Picnic Comma Lightning: The Experience of Reality in the Twenty-First Century Laurence Scott,2019-05-28 A stylish playful exploration of what digital life is doing to the way we find meaning in the world Guardian In Vladimir Nabokov's Lolita Humbert Humbert offers a memorably brief account of his parents' death picnic lightning Picnic Comma Lightning too opens with death that of Laurence Scott's mother because for a philosopher death raises a profound existential question How do we know what is real especially when we have come to question the reality of so many of our day to day experiences Writing from the intersection of philosophy politics and memoir Scott transforms his personal meditation on loss into a beguiling exploration of what it means to exist in the world today It used to be that our lives were rooted in reasonably solid things to people places and memories Now in an age of online personas alternative truths constant surveillance and an increasingly hysterical news cycle our realities are becoming flimsier and more vulnerable than ever before Scott's far ranging examination charts the ways our traditional mental models of the world have started to fray He ponders how ubiquitous cameras reframe our private lives an event only exists once someone posts the video how mysterious algorithms undermine our attempts at self definition through their own data driven portraits and what happens in those moments when our illusions about reality are ruptured by incontrovertible facts like the death of a parent or a bolt of lightning A report from the front line of the online generation Sunday Times Picnic Comma Lightning is an essential account of how we've started to make sense of our strange new world The Philosophy of Documentary Film David

LaRocca,2016-12-20 The spirit that founded the volume and guided its development is radically inter and transdisciplinary Dispatches have arrived from anthropology communications English film studies including theory history criticism literary studies including theory history criticism media and screen studies cognitive cultural studies narratology philosophy poetics politics and political theory and as a special aspect of the volume theorist filmmakers make their thoughts known as well Consequently the critical reflections gathered here are decidedly pluralistic and heterogeneous inviting not bracketing or partitioning the dynamism and diversity of the arts humanities social sciences and even natural sciences in so far as we are biological beings who are trying to track our cognitive and perceptual understanding of a nonbiological thing namely film whether celluloid based or in digital form these disciplines so habitually cordoned off from one another are brought together into a shared conversation about a common object and domain of investigation This book will be of interest to theorists and practitioners of nonfiction film to emerging and established scholars contributing to the secondary literature and to those who are intrigued by the kinds of questions and claims that seem native to nonfiction film and who may wish to explore some critical responses to them written in engaging language Living with the Royal Academy Sarah Monks,2017-07-05 consider individual artists personal professional and artistic relationships with the Royal Academy during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries bringing together the research of leading historians of British artistic culture during this period Over its introduction and nine essays this collection considers the Academy as a lived organism whose most effective role following its establishment in 1768 was as a reference point towards around and against which artists operated in their relationships with each other and with artistic practice itself In so doing this collection also considers the relationship between Academic ideals and individual practice as well as lived experience during this period of art s increasingly public manifestation at the Academy Individual artists examined include Joshua Reynolds Joseph Wright of Derby Benjamin West and William Etty Thinking beyond the dichotomy of loyalism and rebellion and complicating notions of the Academy as a monolithic ossifying institution from which progressive artists would be liberated in the wake of the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood s emergence in 1848 this volume investigates the Academy s varied impact upon the lives experiences and ideals of its diverse artistic communities

Living with the Royal Academy Professor John Barrell, 2013-12-16 Living with the Royal Academy directs attention to the textures of artists relationships with the Royal Academy in late eighteenth and early nineteenth century Britain This essay collection considers the Academy as a lived organism one whose most effective role was as a reference point around which artists operated in their relationships with each other and with artistic practice itself
