Limits To Liberation After Apartheid C:

Engaging Schooling Subjectivities across Post-Apartheid Urban Spaces Aslam Fataar, 2015-09-30 Aslam Fataar one of South Africa's few educational sociologists working with ethnographic methods captures the complex interactions and dynamics between social life school processes and youth subjectivity in townships in the Western Cape His work with concepts of mobilities and space is enormously generative providing a way for teachers principals communities and policy makers to engage with the complex ecologies of young people's learning in urban schools As an astute policy analyst he also well knows the systemic barriers in the way of achieving this The last chapter on possibilities for pedagogical justice at the site of the school considers how disengaged students might re-engage through leveraging explicit pedagogic connections between their lifeworlds and school practices Acknowledging that pedagogy cannot be the only means for revitalising schooling the author nevertheless insists that marginalised young people's consent needs to be won by schools that make use of rather than ignore their strengths knowledges and aspirations The approach to the troubled question of youth and subjectivity is enlightening and vital to understanding the post-apartheid city and school The book fills a much needed gap in educational sociology in South Africa

Language Policy and Nation-Building in Post-Apartheid South Africa Jon Orman, 2008-08-27 The preamble to the post-apartheid South African constitution states that South Africa belongs to all who live in it united in our diversity and promises to lay the foundations for a democratic and open society in which government is based on the will of the people and every citizen is equally protected by law and to improve the quality of life of all citizens This would seem to commit the South African government to amongst other things the implementation of policies aimed at fostering a common sense of South African national identity at societal development and at reducing of levels of social inequality However in the period of more than a decade that has now elapsed since the end of apartheid there has been widespread discontent with regard to the degree of progress made in connection with the realisation of these constitutional aspirations The limits to liberation in the post-apartheid era has been a theme of much recent research in the fields of sociology and political theory e.g. Luckham 1998 Robins 2005a Linguists have also paid considerable attention to the South African situation with the realisation that many of the factors that have prevented and are continuing to prevent effective progress towards the achievement of these constitutional goals are linguistic in their origin

The Routledge Handbook of Memory and Place Sarah De Nardi, Hilary Orange, Steven High, Eerika Koskinen-Koivisto, 2019-08-20 This Handbook explores the latest cross-disciplinary research on the inter-relationship between memory studies place and identity In the works of dynamic memory there is room for multiple stories versions of the past and place understandings and often resistance to mainstream narratives Places may live on long after their physical destruction This collection provides insights into the significant and diverse role memory plays in our understanding of the world around us in a variety of spaces and temporalities and through a variety of disciplinary and professional lenses Many of the chapters in this Handbook explore place making its significance in everyday lives and its loss Processes of displacement where people's place attachments are violently torn asunder are also considered Ranging from oral history to forensic anthropology from folklore studies to cultural geographies and beyond the chapters in this Handbook reveal multiple and often unexpected facets of the fascinating relationship between place and memory from the individual to the collective This is a multi and intra disciplinary collection of the latest most influential approaches to the interwoven and dynamic issues of place and memory It will be of great use to researchers and academics working across Geography Tourism Heritage Anthropology Memory Studies and Archaeology

From Revolution to Rights in South Africa Steven L. Robins, 2010-11-18 The author argues for the continued importance of NGOs social movements and other civil society actors in creating new forms of citizenship and democracy in South Africa Critics of liberalism in Europe and North America argue that a stress on rights talk and identity politics has led to fragmentation individualisation and depoliticisation But are these developments really signs of the end of politics In the post colonial post apartheid neo liberal new South Africa poor and marginalised citizens continue to struggle for land housing and health care They must respond to uncertainty and radical contingencies on a daily basis This requires multiple strategies an engaged practised citizenship one that links the daily struggle to well organised mobilisation around claiming rights Robins argues for the continued importance of NGOs social movements and other civil society actors in creating new forms of citizenship and democracy He goes beyond the sanitised prescriptions of good governance so often touted by development agencies Instead he argues for a complex hybrid and ambiguous relationship between civil society and the state where new negotiations around citizenship emerge Steven L Robins is Professor of Social Anthropology in the University of Stellenbosch and editor of Limits to Liberation after Apartheid James Currey Southern Africa South Africa Botswana Namibia Lesotho Swaziland University of KwaZulu Natal Press PB

Raw Life, New Hope Fiona C. Ross, 2010 The Cape Flats a windswept barren and sandy area which rings Cape Town is home to more than a million people Many live here in sprawling shack settlements The post apartheid state is attempting to eradicate such settlements by providing formal houses in planned residential estates Raw Life New Hope is a longitudinal study of the residents of one such shack settlement The Park who moved to new formal houses in The Village at the turn of the millennium It introduces readers to core social science topics and modes of theorising Over 17 years the author has traced how ordinary people attempt to live in accord with their ideals of decency under almost impossible circumstances and the effects of material changes in their lives after 1994 including the provision of housing Photos maps anecdotes recipes and philosophical reflections on subjects that arose during conversations elicit a sense of the everyday and of how people try to solve the problems of poverty

