Limekilns and Limeburning Richard Williams,1989      Lime Kilns David Johnson,2018-11-15 Explores a lavishly illustrated look at an important part of our industrial history with Lime Kilns      The Story of Lime and the Lime Kilns of Lancaster County Kenneth G. Miller,2020-11-28 Lime is a white powdery substance widely used in construction agriculture and industry It is manufactured by heating limestone Small amounts may be produced in an open fire but more effectively when enclosed Early pits were lined with stone and in time enclosed in an oven or kiln The 19th century lime kiln of Roman design was a large pot dug into a hillside surrounded by a stone box resembling a huge fireplace Many thousands were built in the Susquehanna River valley During settlement of Penn s Woods large tracts were subdivided many times and by 1925 we find 12 000 farms in Lancaster County alone and nearly every farmer wanted to produce his own lime to sweeten the fields and make mortar plaster and whitewash In the most recent record the 1875 county atlas we find more than 500 kilns a peak time for do it yourself lime burning Commercialization relieved the farmer of the hard and dangerous work of lime burning and the kilns fell idle around the turn of the century Today we find evidence of 128 extant kilns in the county Some are little more than remnants of former stonework but others remain sturdy and sound Their photos in this book reveal the art and labor of our ancestors who played a major role in the development of our nation      Lime Kiln Legacies Frank A. Perry,2007      Shipwrecks and Lime Kilns ,2018      An Environmental History of Wildlife in England 1650 - 1950 Tom Williamson,2013-12-05 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2014 While few detailed surveys of fauna or flora exist in England from the period before the nineteenth century it is possible to combine the evidence of historical sources ranging from game books diaries churchwardens accounts and even folk songs and our wider knowledge of past land use and landscape with contemporary analyses made by modern natural scientists in order to model the situation at various times and places in the more remote past This timely volume encompasses both rural and urban environments from 1650 to the mid twentieth century drawing on a wide variety of social historical and ecological sources It examines the impact of social and economic organisation on the English landscape biodiversity the agricultural revolution landed estates the coming of large scale industry and the growth of towns and suburbs It also develops an original perspective on the complexity and ambiguity of man animal relationships in this post medieval period      Chemical Engineering Catalog ,1917      The Archaeology of the Montgomeryshire Canal Stephen R. Hughes,1989 The Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Wales has a leading national role in developing and promoting understanding of the archaeological built and maritime heritage of Wales as the originator curator and supplier of authoritative information for individual corporate and governmental decision makers researchers and the general public      Irish Sea Lime Trade David Johnson,2025-06-15 A lavishly illustrated exploration of the history of the lime trade in the Irish Sea David Johnson has spent years researching it in the field and in archive centres and been amazed by its scale and geographical extent      Engineering Index ,1927 to five topics In a first part The Industrial Mineral World some considerations on our natural resources their use and political histories of Hong Kong begin with the arrival of the British and only incidentally mention the pre colonial eras In this book Patrick Hase one of the leaders in the field provides an important addition to the history of Hong Kong and the Pearl River Delta region covering topics such as Chinese ethnicity commerce port towns and squatting It is a truly excellent work that will interest historians anthropologists and social scientists James L Watson Fairbank Professor of Chinese Society and Anthropology Emeritus Harvard University This book an historical and archaeological portrayal of Hong Kong market villages across the territory depicts how Hong Kong evolved not through chronicles of emperors and governors but through the ups and downs of different centres of rural life over the centuries It belongs beyond the bookshelves of historians and archaeologists anyone wandering the streets of Hong Kong neighbourhoods today wondering how did this place get to be here will find this book well worth reading After reading this book I will never again look at Tsim Sha Tsui in quite the same way Gordon Mathews Research Professor and Emeritus Professor of Anthropology The Chinese University of Hong Kong How have places in Hong Kong evolved since well before the 19th century Villages and Market Towns in Hong Kong is a vital book showing us how its various suburban settlements came into being Such is a history of immense interest as well as unending fascination Since arriving at Hong Kong more than half a century ago Patrick Hase has been researching its local history with a particular focus on the market towns and villages in the New Territories Due to a lack of written documentation for the study of these communities much of his research was conducted through oral interviews with village elders in the 1980s and 1990s Hase sought their memories of the villages in their youth as well as their grandparents accounts of the communities prior to the age of high technology urbanization and modernization
