Bioarchaeological Analyses and Bodies Pamela K. Stone, 2018-01-16 This volume features bioarchaeological research that interrogates the human skeleton in concert with material culture ethnographic data and archival research This approach provides examples of how these intersections of inquiry can be used to consider the larger social and political contexts in which people lived and the manner in which they died Bioarchaeologists are in a unique position to develop rich interpretations of the lived experiences of skeletonized individuals Using their skills in multiple contexts bioarchaeologists are also situated to consider the ethical nature and inherent humanity of the research collections that have been used because they represent deceased for whom there are records identifying them These collections have been the basis for generating basic information regarding the human skeletal transcript Ironically though these collections themselves have not been studied with the same degree of understanding and interpretation that is applied to archaeological collections with British policy towards Turkey It further explores the motives not just of diplomats and consuls who were instrumental in establishing or safeguarding those spaces but also the aims of other organisations and of expatriate Britons who were similarly involved It also considers instances where such support became attenuated or was withdrawn The book is unique in illuminating in a broad fashion the role of sacred space in the context of Anglo Turkish relations and British power projection in the Near East
