In The Checklist Of Life:

In the Checklist of Life Lynn McPhelimy, 1997-03 B T S A 09 09 98 19 95 In the Checklist of Life Lynn McPhelimy, 1997-03 Author Lynn McPhelimy's inspiration to write In the Checklist of Life came from her parents Ellyn and Joe who eagerly talked with her as they faced the cancers that in time took their lives. This Working Book to Help You Live and Leave This Life is a friendly non-threatening place to record the practical aspects of our lives: the numbers, the bank accounts, and the insurance policies, plus the details of our material lives, a list of our stuff, and the special stories behind it. Then there are the memories. Remember when and have I ever told you, and for Lynn there was the map her father drew to the septic tank so that when he was gone she wouldn't have to dig up the garden looking for it. In the Checklist of Life is a gift of enormous significance to a loved one, a document of one's innermost thoughts on the life they've lived and their wishes for their departure. It is not a funeral planning book. It is rather, and more importantly, a comprehensive life planning book, a baby book in reverse. In the Checklist of Life is for people with aging parents, for senior citizens, for people who want to give their families peace of mind, and for people who simply want their lives in order. It's for professionals, hospice and Alzheimer's counselors, family therapists, grief counselors, lawyers, accountants, and clergymen. It's for anyone who has lost a loved one. If you think about it, we plan our daily lives. We plan our careers. We plan our vacations months ahead. We plan our retirement. But we stop there and leave our loved ones to suffer for our lack of, or our aversion to, planning to leave this life. In the Checklist of Life is a wonderful book. Its simplicity reaches to the center of our deepest anxieties, not fear of dying, but of leaving this life without putting it in order. It is a treasure for anyone who has loved ones, anyone who has worried about what would happen if. C Sosnowski M F T C P P The Lived Experience of Being Raised by Single Alcohol-Dependent

Father Shotayo Gabriel Tejuosho Ph.D, 2017-12-01 This researched work is titled The Lived Experience of Being Raised by Single Alcohol Dependent Father. The study illuminates the experiences of the author and the coresearchers. It is hoped that professionals will have a greater understanding of children raised by single alcohol dependent fathers. Even any alcohol dependent individual reading this book will find the experience under discussion similar to his or her own. Thus the book provides experience based personal accounts of the researchers. The study, while answering the research questions, will indirectly assist the readers in developing both knowledge and awareness about alcohol dependent fathers' behaviors, attitudes, values, and biases. Consistent with transformation and self-understanding is the saying that states: To know others, one must first know the self. This research piece assisted the researcher and coresearchers to delve into self-dialogue, self-inquiry, and self-discovery, which will also help every reader toward self-evaluation and reassessment of values in life. Thus the findings in the book will empower the readers toward self-awareness, a wider horizon, and the privilege to explore the significant human experience of being raised by a single alcohol dependent father. The book is significant to other alcohol dependent adults raised under the same conditions as they can potentially learn from the lived experiences of the researcher.

and coresearchers Therefore this study considers the lived experience of single fathers in the context of alcohol dependence

Power of Position Robert D. Montoya, 2022-05-24 How biodiversity classification with its ranking of species has social and political implications as well as implications for the field of information studies The idea that species live in nature as pure and clear cut named individuals is a fiction as scientists well know According to Robert D Montoya classifications are powerful mechanisms and we must better attend to the machinations of power inherent in them as well as to how the effects of this power proliferate beyond the boundaries of their original intent We must acknowledge the many ways our classifications are implicated in environmental ecological and social justice work and information specialists must play a role in updating our notions of what it means to classify In Power of Position Montoya shows how classifications are systems that relate one entity with other entities requiring those who construct a system to value an entity's relative importance by way of its position within a system of other entities These practices says Montoya are important ways of constituting and exerting power Classification also has very real world consequences An animal classified as protected and endangered for example is protected by law Montoya also discusses the Catalogue of Life a new kind of composite classification that reconciles many local traditional taxonomies forming a unified taxonomic backbone structure for organizing biological data Finally he shows how the theories of information studies are applicable to realms far beyond those of biological classification

