Empty Chairs Xia Liu, 2015-11-03 The first publication of the poetry of Liu Xia wife of the imprisoned Nobel Peace Prize recipient Liu Xiaobo I didn't have a chance to say a word before you became a character in the news everyone looking up to you as I was worn down at the edge of the crowd just smoking and watching the sky A new myth maybe was forming there but the sun was so bright I couldn't see it from June 2nd 1989 for Xiaobo Empty Chairs presents the poetry of Liu Xia for the first time freely in English translation Selected from thirty years of her work and including some of her haunting photography this book creates a portrait of a life lived under duress a voice in danger of being silenced and a spirit that is shaken but so far indomitable Liu Xia's poems are potent acute moments of inquiry that peel back to expose the fraught complexity of an interior world They are felt and insightful colored through with political constraints even as they seep beyond those constraints and toward love

Everyday Objects Tara Hamling, Catherine Richardson, 2016-12-14 This book is about the objects people owned and how they used them Twenty three specially written essays investigate the type of things that might have been considered everyday objects in the medieval and early modern periods and how they help us to understand the daily lives of those individuals for whom few other types of evidence survive for instance people of lower status and women of all status groups Everyday Objects presents new research by specialists from a range of disciplines to assess what the study of material culture can contribute to our understanding of medieval and early modern societies Extending and developing key debates in the study of the everyday the chapters provide analysis of such things as ceramics illustrated manuscripts pins handbells carved chimneypieces clothing drinking vessels bagpipes paintings shoes religious icons and the built fabric of domestic houses and guild halls These things are examined in relation to central themes of pre modern history for instance gender identity space morality skill value ritual use belief public and private behaviour continental influence materiality emotion technical innovation status competition and social mobility This book offers both a collection of new research by a diverse range of specialists and a source book of current methodological approaches for the study of pre modern material culture The multi disciplinary analysis of these everyday objects by archaeologists art historians literary scholars historians conservators and museum practitioners provides a snapshot of current methodological approaches within the humanities Although analysis of material culture has become an increasingly important aspect of the study of the past previous research in this area has often remained confined to subject specific boundaries This book will therefore be an invaluable resource for researchers and students interested in learning about important new work which demonstrates the potential of material culture study to cut across traditional historiographies and disciplinary boundaries and access the lived experience of individuals in the past
