Emerging Nodes in the Global Economy: Frankfurt and Tel Aviv Compared Daniel Felsenstein, Eike W. Schamp, Arie Shachar, 2003-01-31 This volume looks at the temporal and volatile ways in which Frankfurt and Tel Aviv engage the global economy and function as nodes within global networks Drawing on a combination of qualitative and quantitative empirical studies of leading sectors it systematically analyzes the process of network formation and highlights the role of national and regional policy It will be of interest to academics researchers practitioners and policymakers working in urban and economic geography public policy and economic development

Emerging Nodes in the Global Economy: Frankfurt and Tel Aviv Compared D. Felsenstein, E.W. Schamp, A. Shachar, 2013-03-14 Cities form one of the principal arenas in which globalization processes are manifest Much of the interest in the urban outcomes of globalization is focused on a limited number of iconic global or world cities Most places however will never attain that status They are more likely to play limited and specialized roles in a world economy increasingly dominated by flows Emerging Nodes in a Global Network looks at the temporal and volatile ways in which two such cities Frankfurt and Tel Aviv engage the global economy The central thesis of the book contends that the current round of globalization is characterized by places selectively functioning as nodes within global networks Drawing on a combination of qualitative and quantitative empirical studies of leading sectors in Frankfurt and Tel Aviv financial and business services high technology air transportation tourism and cultural industries the process of network formation is systematically analyzed and the role of national and regional policy is highlighted Audience This book will be of major interest to academics researchers practitioners and policy makers in the areas of urban and economic geography public policy and economic development It also provides valuable material for government officials and regional and national agencies involved in metropolitan planning and development

Mumbai - An International Financial Centre India. Ministry of Finance. High Powered Expert Committee, 2007-04-19 Most financial services are now tradable across borders in an extremely competitive environment with buyers and sellers around the world having a choice of procuring services from competing international financial centres The global international financial services IFS market in the 21st century is one in which competition is driven by rapid innovation in financial products services instruments structures and arrangements to accommodate and manage myriad requirements risks and a ceaseless quest for cost reduction Competitive advantage in IFS provision depends on seven key factors An extensive national regional global network of corporate and government client connections possessed by financial firms participating in an international finance centre High level human capital specialized in finance supported by a numerate labour force World class telecommunications infrastructure State of the art IT systems A well developed sophisticated open financial system A system of financial regime governance that is amenable to operating on global best practice lines and standards A hinterland advantage in terms of either a national or regional economy preferably both whose growth is generating rapid growth in demand for IFS The Ministry of Finance Government of India established a High Powered Expert Committee in 2006 to study the feasibility of India's entry into the global market for IFS and that of Mumbai becoming an IFC. The Committee's report analyses Mumbai's strengths and weaknesses in terms of the above seven key factors essential for the success of an IFC. The report strives to deliver a nuanced appreciation of the likely costs and benefits of the path to an IFC based on an understanding of which policy makers can make a reasoned choice. The Globalization of Israel Uri Ram, 2013-10-18 This book focuses on how globalization is impacting contemporary Israel. It is a concise and originally argued introduction to Israel but the author Uri Ram is careful to frame his analysis in a broader discussion of Israeli history and broader social currents. Focusing in particular on two defining and conflicting contemporary trends: one toward advanced liberal democracy with a cosmopolitan edge and the other toward ethno-religious traditionalism and rejection of the secularism associated with market-driven globalization. The cosmopolitan high-tech driven city of Tel Aviv represents the former trend and Jerusalem, a city increasingly dominated by orthodox Jews, represents the latter. Using Benjamin Barber's Jihad versus McWorld thesis to good effect, Ram's book will stand as an ideal introduction to contemporary Israel and its place in the world.

International Financial Centres after the Global Financial Crisis and Brexit

Youssef Cassis, Dariusz Wójcik, 2018-06-26 As well as marking the tenth anniversary of the collapse of Lehman Brothers and the consequent unleashing of the global financial crisis, 2018 is also the year of negotiations on the terms of the UK's exit from the European Union. Within a decade, the banking world has witnessed two epochal events with potential to redraw the map of international financial centres, but how much has this map actually changed since 2008 and how is it likely to change in the near future? International Financial Centres after the Global Financial Crisis and Brexit gathers together leading economic historians, geographers and other social scientists to focus on the post-2008 developments in key international financial centres. It focuses on the shifting hierarchies of New York, London, Paris, Geneva, Zurich, Frankfurt, Singapore, Hong Kong, Beijing, Shanghai and Tokyo to question whether Asian financial centres have taken advantage of the crisis in the West. It also examines the medium effects of the crisis: the level of regulation and the rise of new technology (fintech). By exploring these crucial changes, it questions whether shifts in the financial industry and the global landscape will render these centres unnecessary for the functioning of the global economy and which cities are likely to emerge as hubs of new financial technology.

