In The Skies Of Europe:

In the Skies of Europe Hans Werner Neulen, 2000 During WWII the air forces and pilots of the countries allied to Germany played a greater role than historians concede In this volume the author has gathered an enormous amount of information on the air forces of eight countries and the various foreign airmen including Russian who fought with the Luftwaffe Their operations mostly carried out in conditions of numerical inferiority their successes and failures as well as the motivation of these aircrew and their often tragic fate are fully incorporated into this comprehensive account A Europe of the Air? Martin Staniland, 2008-06-09 This definitive book offers the first full study of the development of the European Union's air transport policy Crucial to both globalization and regional integration commercial aviation along with other transport industries provides the logistics for business activities political life and contact between cultures Paradoxically however the airline industry was one of the last to be liberalized in the process of European integration and the creation of a single market in air transport was attended by sharp political disputes unreconstructed nationalism and persistent foot dragging Exploring the long struggle to create a Europe of the air through both regulatory change and airline strategizing Martin Staniland examines the political bargains that have shaped a highly fragmented industry and its regulation He argues that rather than focusing on directives and regulations issuing from Brussels students of integration should examine the ways in which the contentious interaction between leaders of an industry and relevant politicians and officials creates distinctive market orders Such market orders enable firms to minimize the risks inherent in business while allowing regulators to pursue the mandates of their organizations and to realize their notions of public interest Economic integration is therefore an often painful struggle to create a market order defined both by regulatory jurisdiction and by competition among firms An invaluable case study in industrial policy this book will be essential reading for students of aviation as well as for scholars interested in regulatory change and European integration Liberalizing Europe's Skies - A Failure? An Analysis of Airline Entry and Exit in the Post-liberalized German Airline Market, 1993-2006 Nicole Petrick-Felber, 2014-09-01 The study examines actual entry and exit dynamics in the German airline market in light of the European liberalization process For this purpose flight schedules data was used to derive entry and exit statistics for a set of chosen inner German routes over a period of thirteen years Data was analysed in cross sectional and longitudinal manner while identifying different entry waves and examining incumbent behaviour with respect to entry deterrence strategies Furthermore the market's concentration and structure was tracked to allow a conclusion with respect to the market's contestability after liberalization The results suggest the existence of remaining structural barriers to entry and depict a rather unsatisfactory overall state of the post liberalized market Making European Space Ole B. Jensen, Tim Richardson, 2004-08-02 Making European Space crystallises and critically examines the key policy ideas emerging in the new field of European spatial planning and explores the arguments surrounding policy themes such as polycentric development sustainability Europe