Smart Transitions in City Regionalism Tassilo Herrschel, Yonn Dierwechter, 2018-03-22 In recent years smartness has risen as a buzzword to characterize novel urban policy and development patterns As a result of this debates around what smart actually means both theoretically and empirically have emerged within the interdisciplinary arenas of urban and regional studies This book explores the changes in discourse rationality and selected responses of smartness through the theme of transition The concept of transition provides the broader context and points of reference for adopting smartness in reconciling competing interests and agendas in city regional governance Using case studies from around the world including North America Europe and South Africa the authors link external regime transition in societal values and goals with internal moves towards smartness While reflecting the growing integration of overarching themes and analytical concerns this volume further develops work on smartness smart growth transition city regionalism governance and sustainability Smart Transitions in City Regionalism explores how smart cities and city regions interact with conventional state structures It will be of great interest to postgraduates and advanced undergraduates across urban studies geography sustainability studies and political science

The Global Encyclopaedia of Informality, Volume 2 Alena Ledeneva, 2018-01-17 Alena Ledeneva invites you on a voyage of discovery to explore society's open secrets unwritten rules and know how practices Broadly defined as ways of getting things done these invisible yet powerful informal practices tend to escape articulation in official discourse They include emotion driven exchanges of gifts or favours and tributes for services interest driven know how from informal welfare to informal employment and entrepreneurship identity driven practices of solidarity and power driven forms of co-optation and control The paradox or not of the invisibility of these informal practices is their ubiquity Expertly practised by insiders but often hidden from outsiders informal practices are as this book shows deeply rooted all over the world yet underestimated in policy Entries from the five continents presented in this volume are samples of the truly global and ever growing collection made possible by a remarkable collaboration of over 200 scholars across disciplines and area studies By mapping the grey zones blurred boundaries types of ambivalence and contexts of complexity this book creates the first Global Map of Informality The accompanying database www.informality.com is searchable by region keyword or type of practice so do explore what works how where and why Praise for Global Encyclopaedia of Informality The Global Informality Project unveils new ways of understanding how the state functions and ways in which civil servants and citizens adapt themselves to different local contexts by highlighting the diversity of the relationships between state and society The project is of great interest to policymakers who want to imagine solutions that are beneficial for all but sufficiently pragmatic to ensure a seamless implementation particularly in the field of cross border trade in developing countries Kunio Mikuriya Secretary General of the World Customs Organisation Brussels An extremely interesting and stimulating collection of papers Ledeneva's challenging ideas first applied in the context of Russia's economy of shortage came to full blossom and are here contextualized by practices from other countries and contemporary systems Many original and relevant practices were recognized empirically in socialist countries but this book shows their generality János Kornai Allie S Freed Professor of Economics Emeritus at Harvard and Professor Emeritus at Corvinus University of Budapest Alena Ledeneva's Global Encyclopedia of Informality is a unique contribution providing a global atlas of informal practices through the contributions of over 200 scholars across the world. It is far more rewarding for the reader to discover how commonalities of informal behavior become apparent through this rich texture like a complex and hidden pattern behind local colors than to presume top down universal benchmarks of good versus bad behavior. This book is a plea against reductionist approaches of mathematics in social science in general and corruption studies in particular and makes a great read as well as an indispensable guide to understand the cultural richness of the world. Alina Mungiu Pippidi, Professor of Democracy Studies, Hertie School of Governance, Berlin. Transformative scholarship in method, object and consequence. Ledeneva and her networked expertise not only enable us to view the informal comparatively but challenge conventionally legible accounts of membership, markets, domination and resistance with these rich accounts from five continents. This project offers nothing less than a social scientific revolution if the broader scholarly community has the imagination to follow through. And by globalizing these informal knowledges typically hidden from view, the volume's contributors will extend the imaginations of those business consultants, movement mobilizers and peace makers who can appreciate the value of translation from other world regions in their own work. Michael D. Kennedy, Professor of Sociology and International and Public Affairs, Brown University and author of Globalizing Knowledge. Don't mistake these weighty volumes for anything directory like or anonymous. This wonderful collection of short essays penned by many of the single best experts in their fields puts the reader squarely in the kinds of conversations culled only after years of friendship, trust and with the keen eye of the practiced observer. Perhaps most importantly, the remarkably wide range of offerings lets us de-parochialise corruption and detach it from the usual hyper-local and cultural explanations. The reader in the end is the one invited to consider the many and striking commonalities. Bruce Grant, Professor at New York University and Chair of the US National Council for East European and Eurasian Research.

Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies Engin Isin, Peter Nyers, 2014-06-27

Citizenship studies is at a crucial moment of globalizing as a field. What used to be mainly a European, North American and Australian field has now expanded to major contributions featuring scholarship from Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East. The Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies takes into account this globalizing moment. At the same time it considers how the global perspective exposes the strains and discords in the concept of citizenship as it is understood today. With over fifty contributions from international interdisciplinary experts, the Handbook features state-of-the-art analyses of the practices and enactments of citizenship across broad continental regions: Africa, Americas, Asia and Europe, as well as deterritorialized forms of citizenship: Diasporicity and Indigeneity. Through these analyses, the Handbook provides a deeper understanding of citizenship in both empirical and theoretical terms. This volume sets a new agenda for scholarly investigations of citizenship. Its wide-ranging contributions and clear accessible style make it essential reading for students.

and scholars working on citizenship issues across the humanities and social sciences Afrikaners and the Boundaries of Faith in Post-Apartheid South Africa Annika Björnsdotter Teppo, 2021-09-30 This book examines the shifting moral and spiritual lives of white Afrikaners in South Africa after apartheid The end of South Africa's apartheid system of racial and spatial segregation sparked wide reaching social change as social cultural spatial and racial boundaries were transgressed and transformed This book investigates how Afrikaners have mediated the country's shifting boundaries within the realm of religion For instance one in every three Afrikaners used these new freedoms to leave the traditional Dutch Reformed Church NGK often for an entirely new religious affiliation within the Pentecostal or Charismatic churches or New Religious Movements such as Wiccan neopaganism Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in the Western Cape area the book investigates what spiritual life after racial totalitarianism means for the members of the ethnic group that constructed and maintained that very totalitarianism Ultimately the book asks how these new Afrikaner religious practices contribute to social solidarity and integration in a persistently segregated society and what they can tell us about racial relations in the country today This book will be of interest to scholars of religious studies social and cultural anthropology and African studies

Popular Politics and Resistance Movements in South Africa William Beinart, Marcelle C. Dawson, 2010-12-01 An examination of post apartheid politics This volume explores some of the key features of popular politics and resistance before and after 1994 It looks at continuities and changes in the forms of struggle and ideologies involved as well as the significance of post apartheid grassroots politics Is this a new form of politics or does it stand as a direct descendent of the insurrectionary impulses of the late apartheid era Posing questions about continuity and change before and after 1994 raises key issues concerning the nature of power and poverty in the country Contributors suggest that expressions of popular politics are deeply set within South African political culture and still have the capacity to influence political outcomes The introduction by William Beinart links the papers together places them in context of recent literature on popular politics and history from below and summarises their main findings supporting the argument that popular politics outside of the party system remain significant in South Africa and help influence national politics The roots of this collection lie in post graduate student research conducted at the University of Oxford in the early twenty first century Liberated Threads Tanisha C. Ford, 2015-09-14 From the civil rights and Black Power era of the 1960s through antiapartheid activism in the 1980s and beyond black women have used their clothing hair and style not simply as a fashion statement but as a powerful tool of resistance Whether using stiletto heels as weapons to protect against police attacks or incorporating African themed designs into everyday wear these fashion forward women celebrated their identities and pushed for equality In this thought provoking book Tanisha C Ford explores how and why black women in places as far flung as New York City Atlanta London and Johannesburg incorporated style and beauty culture into their activism Focusing on the emergence of the soul style movement represented in clothing jewelry hairstyles and more Liberated Threads shows that black women's fashion choices became galvanizing symbols of gender and political liberation Drawing from an eclectic archive Ford offers a new way of studying how black style and Soul Power moved beyond national boundaries sparking a global fashion phenomenon Following celebrities models college students and everyday women as they moved through fashion boutiques beauty salons and record stores Ford narrates the fascinating intertwining histories of Black Freedom and fashion

Gaining Ground? Deborah James, 2007-03-12 Mugabe's policy of land seizures in Zimbabwe raised concerns in South Africa Set amidst these conflicts Gaining Ground shows how land reform policy and practice in post apartheid South Africa has been produced and contested Winner of the inaugural Elliott P Skinner Book Award of the Association of Africanist Anthropology 2008