Human Mobility in Coastal Regions Allan M. Williams, 2012-12-31 The broad aim of this book is to examine human mobility-urbanization relationships as the unit of analysis within the framework of the natural environment of the coastal areas, with a focus on unfolding major conflict categories/themes. The book does not address the question of how urbanization shapes mobility; this lies outside the project specification that this book is based on, as approved by the EU. Therefore, the analysis of how different urban forms, such as the compact city shape, mobility are not considered here. Instead, the book has four specific research objectives that structure this overview chapter and the national case studies presented in the remainder of the book: I To analyze the relationships between migration and urban change; II To analyze the spatial and temporal balance between permanent versus temporary populations in the core v ring v coastal zone III To analyse how human mobility shapes key aspects of urbanization IV To consider the main human environmental conflicts resulting from human mobility The final section reflects on the implications for human environmental conflicts of the changing relationship between mobility and urbanization in the case studies Aeromobilities Saulo Cwerner, Sven Kesselring, John Urry, 2009-01-13 Aeromobilities provides a broad introduction to the study of air travel airspaces and aviation from the perspective of the social sciences and the humanities The book makes a strong case for a systematic interdisciplinary study of some of the most powerful forces that have shaped our mobile globalization Global Urban Analysis Peter J Taylor, Pengfei Ni, Ben Derudder, Michael Hoyler, Jin Huang, Frank Witlox, 2012-06-25 Global Urban Analysis provides a unique insight into the contemporary world economy through a focus on cities It is based upon a large scale customised data collection on how leading businesses use cities across the world as headquarter locations for finance for professional and creative services for media These data involving up to 2000 firms and over 500 cities provide evidence for both how the leading cities sometimes called global cities are coming to dominate the world economy and how hundreds of other cities are faring in this brave new urban world Thus can the likes of London New York and Hong Kong be tracked as well as Manchester Cleveland and Guangzhou and even Plymouth Chattanooga and Xi an Cities are assessed and ranked in terms of their importance for various functions such as for financial services legal services and advertising plus novel findings are reported for the geographical orientations of their connections This is truly a comprehensive survey of cities in globalization covering global world regional and national scales of analysis 4 key chapters outline the global structure of the world economy featuring the leading cities 9 regional chapters covering the whole world also feature the level of services provided by medium cities 22 chapters on selected countries and sub regions indicate global ness and local ness and feature an even wider range of cities Written in an easy to understand style this book is a must read for anybody interested in their own city in the world and how it relates to other cities Resisting Redevelopment Eleonora Pasotti, 2020-03-19 In ten global cities residents facing displacement from redevelopment and gentrification mobilized creatively to impact policies Migrants to the Metropolis Marie Price, Lisa Benton-Short, 2008-06-27 Immigration today touches the lives and economies of more people and places than ever before Yet the places that are disproportionately affected by immigrant flows are not countries but cities This remarkable collection examines contemporary global immigration trends and their profound effect on specific host cities The book focuses not only on cities with long established diverse populations such as New York Toronto and Sydney but also on less known gateway cities such as Birmingham UK Marseille and the emerging gateways of Johannesburg Washington D C and Dublin The essays gathered here provide a global portrait of accelerating worldwide immigration driven by income differentials social networks and various state policies that recruit skilled and unskilled laborers Gateway cities vary in form and function but many are hyperdiverse globally linked through transnational networks and often increasingly segregated spaces Offering penetrating analysis by the leading scholars in the field Migrants to the Metropolis redirects the global narrative surrounding migration away from states and borders and into cities where the vast majority of economic migrants settle Sustainability in the Coastal Urban Environment Ahmed Z. Khan, Le Xuan Quynh, Eric Corijn, Frank Canters, 2013-12-31 The process of globalization has been in the focus for much discussion and debate over its benefits and downsides Globalisation has helped to raise productivity and employment lift millions out of poverty revolutionised communications boosted international cooperation fostered competition boosted global economic growth and interdependencies through trade and FDI flows and facilitated scientific discoveries Gurria 2007 However at the same time globalization is also blamed for a growing uncertainty and insecurity in the job market depressed wages increasing inequality overexploitation of irreplaceable natural resources the transfer of political power to large multinationals operating outside of the democratic processes and the sacrifice of cultural and other values to the dictates of the marketplace

A Modern History of European Cities Rosemary Wakeman, 2020-01-23 Rosemary Wakeman's original survey text comprehensively explores modern European urban history from 1815 to the present day It provides a journey to cities and towns across the continent in search of the patterns of development that have shaped the urban landscape as indelibly European The focus is on the built environment the social and cultural transformations that mark the patterns of continuity and change and the transition to modern urban society Including over 60 images that serve to illuminate the analysis the book examines whether there is a European city and if so what are its characteristics Wakeman offers an interdisciplinary approach that incorporates concepts from cultural and postcolonial studies as well as urban geography and provides full coverage of urban society not only in western Europe but also in eastern and southern Europe using various cities and city types to inform the discussion The book provides detailed coverage of the often neglected urbanization post 1945 which allows us to more clearly understand the modernizing arc Europe has followed over the last two centuries

International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education
