Empathic Service Design Melanie Sarantou,Satu Miettinen,Titta Jylkäs,2025-07-24 Through case studies from across the globe, this book helps designers understand how forward-looking service prototyping analysis and tools can promote and create empathic, emotion-oriented and relevant services. Despite services being at the core of organisations to create service flows, designers, groups and their diverse stakeholders must negotiate ever more complex and hybrid interactions between human and more-than-human role players in service delivery. The challenge lies in delivering empathic, relevant and desirable services despite these complexities. New knowledge is needed to bridge the gaps, uncertainties and even anxieties that organisations face in making their service delivery empathic and keeping them purposeful to users. Addressing problems within service delivery like empathy fatigue, poor collaboration and siloed work experiences that lead to poorly functioning systems, the authors suggest concrete solutions for developing empathetic approaches and tools with consideration for the needs of participants. The book critically examines the role of empathy and explores how compassionate understanding of the end user is key to success. Case studies include mapping of children's services, wearable technologies for pandemics, understanding cultural sensitivity, emojis and chat bots and AI used in care settings.

Fieldwork for Healthcare Dominic Furniss,Rebecca Randell,Aisling Ann O'Kane,Svetlana Taneva,2022-05-31 Conducting fieldwork for investigating technology use in healthcare is a challenging undertaking and yet there is little in the way of community support and guidance for conducting these studies. There is a need for better knowledge sharing and resources to facilitate learning. This is the second of two volumes designed as a collective graduate guidebook for conducting fieldwork in healthcare. This volume brings together thematic chapters that draw out issues and lessons learned from practical experience. Researchers who have first-hand experience of conducting healthcare fieldwork collaborated to write these chapters. This volume contains insights, tips and tricks from studies in clinical and non-clinical environments, from hospital to home. This volume starts with an introduction to the ethics and governance procedures a researcher might encounter when conducting fieldwork in this sensitive study area. Subsequent chapters address specific aspects of conducting situated healthcare research. Chapters on readying the researcher and relationships in the medical domain break down some of the complex social aspects of this type of research. They are followed by chapters on the practicalities of collecting data and implementing interventions which focus on domain specific issues that may arise Finally we close the volume by discussing the management of impact in healthcare fieldwork The guidance contained in these chapters enables new researchers to form their project plans and also their contingency plans in this complex and challenging domain For more experienced researchers it offers advice and support through familiar stories and experiences For supervisors and teachers it offers a source of reference and debate Together with the first volume Fieldwork for Healthcare Case Studies Investigating Human Factors in Computing systems these books provide a substantive resource on how to conduct fieldwork in healthcare Table of Contents Preface Acknowledgments Ethics Governance and Patient and Public Involvement in Healthcare Readyng the Researcher for Fieldwork in Healthcare Establishing and Maintaining Relationships in Healthcare Fields Practicalities of Data Collection in Healthcare Fieldwork Healthcare Intervention Studies In the Wild Impact of Fieldwork in Healthcare Understanding Impact on Researchers Research Practice and Beyond References Biographies

Researching with Feeling Caroline Clarke, Mike Broussine, Linda Watts, 2014-10-10 Why should researchers be interested in their feelings and emotions as they carry out research Emotion is what it is to exist to be human and is present in every sphere of our lives All activities are infused with emotion even those that are constructed as rational because rationality and emotionality are interpenetrated and entwined because all thinking is tinged with feeling and all feeling is tinged with thinking This book illuminates the emotional processes of doing social and organizational research and the implications of this for the outcomes of research With contributions from leading academics and research practitioners it addresses the significant issue of the sometimes intense emotional experiences involved in doing research and the implications it has for the theory and practice of social research By examining the nature of feelings and emotions it explores how we might understand researchers emotions and experiences and considers the often powerful feelings encountered in a variety of research contexts Topics discussed include power relations psycho social explanations of researcher emotions paradoxical relations with research participants and the sometimes disturbing data that is gained research supervision the politics of research gender publishing undergoing vivas and presenting at conferences This book will therefore be a valuable companion to researchers and research students from the start of their career onwards
