Barnard, 2022-08-10 The following book is a brief biography of Dolley Todd Madison the wife of James Madison the fourth president of the United States from 1809 to 1817 She was noted for holding Washington social functions in which she invited members of both political parties essentially spearheading the concept of bipartisan cooperation Previously founders such as Thomas Jefferson would only meet with members of one party at a time and politics could often be a violent affair resulting in physical altercations and even duels Madison helped to create the idea that members of each party could amicably socialize network and negotiate with each other without violence By innovating political institutions as the wife of James Madison Dolley Madison did much to define the role of the President s spouse known only much later by the title first lady a function she had sometimes performed earlier for the widowed Thomas Jefferson The Radiance of God Douglas M.

Koskela, 2021-09-28 The image of God as light abounds in Scripture and the Christian tradition In The Radiance of God Douglas M Koskela explores the theme of divine radiance across the span of Christian doctrine The book develops a constructive account of the Christian gospel that traces the journey from darkness into the marvelous light of God Drawing on an ecumenical range of voices in the tradition Koskela frames the discussion in terms of three central concepts allure movement and joy The image of divine radiance suggests the sheer beauty of God that captivates the attention of God s creatures in wonder love and praise The brilliance of this light initiates a process of movement toward it as the Holy Spirit transforms us in the image of Christ the light of the world The culmination of this journey is inexpressible and unending joy as we are immersed in the divine light By following this threefold pattern through the classic loci of Christian doctrine this volume offers a sustained and coherent treatment of the economy of salvation from creation to consummation The

Preaching Christology in the Roman Near East Philip Michael Forness,2018-10-25 Preaching formed one of the primary regular avenues of communication between ecclesiastical elites and a wide range of society Clergy used homilies to spread knowledge of complex theological debates prevalent in late antique Christian discourse Some sermons even offer glimpses into the locations in which communities gathered to hear orators preach Although homilies survive in greater number than most other types of literature most do not specify the setting of their initial delivery dating and authorship Preaching Christology in the Roman Near East addresses how we can best contextualize sermons devoid of such information The first chapter develops a methodology for approaching homilies that draws on a broader understanding of audience as both the physical audience and the readership of sermons The remaining chapters offer a case study on the renowned Syriac preacher Jacob of Serugh c 451 521 whose metrical homilies form one of the largest sermon collections in any language from late antiquity His letters connect him to a previously little known Christological debate over the language of the miracles and sufferings of Christ through his correspondence with a monastery a Roman military officer and a Christian community in South Arabia He uses this language in homilies on the Council of Chalcedon on Christian doctrine and on biblical exegesis An analysis of these sermons demonstrates that he communicated miaphysite Christology to both elite reading communities as well as ordinary audiences Philip Michael Forness provides a new methodology for working with late antique sermons and discloses the range of society that received complex theological teachings through preaching

From the French: a New Translation for the Present Edition. With a Memoir of the Author, and Notes Alphonse de Lamartine, 1839 A Concise Description of the English Lakes, and Adjacent Mountains Jonathan Otley, 1834 Time and the Gods Lord Dunsany, 2022-01-11 Time and the Gods 1906 is a short story collection by Lord Dunsany. Published at the beginning of his career, Time and the Gods is a sequel to The Gods of Pegana 1905. It would influence such writers as J. R. R. Tolkien, Ursula K. Le Guin, and H. P. Lovecraft. Recognized as a pioneering author of fantasy and science fiction, Dunsany is a man whose work, in the words of Lovecraft, remains unexcelled in the sorcery of crystalline, singing prose and supreme in the creation of a gorgeous and languorous world of incandescently exotic vision. Once when the gods were young and only their swarthy servant Time was without age, the gods lay sleeping by a broad river upon earth. There, in a valley that from all the earth the gods had set apart for their repose, the gods dreamed marble dreams. Time and the Gods, Dunsany's second collection of stories, contains some of his finest tales of fantasy and adventure. From their marble dreams arose a city fit for the gods: a sweeping expanse of towers, terraces, lawns, and fountains, known as Sardathrion. Protected by mountains and a vast desert, safe in the heart of a fertile valley, the city of the gods is a place to which few humans go and from which none can return. Dunsany's tales of high fantasy continue to delight over a century after they first appeared in print. With a beautifully designed cover and professionally typeset manuscript, this edition of Lord Dunsany's Time and the Gods is a classic of Irish fantasy fiction, reimagined for modern readers. The Brigand; Or, The Mountain Chief Thomas Peckett Prest, 1851 Travels in the East Lamartine, 1839 Quarterly Bulletin of the Nuttall Ornithological Club, 1882