Life-span Developmental Psychology E. Mark Cummings, Anita L. Greene, Katherine H. Karraker, 2014-01-02 Although there has been a significant increase in studies of stress and coping processes in recent years researchers have often approached these topics from rather narrow and constrained perspectives Furthermore little communication has occurred across disciplines and research directions resulting in the emergence of several relatively isolated literatures An outgrowth of the Eleventh Biennial West Virginia University Conference on Life Span Development this volume emphasizes two major themes the importance of taking a life span approach to the study of stress and coping and the development of new and more complete conceptual models of stress and coping processes The first to approach these subjects from a life span perspective this book includes papers by distinguished researchers from each of the major periods of the life span and brings together the cognitive and socioemotional traditions in the study of dealing with pressures The editors hope that this facilitation of communication among researchers with diverse views will help create a broadening and integration of perspectives

Life Events and Illness George William Brown, Tirril O. Harris, 1989-01-01 The role of factors outside the province of the physical and biological sciences in the onset of illness has long been a source of speculation While early efforts in psychosomatic medicine focused on the relationship between mental states and illness the effects of personal status and social circumstances on physical health are only now receiving the attention they merit By integrating current theory methodology and research this ground breaking volume advances the study of life events and disease to a new stage George Brown and Tirril Harris are ideal editors for such an undertaking George Brown has long been known for his path breaking work on intensive clinical assessment and designing measures that capture the real complexity of social situations assigned meanings and personal response to crisis He brought to light the importance of expressed emotion the differential role of life events in schizophrenia and depression and most recently produced a seminal work on the social etiology of depression with Tirril Harris As David Mechanic notes in his Foreword the defining characteristics of these efforts which are also reflected in this volume are a sensitivity to clinical material and capitalizing on serendipity self consciousness about methods and methodological advances and focus on theory with careful efforts to specify intervening processes and the links between macro events and personal meanings Along with their collaborators these eminent editors bring together an impressive range of theoretical thought and empirical study organized around the Life Events and Difficulties Schedule LEDS Their examination of the origins of life events and difficulties and the notion of conveyor belts to continuing adversity capture the immutable uncertainties of life and help to link concerns with life events and disease to larger issues of human development The authors innovative approach to establishing the relationship between attitudes and psychiatric and physical disorders fully utilizes the wealth of data elicited by the LEDS and demonstrates how the comprehensiveness of this data matches the sophistication and complexity of the theoretical ideas it serves Addressing fundamental questions on the whether the specific nature of life events and vulnerability factors differ in different disorders the authors conclude by providing a perspective on psychodynamic etiology which emphasizes the specificity of crucial links It integrates social psychological and biological factors around the notion that specific types of cognitive affective experience are linked to specific types of illness While significantly advancing our understanding of how individuals define and deal with adversity LIFE EVENTS AND ILLNESS also fosters a greater appreciation of the methodological tools available for examining these processes For all clinicians researchers and students in the behavioral sciences this timely work not only provides a comprehensive review of the literature and a critical examination of current research models but also points the way for future investigations Assessment of Rehabilitative and Quality of Life Issues in Litigation Patricia Murphy, John M.

Williams, 1998-08-26 Written in response to the Supreme Court's landmark Daubert decision regarding provision of expert witness scientific testimony Assessment of Rehabilitative and Quality of Life Issues in Litigation focuses on quality of life as a means of conceptualizing and measuring pain and suffering in the controversial enjoyment of life debate The authors make a compelling argument for a quality of life paradigm based on a rehabilitation and health economics analysis demonstrating that qualified rehabilitationists are the best experts to provide analyses of the impact of disability or injury on quality of life over the lifespan The extensive literature review enables attorneys and litigation experts to easily access quality of life literature
