innovation New Directions in Picturebook Research Teresa Colomer, Bettina Kümmerling-Meibauer, Cecilia Silva-Díaz, 2010-07-12 In this new collection children's literature scholars from twelve different countries contribute to the ongoing debate on the importance of picturebook research focusing on aesthetic and cognitive aspects of picture books. Contributors take interdisciplinary approaches that integrate different disciplines such as literary studies, art history, linguistics, narratology, cognitive psychology, sociology, memory studies, and picture theory. Topics discussed include intervisuality, twist endings, autobiographical narration, and metaliterary awareness in picturebooks. The essays also examine the narrative challenges of first person narratives, ellipsis, and frame breaking in order to consider the importance of mindscape as a new paradigm in picturebook research. Tying picturebook studies to studies in childhood, multimodality, and literacy, this anthology is a representative of the different opportunities for research in this emerging field. Language & Literacy in the Early Years 0-7 Marian R Whitehead, 2010-03-03 Apart from any fair dealing for the purposes of research or private study or criticism or review as permitted under the Copyright Designs and Patents Act 1988, this publication may be reproduced, stored, or transmitted in any form or by any means only with the prior permission in writing of the publishers or in the case of reprographic reproduction in accordance with the terms of licenses issued by the Copyright Licensing Agency. Child observations and case studies, and photographs are used to demonstrate the learning that goes on in a variety of homes and early years settings. New and key features include: An expanded chapter showing a range of good practices in three different settings: nursery, school, integrated children's centre, and Steiner kindergartens. A new chapter reviewing the statutory national requirements for communication, language, and literacy in the UK. Additional case studies including children in the final year of the Foundation Stage. It will touch all of us at some point, an uninvited guest that can't be shown the door that takes over our lives and changes us forever. In this gut-wrenchingly beautiful book, Darrelyn Gunzburg shows us how knowing the shape of grief and its consequences over time give edges and boundaries to this dark pathway revealing that through the prickly branches and the mist life awaits us at the edge of the forest dressed in cloths of gold and sustained with love and warmth Helping ourselves first means we gain the wisdom that grief gives us to help others on their unique journey to encounter a changed future with focus determination and understanding when grief comes to call To allow someone in grief to give voice to their experiences is not just being kind It is saving their life Learning from
