social work counseling art and education Art as Spiritual Activity Rudolf Steiner,1997 This book introduces a new way for thinking about creating and viewing art Rudolf Steiner saw his task as the renewal of the lost unity of science the arts and religion thus he created a new cognitive scientific and religious art in anthroposophy The implications of his act recognized by such diverse artists as Wassily Kandinsky and Joseph Beuys are only now coming fully to light In his thorough introduction of more than a hundred pages Michael Howard takes readers through these thought provoking chapters Is Art Dead To Muse or Amuse Artistic Activity As Spiritual Activity The Representative of Humanity Beauty Creativity and Metamorphosis New Directions in Art Lectures include The Aesthetics of Goethe s Worldview The Spiritual Being of Art Buildings Will Speak The Sense Organs and Aesthetic Experience The Two Sources of Art The Building at Dornach The Supersensible Origin of the Arts Truth Beauty and Goodness Christ Ahriman and Lucifer Plus a bibliography and index Colour Ueli Seiler-Hugova,2011 Beginning with simple sensory experiences and experiments the author leads us to an understanding of colours rainbows and colour circles as created by Goethe Rudolf Steiner and Harald Koppers In addition to explaining the basic and complementary colours and the mystery of coloured shadows he also gives a commentary on the psychology and mythology of colours Color Meditation Kees Veenman,2024-04-23 Is there also such a thing as the essence of color For me the essence is the spiritual aspect that lives in color Making this spiritual aspect accessible is the purpose of this book Kees Veenman We are all familiar with the world of color but can we learn to experience color more intensely Can we learn to penetrate colors in a more profound way This book takes the reader into the activity of the colors of the spectrum by investigating them meditatively The author explains aspects of color phenomenology and prepares the reader for color meditations including some that he has incorporated into his own personal practices Kees Veenman a phenomenologist who specializes in colors begins by observing the spring gold and the autumn gold of trees before introducing the phenomenological method whereby his research connects with Goethe s theory of color and that of Rudolf Steiner Using numerous examples and experiments Veenman guides the reader toward the dynamics and essence of colors describing his research into the nature of colors along with fresh questions that help us penetrate the world of colors ever more deeply The author also considers light therapy and the relationship of colors to the seasons as well as to fairytales The reader is encouraged to meditate with and in colors to discover and experience among other things consciousness of Christ All of this is presented with clear descriptions supplemented with color images Color Meditation is for those who want to appreciate the phenomena and wonders the being of color more deeply and fully understand how color can enrich one s soul and spiritual activity The correspondence between the emergence and effect of a color outside us and the appearance within us is found in the polarity between light and darkness Light is a symbol of clear day consciousness whereas darkness represents the impenetrability of the will Here we come to the intimate relationship between the world of colors and that of human consciousness with its active and passive side Christine Gruwez foreword Translated by Laura Liska from Kleurmeditatie
