 The major shift going on today in the technologies of reading and writing raises important questions about conventional conceptions of literacy and its role in education society and culture What are the important characteristics of electronic forms of reading and writing distinguishing them from printed forms To what extent and in what ways is literacy being transformed by new technologies This central question is addressed in this volume from diverse multidisciplinary perspectives The contributing authors focus on a guiding question in one of the following areas which correspond to the major sections of the book Transforming Texts What are the new differences between printed and electronic texts and what are the implications of new textual forms for defining literacy especially in regard to teaching and learning in schools Transforming Readers and Writers How do electronic reading and writing change conceptualizations of literacy development from childhood through adulthood Transforming Classrooms and Schools What are the effects of introducing new reading and writing technologies into schools and classrooms Transforming Instruction How can instruction be adapted in response to the changing literacy landscape and how can teachers and students exploit forms of reading and writing to enhance teaching and learning Transforming Society What are the broad societal implications of the increasing prevalence of electronic forms of reading and writing Transforming Literacy Research What are the questions that must be addressed as digital reading and writing become more common and what approaches to research will be most useful in addressing those questions This volume is the result of an interactive process The contributors met as a group to discuss drafts of their chapters at a one day meeting convened and sponsored by the National Reading Research Center and had read each others chapters prior to this gathering That meeting was followed by a two day conference attended by approximately 180 researchers educators and policymakers who responded to an open invitation to present papers and to attend sessions focusing on the six major themes of the book Contributors then revised their chapters based on interactions with fellow contributors conference participants and volume editors Thus this work is more than just a compilation of the individual authors views Rather it represents a synthesis of a broad range of current thinking about how literacy is being and may be transformed by technology

Comparative Perspectives on Language and Literacy Leslie Limage, 1999 Canadian Books in Print, 2003

Politics, Language, and Culture Joseph W. Check, 2002-10-30 Politics language and culture are three of the most powerful forces affecting education today yet they have been little discussed in relation to systemic school reform the new status quo of urban schools This book looks at their effects through the eyes of teachers administrators and insider outsiders who are actually living reform at the school level in four widely different urban school systems Chicago San Francisco and Oakland California and Boston The book also creates a statistical and conceptual picture of urban education and school reform as national phenomena with deep historical roots and offers a composite case study of an urban elementary school undergoing reform The author argues that urban school reform is failing because its basic strategy is misguided and because reform thinking has consciously ignored three essential sources of knowledge about school change Strategically efforts for reform have relied heavily on the widespread replication of nationally promoted exemplary programs This approach assumes that local schools lack the knowledge and will to solve their own problems and require prescriptive intervention from national models In fact the exemplary programs approach has yielded very limited success What is needed instead is the creation and long term support of unique local exemplary contexts that combine best practice approaches with local knowledge conditions and resources The Education-jobs Gap D. W. Livingstone,1999-01-01 This text s basic argument is that our knowledge generally far exceeds our job opportunities Critical Literacy Lisa P. Stevens,Thomas W. Bean,2007-01-18 Comprised of chapters that make use of clear explanations of the tenets of critical literacy the context of literacy pedagogy in the US and classroom examples this text focuses on what can be learned about the theory of critical literacy from implementation and what practice can learn from theory Handbook of Literacy in Families and Communities Patricia A. Edwards,Catherine Compton-Lilly,Guofang Li,2025-06-09 This cutting edge Handbook explores the interactive and intergenerational nature of literacy across diverse environments supporting disadvantaged families through tailored programs It provides an extensive exploration of family literacy addressing early childhood literacy development parenting education and intervention services
