In Two Worlds:

Ishi in Two Worlds Theodora Kroeber, 2004 Originally published 1961 With new foreword Two Worlds, 1925 Two Worlds David Daiches, 2009-05-01 In this captivating autobiography of his childhood and student years David Daiches recalls a unique period between the two world wars There was something very special about the Scottish Jewish interchange in those years It has had its counterparts in other cultures yet few have been captured so vividly or with such insight peculiar to the very young Daiches was one of the sons of Edinburgh's chief Rabbi In their home a quiet dark hub of foreign faith memories of light and festivity predominated Illustrious visitors from every corner of the globe would call on the distinguished Rabbi and the sons of the house would argue cheerfully with these itinerant scholars and diplomats School was Scottish Presbyterian with its characteristics smell of wood chalk ink and schoolbag leather Daiches did not play games sing hymns wear the ubiquitous school shorts or socialise after school yet not only did he survive these tribulations he excelled The two cultures of my childhood I was equally at home in both That was my good fortune and I have never ceased to be grateful for it Promised Lands is a moving memoir of the author's father and a timely meditation on exile pluralism and synthesis and on the need to welcome and also to balance the vital cultural differences which show us what we are and how we all belong to the imagined community of Scotland My Life in Two Worlds Francis Neilson, 1953 Canada's Residential Schools: The History, Part 1, Origins to 1939 Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada's Residential Schools The History Part 1 Origins to 1939 places Canada's residential school system in the historical context of European campaigns to colonize and convert Indigenous people throughout the world In post Confederation Canada the government adopted what amounted to a policy of cultural genocide suppressing spiritual practices disrupting traditional economies and imposing new forms of government Residential schooling quickly became a central element in this policy The destructive intent of the schools was compounded by chronic underfunding and ongoing conflict between the federal government and the church missionary societies that had been given responsibility for their day to day operation A failure of leadership and resources

meant that the schools failed to control the tuberculosis crisis that gripped the schools for much of this period Alarmed by high death rates Aboriginal parents often refused to send their children to the schools leading the government adopt ever more coercive attendance regulations While parents became subject to ever more punitive regulations the government did little to regulate discipline diet fire safety or sanitation at the schools By the period s end the government was presiding over a nation wide series of firetraps that had no clear educational goals and were economically dependent on the unpaid labour of underfed and often sickly children , Borderland ,1893 Reimagining Civic Education Doyle Stevick,2007 This volume surveys the new global landscape for democratic civic education Rooted in qualitative research the contributors explore the many ways that notions of democracy and citizenship have been implemented in recent education policy curriculum and classroom practice around the world From Indonesia to the Spokane Reservation and El Salvador to Estonia these chapters reveal a striking diversity of approaches to political socialization in varying cultural and institutional contexts By bringing to bear the methodological conceptual and theoretical perspectives of qualitative research this book adds important new voices to one of educationOs most critical debates how to form democratic citizens in a changing world

Reason, Truth and Self Michael Luntley,2002-09-11 Michael Luntley provides a lively introduction to the debate over postmodernism Sympathisers of the postmodernist critique of absolute knowledge have jettisoned concepts of reason truth and self this abandonment has fuelled their opponents case against postmodernism This has led them to ignore the very real problems raised by the postmodernists Luntley offers a clear and careful exposition of how rational debate survives despite the Enlightenment s failings Reason Truth and Self covers many of the key questions of our age How rational is science Can we really know the truth about ourselves and the world What is the nature of the mind Can we know the difference between right and wrong Reason Truth and Self is ideal for courses in philosophy and the social sciences Being and Goodness Scott Charles MacDonald,1991 In exploring this tradition of philosophical reflection on the nature of goodness the twelve essays in this book all but two published here for the first time present some of the best recent historical scholarship in
