A significant portion of the book is devoted to interventions to improve family health. Key Features: Includes contributions from authors that are respected experts from a broad range of disciplines including family studies, marriage and family therapy, nursing, and family medicine, gerontology, health psychology, and behavioral medicine, social work, and public policy to provide readers with multiple perspectives. Covers a number of important health issues including cancer, eating disorders, mental illness, the influence of close relationships on health, and how families cope with chronic illness, caregiving, and end-of-life care and bereavement to address the most significant health issues affecting families. Devotes special attention to Latino and African American health, childhood poverty, genetically transmitted diseases, infertility, and parental HIV/AIDS to offer insight on how these issues are particularly vital in today's world. Presents a discussion on agent-based modeling to provide readers with a dynamic methodology that will become a significant model in the study of families and close relationships.
