Mountains Figured and Disfigured in the English-Speaking World Françoise Besson, 2020-06-01 The essays in this book written by poets novelists mountain climbers and academics from all over the world evoke the representation of mountains in the English speaking world as artists writers philosophers or mountain climbers have represented them from the sixteenth to the twenty first centuries From the Alps to the Pyrenees from Mount Fuji to Mount Shasta from the Himalayas to the Scottish Highlands from Ikere in Nigeria to Devil's Tower in the United States from Uluru in Australia to the most northern mountain of the Arctic the shapes of the world speak the same language and tell the world its own story This interdisciplinary book weaving together mountaineering literature philosophy painting cinema ecology history palaeontology geography geopolitics toponymy law religion and myth invites people to an innovative reading of mountains it reveals the close relationship existing between the shapes of the world and all forms of writing and at the same time it shows how the representations of the imagination may be instrumental in protecting the natural world The story told by the landscape inscribes a broken line in the shapes of the world tearing the landscape like a fragile page whenever historical and political events wars mining or deforestation leave scars in the landscape but writers and artists representations of mountains constitute a path to awareness as they are not only a painting of beauty but an image of our link to nature and a warning as well For centuries the image of the mountain has conveyed a symbolism telling the story of human thought and this book shows to what extent literature and art play an essential part in our awareness of nature Retelling Stories, Framing Culture John Stephens, Robyn McCallum, 2013-01-11 What happens to traditional stories when they are retold in another time and cultural context and for a different audience This first of its kind study discusses Bible stories classical myths heroic legends Arthurian romances Robin Hood lore folk tales oriental tales and other stories derived from European cultures One chapter is devoted to various retellings of classics from Shakespeare to Wind in the Willows The authors offer a general theory of what motivates the retelling of stories and how stories express the aspirations of a society An important function of stories is to introduce children to a cultural heritage and to transmit a body of shared allusions and experiences that expresses a society's central values and assumptions However the cultural heritage may be modified through a pervasive tendency of retellings to produce socially conservative outcomes because of ethnocentric androcentric and class based assumptions in the source stories that persist into retellings Therefore some stories such as classical myths are particularly resistant to feminist reinterpretations for example while other types such as folktales are more malleable In examining such possibilities the book evaluates the processes of interpretation apparent in retellings Index included Nickel Mountain John Gardner, 2010-09-21 New York Times Bestseller and National Book Award Finalist In an upstate New York town a man tries to save a teenage girl and his own soul Henry Soames runs a diner in an eccentric rural community in the Catskills He is anxious and overweight and at age forty two suffers from poor health When Callie Wells Soames's seventeen year old employee is impregnated by a local boy on his way to college it becomes apparent that both are in need of a little help After an unsuccessful attempt to find Callie a husband Henry accepts the role But soon after the improbable marriage commences strange events occur in the small town and Henry's pursuit of personal salvation begins Written by the author of October Light and The Sunlight Dialogues Nickel Mountain is a wonderfully conceived narrative about one man's search for fulfillment in a lonely world There is enough life here for several novels Nickel Mountain is worth the trip Chicago Sun Times This ebook features a new illustrated biography of John Gardner including original letters rare photos and never before seen documents from the Gardner family and the University of Rochester Archives The Lancet, 1922 Himalayan Perceptions: Environmental Change and the Well-being of Mountain Peoples [ENHANCED] (Hardcover) Jack D. Ives, 2006 The Second Mountain David Brooks, 2019-04-16 1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER Everybody tells you to live for a cause larger than yourself but how exactly do you do it The author of The Road to Character explores what it takes to lead a meaningful life in a self centered world Deeply moving frequently eloquent and extraordinarily incisive The Washington Post Every so often you meet people who radiate joy who seem to know why they were put on this earth who glow with a kind of inner light Life for these people has often followed what we might think of as a two mountain shape They get out of school they start a career and they begin climbing the mountain they thought they were meant to climb Their goals on this first mountain are the ones our culture endorses to be a success to make your mark to experience personal happiness But when they get to the top of that mountain something happens They look around and find the view unsatisfying They realize This wasn't my mountain after all There's another bigger mountain out there that is actually my mountain And so they embark on a new journey On the second mountain life moves from self centered to other centered They want the things that are truly worth wanting not the things other people tell them to want They embrace a life of interdependence not independence They surrender to a life of commitment In The Second Mountain David Brooks explores the four commitments that define a life of meaning and purpose to a spouse and family to a vocation to a philosophy or faith and to a community Our personal fulfillment depends on how well we choose and execute these commitments Brooks looks at a range of people who have lived joyous committed lives and who have embraced the necessity and beauty of dependence He gathers their wisdom on how to choose a partner how to pick a vocation how to live out a philosophy and how we can begin to integrate our commitments into one overriding purpose In short this book is meant to help us all lead more meaningful lives But it's also a provocative social commentary We live in a society Brooks argues that celebrates freedom that tells us to be true to ourselves at the expense of surrendering to a cause rooting ourselves in a neighborhood binding ourselves to others by social solidarity and love We have taken individualism to the extreme and in the process we have torn the social fabric in a thousand different ways The path to repair is through making deeper commitments In The Second Mountain Brooks shows what can happen when we put commitment making at the center of our lives Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2011 American Theatre, 1997-07 create and end identities The Cult of Pure Crystal Mountain Toni Huber, 1999-03-18 The Tibetan district of Tsari with its sacred snow covered peak of Pure Crystal Mountain has long been a place of symbolic and ritual significance for Tibetan peoples In this book Toni Huber provides the first thorough study of a major Tibetan Buddhist pilgrimage center and cult mountain and explores the esoteric and popular traditions of ritual there The main focus is on the period of the 1940s and 50s just prior to the 1959 Lhasa uprising and subsequent Tibetan diaspora into South Asia Huber s work thus documents Tibetan life patterns and cultural traditions which have largely disappeared with the advent of Chinese colonial modernity in Tibet In addition to the work s documentary content Huber offers discussion and analysis of the construction and meaning of Tibetan cultural categories of space place and person and the practice of ritual and organization of traditional society in relation to them
