Empowering The Past Confronting The Future:

Empowering the Past, Confronting the Future: The Duna People of Papua New Guinea Andrew J.

Strathern, Pamela J. Stewart, 2004-06-11 How have the Aluni Valley Duna people of Papua New Guinea responded to the challenges of colonial and post colonial changes that have entered their lifeworld since the middle of the Twentieth Century Living in a corner of the world influenced by mining companies but relatively neglected in terms of government sponsored development these people have dealt creatively with forces of change by redeploying their own mythological themes about the cosmos in order to make claims on outside corporations and by subtly combining features of their customary practices with forms of Christianity attempting to empower their past as a means of confronting the future Navigating the Future

Monica Minnegal, Peter D. Dwyer, 2017-06-08 Navigating the Future draws on long term ethnographic fieldwork with Kubo people and their neighbours in a remote area of Papua New Guinea to explore how worlds are reconfigured as people become increasingly conscious of and seek to draw into their own lives wealth and power that had previously lain beyond their horizons In the context of a major resource extraction project the Papua New Guinea Liquefied Natural Gas PNG LNG Project taking shape in the mountains to the north the people in this area are actively reimagining their social world This book describes changes in practice that result tracing shifts in the ways people relate to the land to each other and to outsiders and the histories of engagement that frame those changes Inequalities are emerging between individuals in access to paid work between groups in potential for claiming future royalties and between generations in access to information As people at the village of Suabi strive to make themselves visible to the state and to petroleum companies as legal entities entitled to receive benefits from the PNG LNG Project they are drawing new boundaries around sets of people and around land and declaring hierarchical relationships between groups that did not exist before They are struggling to make sense of a bureaucracy that is foreign to them in a place where the state currently has minimal presence A primary concern of Navigating the Future is with the processes through which these changes have emerged as people seek to imagine and work to bring about a radically different future for themselves while simultaneously reimagining their own past in ways that validate those endeavours The Road to Clarity

E. Keller, 2005-11-18 In recent years millions of people have joined churches such as the Seventh day Adventist which prosper enormously in different parts of the world The Road to Clarity is one of the first ethnographic in depth studies of this phenomenon It is a vivid account based on almost two years of participation in ordinary church members daily religious and non religious lives The book offers a fascinating inquiry into the nature of long term commitment to Adventism among rural people in Madagascar Eva Keller argues that the key attraction of the church lies in the excitement of study argument and intellectual exploration This is a novel approach which challenges utilitarian and cultural particularist explanations of the success of this kind of Christianity Responding to the West

Hans Hägerdal, 2009 The international contributors to this penetrating volume apply fresh perspectives and new

methodologies to the Asian colonial experience from the eighteenth century through the post World War II decolonization Historiography gender military studies finance and issues of race and class all feature in this wide ranging account of the diversity of human relationships forged by the colonial presence For all of its features of structural oppression colonialism was not a one way communicative process as this volume demonstrates through its analysis of the ever shifting roles of colonizer and colonized The Anthropology of Religious Charisma C. Lindholm,2013-12-18 According to Max Weber charisma is opposed to bureaucratic order This collection reveals the limits of that formula The contributors show how charisma is a part of cultural frameworks while retaining its ecstatic character among American and Italian Catholics Syrian Sufis Taiwanese Buddhists Hassidic Jews and Amazonian shamans among others Expressive Genres and Historical Change Andrew Strathern,2017-07-05 Drawing on research conducted in New Guinea Indonesia Melanesia and Taiwan the contributors to this volume focus on how expressive genres such as music and dance are of enduring significance to social organization Sustainability, Conservation, and Creativity Pamela J. Stewart,Andrew J. Strathern,2019-09-19 By examining how small communities have dealt with forces of change and have sought to maintain themselves over time this book offers pointers and lessons for conservation practices at all levels of society Sustainability has become an increasingly popular term as a signal of concerns with long term environmental consequences of human actions Sustainability as a goal has started to replace development as a way of describing policies that go beyond the concept of increasing commercial production or making monetary profits from enterprises By focusing on topical case histories on agricultural activity stock keeping cash cropping mining and renewable energy the authors highlight how ethnographic studies can and should inform policy decisions at both local and global levels This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of applied anthropology sociology and development studies Knowing the Past, Facing the Future Sheila Carr-Stewart,2019-11-15 In 1867 Canada's federal government became responsible for the education of Indigenous peoples Status Indians and some Métis would attend schools on reserves non Status Indians and some Métis would attend provincial schools The system set the stage for decades of broken promises and misguided experiments that are only now being rectified in the spirit of truth and reconciliation Knowing the Past Facing the Future traces the arc of Indigenous education since Confederation and draws a road map of the obstacles that need to be removed before the challenge of reconciliation can be met This insightful volume is organized in three parts The opening chapters examine colonial promises and practices including the treaty right to education and the establishment of day residential and industrial schools The second part focuses on the legacy of racism trauma and dislocation and the third part explores contemporary issues in curriculum development assessment leadership and governance This diverse collection reveals the possibilities and problems associated with incorporating Traditional Knowledge and Indigenous teaching and healing practices into school courses and programs My God, My Land Jacqueline Ryle,2016-12-05 Examining the multifaceted nature of Christianity in Fiji My God My Land reveals the deeply complex and often paradoxical dynamics and tensions between processes of change and continuity as they unfold in representations and practices of Christianity and tradition in people's everyday lives. The book draws on extensive multi-sited fieldwork in different denominations to explore how shared values and cultural belonging are employed to strengthen relations. As such, My God My Land will be of interest to anthropologists of Oceania as well as scholars and students researching into social and cultural change, ritual religion, Christianity, enculturation and contextual theology.

