news of the murder trial of prominent Communist Party leader Bo Xilai's wife reached Western attention it was apparent that as with many events in the secretive upper echelons of Chinese politics there was more to the story Now as the Party's 18th National Congress oversees the biggest leadership transition in decades and installs the Bo family's long time rival Xi Jinping as president China's rulers are finding it increasingly difficult to keep their poisonous internal divisions behind closed doors Bo Xilai's breathtaking fall from grace is an extraordinary tale of excess murder defection political purges and ideological clashes going back to Mao himself as the princeling sons of the revolutionary heroes ascend to control of the Party China watcher John Garnaut examines how Bo's stellar rise through the ranks troubled his more reformist peers as he revived anti capitalist roader sentiment even while his family and associates enjoyed the more open economy's opportunities Amid fears his imminent elevation to the powerful Standing Committee was leading China towards another destructive Cultural Revolution have his opponents seized their chance to destroy Bo and what he stood for The trigger was his wife Gu Kailai's apparently paranoid murder of an English family friend which exposed the corruption and brutality of Bo's outwardly successful administration of the massive city of Chongqing It also led to the one of the highest level attempted defections in Communist China's history when Bo's right hand man police chief Wang Lijun tried to escape the ruins of his sponsor's reputation Garnaut explains how this incredible glimpse into the very personal power struggles within the CCP exposes the myth of the unified one party state With China approaching super power status today's leadership shuffle may set the tone for international relations for decades Here Garnaut reveals a particularly Chinese spin on the old adage that the personal is political His insight is unique and well applied to this extraordinary intergenerational set of events that Hollywood couldn't dream up if it tried ABC Sydney John Garnaut is China correspondent for the Sydney Morning Herald and The Age in the Fairfax Media stable and also writes for Foreign Policy magazine He joined Fairfax in 2002 as an economics journalist after working as a commercial lawyer His work on China has been recognised with several awards including the 2009 Walkley Award for Scoop of the Year for reporting the detention of Australian Rio Tinto executive Stern Hu John lived in Beijing for two years in the 1980s while his father was posted as the Australian ambassador and returned there with his wife and children in 2007

shop co owners Arabella Carpenter and Emily Garland agree to sponsor a hole in one contest at a charity golf tournament. The publicity turns out to be anything but positive however when Arabella's errant tee shot lands in the woods next to a corpse. They soon learn that the victim is closely related to Arabella's ex husband who had been acting as the Course Marshal. With means opportunity and more than enough motive he soon becomes the police department's prime suspect leaving Arabella and Emily determined to clear his name even if they're not entirely convinced of his innocence. Dogged by incriminating online posts from an anonymous blogger they track down leads from Emily's ex fianc and the woman he left Emily for an Elvis impersonator and a retired antiques mall vendor with a secret of her own. All trails lead to a mysterious cult that may have something to do with the murder. Can Arabella and Emily identify the killer before the murderer comes after them?

Where There's a Will 3 Emily Garland is getting married and looking for the perfect forever home. When the old and some say haunted Hadley house comes up for sale she's convinced it's the one. The house is also perfect for reality TV star Miles Pemberton and his new series House Hunters. Emily will fight for her dream home but Pemberton's pockets are deeper than Emily's and he'll stretch the rules to get what he wants. While Pemberton racks up enemies all around Lount's Landing Arabella Carpenter Emily's partner at the Glass Dolphin antiques shop has been hired to appraise the contents of the estate along with her ex husband Levon. Could the feuding beneficiaries decide there's a conflict of interest? Could Pemberton?

Things get even more complicated when Arabella and Levon discover another will hidden inside the house and with it a decades old secret. Can the property stay on the market? And if so who will make the winning offer Emily or Miles Pemberton?
