In The Paint South Side Sports:

In the Paint Jeff Rud, 2005-04-01 For as long as he can remember Matt has wanted to play basketball Now as he tries out for the team at his new middle school he realizes that the easy days of elementary ball are over and that this is a much more serious game Dealing with a hard driving coach competitive teammates and his own insecurities in a new school Matt needs to call on all his skills both on and off the court to make the team and keep his head above water When he is involved albeit unwittingly in tagging a store with racist graffiti Matt finds himself in more trouble than he bargained for And when he fights back against an aggressive teammate and is threatened with suspension from the team he learns that it is not only game time decisions that count but also the choices made after the crowd has gone home and the gym is silent First and Ten Jeff Rud, 2001-03 As Matt tries to get onto the South Side football team he must deal with the return of his estranged father who he has not seen for ten years while his teammate Ricky copes with problems with his own pushy father Sports of the Times, 1917 High and Inside Jeff Rud, 2006-03-01 Fresh from a thrilling basketball season playing for the varsity team Matt is looking forward to a new challenge baseball The South Side team seems to be strong this year if only Matt can control his fear of being hit by an errant pitch But when Matt's friend Jake the team's star falls in with the wrong crowd the entire season not to mention their long standing friendship seems to be on the line The Irish and the Making of American Sport, 1835-1920 Patrick R. Redmond, 2015-03-07 Jerrold Casway coined the phrase The Emerald Age of Baseball to describe the 1890s when so many Irish names dominated teams rosters But one can easily agree and expand that the period from the mid 1830s well into the first decade of the 20th century and assign the term to American sports in general This book covers the Irish sportsman from the arrival of James Deaf Burke in 1836 through to Jack B Kelly's rejection by Henley regatta and his subsequent gold medal at the 1920 Olympics It avoids recounting the various victories and defeats of the Irish sportsman seeking instead to deal with the complex interaction that he had with alcohol gambling and Sunday leisure pleasures that were banned in most of America at some time or other between 1836 and 1920 This book also covers the Irish sportsman's close relations with politicians his role in labor relations his violent lifestyle and by contrast his participation in bringing respectability to sport It also deals with native Irish sports in America the part played by the Irish in Team USA's initial international sporting ventures and in the making and breaking of amateurism within sport Who's who in America, 1924 Pittsburgh Sports Randy Roberts, 2000-02-22 Summer afternoons at Forbes Field playoff Sundays with the Steelers winter nights at the Igloo cheering for Mario and the Penguins Pittsburgh Sports captures all that and more With stories from sports fans historians and former athletes Pittsburgh Sports mixes personal experiences with team histories to capture the full range of what it means to be a sports fan in Pittsburgh or by extension anywhere A book that can be read cover to cover or in bits and pieces Pittsburgh Sports includes chapters on the ill fated Pittsburgh Pipers who won the American Basketball Association's first championship then folded four years later the Pittsburgh Crawfords and the