Yoruba in Diaspora H. Harris, 2006-09-16 The Nigerian diaspora is now world wide and when Yoruba travel they take with them their religious organizations. As a member of the Cherubim and Seraphim church in London for over thirty years, anthropologist Hermione Harris explores a world of prayer, spirit possession and divination through dreams and visions. Faith in Objects

E. Hasinoff, 2011-11-21 Hasinoff brings the untold history of the World in Boston of 1911, America's First Great Missionary Exposition, to light, focusing on how the material culture of missions shaped domestic interactions with evangelism, Christianity and the consumption of ethnological knowledge.

Ten Thousand Years of Cultivation at Kuk Swamp in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea Jack Golson, Tim Denham, Philip Hughes, Pamela Swadling, John Muke, 2017-07-07 Kuk is a settlement at c 1600 m altitude in the upper Wahgi Valley of the Western Highlands Province of Papua New Guinea, near Mount Hagen, the provincial capital. The site forms part of the highland spine that runs for more than 2500 km from the western head of the island of New Guinea to the end of its eastern tail. Until the early 1930s, when the region was first explored by European outsiders, it was thought to be a single uninhabited mountain chain. Instead, it was found to be a complex area of valleys and basins inhabited by large populations of people and pigs, supported by the intensive cultivation of the tropical American sweet potato on the slopes above swampy valley bottoms. With the end of World War II, the area, with others, became a focus for the development of coffee and tea plantations, of which the establishment of Kuk Research Station was a result. Large-scale drainage of the swamps produced abundant evidence in the form of stone axes and preserved wooden digging sticks and spades for their past use in cultivation. Investigations in 1966 at a tea plantation in the upper Wahgi Valley by a small team from The Australian National University yielded a date of over 2000 years ago for a wooden stick collected from the bottom of a prehistoric ditch. The establishment of Kuk Research Station, a few kilometres away, shortly afterwards, provided an ideal opportunity for a research project.

The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels Eva-Maria Windberger, 2023-07-17 The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels combines the investigation of David Mitchell's novels with the introduction of a new critical concept to literary studies: empowerment. Aiming to situate and establish empowerment firmly within the context of literary studies, it offers the first framework and definition for reading fictional texts with the lens of empowerment and applies it in the analysis of discourse the fictional characters and the role of the reader in Mitchell s novels Drawing on narratological analysis cognitive approaches to literature and reader response theory it features close readings of Cloud Atlas 2004 Black Swan Green 2006 and The Thousand Autumns of Jacob de Zoet 2010 and dissects the author s strategies poetics and agenda of empowering fiction This book argues for an inherent indissoluble connection between empowerment and the telling of stories and demonstrates how literary studies can benefit from a serious engagement with empowerment and how such an engagement can stimulate new responses to fiction and put literary studies in conversation with other disciplines Green