Social, Political and Cultural Challenges of the BRICS Ribeiro, Gustavo Lins, Dwyer, Tom, 2015-02-07 For the almost 40 years of its existence ANPOCS has contributed to introducing or consolidating new thematic areas in the academic agenda of debates in the Brazilian social sciences Commensurate with this history at the 37th Annual meeting hosted inguas de Lindoia S o Paulo in 2013 we organized a large International Symposium The BRICS and their social political and cultural challenges on the national and international levels There were six sessions of debates gathered under the umbrella of Development and public policies Social inclusion and social justice and Emerging powers and transformations in the international system followed by a final plenary session Around 30 anthropologists political scientists sociologists and researchers in international relations from Brazil Russia India China and South Africa met over three highly productive days As might be expected at ANPOCS the encounter was marked not only by the diversity of countries and disciplines but also by the theoretical and political diversity of the participants something already apparent in the composition of the Brazilian coordinators of the Symposium This book is just one tangible outcome of the papers and dialogues emerging from this encounter Like the Symposium the volume is divided into three sections Looking to address an international readership it is published in Portuguese and English The Culture of AIDS in Africa Gregory Barz, Judah M. Cohen, 2011-10-13 The Culture of AIDS in Africa presents 30 chapters offering a multifaceted nuanced and deeply affective portrait of the relationship between HIV AIDS and the arts in Africa including source material such as song lyrics and interviews Africa Maria Grosz-Ngaté, John H. Hanson, Patrick O'Meara, 2014-04-18 Much has changed in Africa and in African studies but one constant has been the enduring excellence of the anthology Africa International Journal of African Historical Studies Since the publication of the first edition in 1977 Africa has established itself as a leading resource for teaching business and scholarship This fourth edition has been completely revised and focuses on the dynamism and diversity of today's Africa The latest volume emphasizes contemporary culture civil and social issues art religion and the political scene and provides an overview of significant themes that bear on Africa's place in the world Historically grounded Africa provides a comprehensive view of the ways that African women and men have constructed their lives and engaged in collective activities at the local national and global levels From all indications the fourth edition of Africa should not only endure the test of time but also be found exceptionally useful by a wide spectrum of scholars including college professors and their students in general Africa Today The Government of Chronic Poverty Sam Hickey, 2013-10-31 What are the underlying causes of chronic poverty Can development beyond neoliberalism offer the strategies required to challenge such persistent forms of poverty particularly through efforts to promote citizenship amongst poor people Drawing on case study evidence from Africa Latin America and South Asia the contributions critically examine different attempts to govern chronic poverty via the promotion of particular forms and notions of citizenship with a specific focus on the role of community based approaches social policy and social movements Poverty is seen here as deriving from underlying patterns of uneven development involving processes of capitalism and state formation that foster inequality generating mechanisms and particularly disadvantaged social categories Sceptics tend to deride the emphasis under current inclusive forms of Liberalism on tackling poverty through the promotion of citizenship as inevitably depoliticising and disempowering for poor people and our cases do suggest that citizenship based strategies rarely alter the underlying basis of poverty However our evidence also offers some support to those optimists who suggest that progressive moves towards poverty reduction and citizenship formation have become more rather than less likely at the current juncture The promotion of citizenship emerges here as a significant but incomplete effort to challenge poverty that persists over time This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies History of Africa Kevin Shillington, 2018-08-28 This fourth edition of this best selling core history textbook offers a richly illustrated single volume narrative introduction to African history from a hugely respected authority in the field The market leading range of illustrated material from prior editions is now further improved featuring not only additional and redrawn maps and a refreshed selection of photographs but the addition of full colour to make these even more instructive evocative and attractive Already hugely popular on introductory African History courses the book has been widely praised for its engaging and readable style and is unrivalled in scope both geographically and chronologically while many competitors limit themselves to certain regions or eras Shillington chronicles the entire continent from prehistory right up to the present day For this new edition both content and layout have been thoroughly refreshed and restructured to make this wealth of material easily navigable and even more appealing to students unfamiliar with the subject New to this Edition Now in full colour with fresh new design Part structure and part intros added to help navigation New and improved online resources include a new testbank interactive timelines lecturer slides debates In African history essay questions and further readings Revised and updated in light of recent research

A History of Victims of Crime Stephen Strauss-Walsh, 2023-05-19 This book examines the evolution of the contemporary crime victim's procedural place within modern Western societies Taking the history of the Irish crime victim as a case study the work charts the place of victims within criminal justice over time This evolves from the expansive latitude that they had during the eighteenth century to their major relegation to witness and informer in the nineteenth and back to a more contemporary recapturing of some of their previous centrality The book also studies what this has meant for the position of suspects and offenders as well as the population more generally Therefore some analysis is devoted to examining its impact on an offender's right to fair trial and social forms It is held that the modern crime victim has transcended its position of marginality This happened not only in law but as the consequence of the victim's new role as a key sociopolitical stakeholder This work flags the importance of victim rights conferrals and the social transformations that engendered such trends In this way victim re emergence is evidenced as being not just a legal change but a consequence of several more recent sociocultural transformations in our societies The book will be of interest to researchers academics and policy makers in criminal law human rights law criminology and legal history
