Deconstructing Heterosexism in the Counseling Professions James M. Croteau, Julianne S. Lark, Melissa A. Lidderdale, Y. Barry Chung, 2004-08-03 Until recently the lives and issues of Lesbian Gay and Bisexual LGB people have been rendered largely invisible in the larger society and in the counseling professions LGB affirmative counseling professionals are no longer without voice however the stories of navigating sexual orientation as counseling professionals have not been told or explored in any systematic way Deconstructing

Heterosexism in the Counseling Professions uses the personal narratives of lesbian gay bisexual and heterosexual counseling psychologists and counselor educators to deconstruct the heterosexist discourse in the counseling professions envision a discourse of sexual orientation equity and make practical suggestions for addressing sexual orientation in professional life The narrative approach encompasses a diversity of stories and experiences including an emphasis on racial and cultural contexts These narratives and their analyses serve as a means for the individual and collective self examination that is needed to move LGB affirmative practice training and scholarship from the margins to the center of what it means to be a counseling professional Key Features Rather than a focus on how to the focus is on stimulating collective and individual self examination and providing empowerment and guidance to counseling professions in navigating sexual orientation in one s professional life This book exposes and challenges the heterosexist discourse in the counseling professions AND examines how to build the strength and complexity of the current LGB affirmative counter discourse in the counseling professions The chapters in the second section of the book provide unique treatments of difficult issues for counseling professionals concerning sexual orientation tensions between race and sexual orientation and issues around openness versus other ways to manage a minority sexual identity The book is authored by over 30 counseling professionals and contains narratives about the experiences of over 20 professionals many of whom are well known in the LGB affirmative counseling and in the larger fields of counseling psychology and counselor education Deconstructing Heterosexism in the Counseling Professions will be essential reading for graduate students practitioners and faculty who are interested in issues of sexual orientation and are in counseling psychology and or the many sub specialties of counseling It will also be of interest to counseling professionals whose primary interest may lie in other issues of diversity particularly the multicultural and feminist professional communities

On Becoming a Group Member Muhyiddin Shakoor, 2011-01-19 This book provides an introduction to the general landscape of group counseling by way of the idea that learning to be an effective group member is essential to becoming a group leader Interactive scenarios place the reader right into the group providing insights into the challenges and opportunities of participation Each chapter explores a different stage of group work and concludes with useful suggestions and tips for having a successful experience Throughout the book an emphasis is placed on member development and personal growth being achieved through self awareness interpersonal experiences and dynamic ways of being Cultural diversity ethics and confidentiality and involvement strategies and skills are also discussed With its unique practical and engaging approach this book will be invaluable to counseling students as an excellent complement to the theory and research on group counseling

Marketing and Multicultural Diversity C. P. Rao, 2006 As populations become increasingly mobile and production is globalized countries and regions around the world are becoming multicultural in social composition Such multicultural market environments call for new marketing concepts and methodologies as well as empirical research into the implications of multicultural diversity for marketers These important issues are addressed in this detailed volume which examines critical multicultural marketing issues at various geographic national regional and global levels Counseling Multiracial Families Bea Wehrly, Kelley R. Kenney, Mark E. Kenney, 1999-07-16 Multiracial families families in which one member of the family has a different racial heritage than the other members of the family comprise a rapidly growing U S population Counseling Multiracial Families addresses this population that has been neglected in the counseling literature In the first chapter readers are given a comprehensive history of racial mixing in the United States special needs and issues of multiracial families as well as special strengths of multiracial families are addressed Challenges of interracial married couples are explored as are the social and cultural issues related to parenting and child rearing of multiracial children in today s society The results of biracial identity development research are translated into counseling practice with the children adolescents and adults in multiracial families Intercultural Perspectives on Family Counseling Brian Canfield, 2020-01-21 Intercultural Perspectives on Family Counseling expands cultural awareness in the practice of family counseling by offering cultural specific perspectives for addressing common issues that emerge in dyadic marital and family relationships around the globe The topics illuminated in the book serve to sharpen cultural mindfulness and expand the reader s knowledge and understanding of intercultural family counseling issues Each chapter examines a couple or family related clinical issue offering clinical intervention strategies within the context of a specific cultural population By representing various national and cultural identities this book showcases a transcultural understanding of family Students and practicing marriage and family counselors and therapists will benefit greatly from this clinical resource that exposes them to the similarities and differences in addressing client issues across cultures Integrative and Eclectic Counselling and Psychotherapy Stephen Palmer, Ray Woolfe, 1999-12-30 Stephen Palmer is Joint award winner of the Annual Counselling Psychology Award for outstanding professional and scientific contribution to Counselling Psychology in Britain for 2000 The editors support for the integrative project is clear but the book will hold its own with the sceptics too I recommend it Counselling at Work This innovative and timely book examines the issues and ideas surrounding integration and eclecticism in a therapeutic context and provides a detailed account of a wide range of approaches in use Following an exploration of the origins of integrative and eclectic processes 10 approaches are explained in detail Chapters on each approach describe its central concepts assumptions and therapeutic goals outline its view of how psychological disturbance is acquired perpetuated and resolved examine how the theory relates to practice including examples of typical sessions and case studies and consider which clients might benefit Further chapters explore the implications of using integrative and eclectic approaches for training supervision for working in a time limited context and from a multicultural perspective Diversity and Motivation Margery B.
