Roy,2009 Cloth has always been the most global of all traded commodities It is an illuminating example of the circulation of goods skills knowledge and capital across wide geographic spaces South Asia has been central to the making of these global exchanges over time This volume presents innovative research that explores the dynamic ways in which diverse textile production and trade regions generated the first globalization A series of experts connect this global commodity with the dramatic political and economic transformations that characterised the Indian Ocean in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Collectively the essays transform our understanding of the contribution of South Asian cloth to the making of the modern world economy Indigenous Capital and Imperial Expansion Lakshmi Subramanian,1996 Studies the dynamics of English Imperial expansion on the west coast of India Subramanian highlights the critical role played by Bania credit and capital in the English triumph over the Maratha Confederacy in Western India at the turn of the century In a tale of two cities Surat and Bombay the author shows how merchant communities coped between two empires the Mughal and the British

Eighteenth-Century Gujarat Ghulam A. Bombay Lakshmi Subramanian,2016-01-15 Three Merchants of Bombay is the story of three intrepid merchants who traded out of Bombay in the nineteenth century Tarwady Arjunjee Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy and Premchand Roychand founding pioneering business empires based on trade in cotton and opium Set against the backdrop of global and local economies undergoing rapid and unforeseen change these stories stand as a microcosm for the history of indigenous capitalism in western India In this succinct and lucid account Lakshmi Subramanian traces that history and locates it in the greater narrative of the economic development of India South Asia and the world Hajj across Empires Rishad

Choudhury,2024-02-08 A highly original new history of Muslim political culture across the Indian Ocean from 1739 to 1857 Examining South Asian connections with the Middle East Rishad Choudhury draws on research in multilingual sources and archives to reveal the imperial entanglements of the hajj pilgrimage to Mecca Portuguese, Dutch and Chinese in

concerning Portuguese Dutch and Chinese merchants commodities and commerce in maritime Asia in the early modern period from c 1585 1800 They are based on exhaustive research and careful analysis of diverse sets of archival materials found around the globe Written by a leading authority on global maritime economic history and the history of European Expansion each individual essay addresses a topic of fundamental importance to those interested in knowing more about what merchants did with which resources and under what conditions and how they did it what were the commodities that were incorporated into local regional intra regional and global economies and what was the role and function of early modern maritime trade and commerce in economic development in general and especially in Asia in the early modern era from c 1585 1800 A number of them in particular relate the individual or collective merchant experience to specific European Portuguese and Dutch imperial projects and their contestation amongst themselves and their indigenous neighbours over portions of the period Collectively they form an exposition of a utilitarian view of human activity under a wide ranging different set of circumstances and conditions but with similar patterns of behaviors and responses that are largely independent from ethnic racial or religious stereotyping The work therefore should raise new issues and avenues of research concerning these agents and objects in European Expansion Asian and Global History Merchants, Traders, Entrepreneurs C. Markovits, 2008-10-23 This book deals with three main aspects of the history of Indian business The relationship between business and politics the position of merchants and businessmen in the economy and society of late colonial India and how particular merchant networks extended the range of their operations to the entire subcontinent and the wider world No Birds of Passage Michael O'Sullivan, 2023-09-19 No Birds of Passage explores the remarkable business success of three Gujarati Muslim commercial castes the Bohras Khojas and Memons Often stereotyped as Westernized and as Hindus in all but name these groups are better seen as having developed a distinctive Muslim capitalism in which religious and commercial prerogatives are inseparable In the Name of the Battle against Piracy , 2018-03-12 In the Name of the Battle against Piracy discusses antipiracy campaigns in Europe and Asia in the 16th 19th centuries Nine contributors argue how important antipiracy campaigns were for the establishment of a colonial state because piracy was a threat not only to maritime commerce but also to its sovereignty Battle against piracy offered a good reason for a state to claim its authority as the sole protector of people and to establish peace order and sovereignty In fact as the contributors explain the story was not that simple because states sometimes attempted to make economic and political use of piracy while private interests were strongly involved in antipiracy politics State formation processes were not clearly separated from non state elements Contributors are Kudo Akihito Satsuma Shinsuke Suzuki Hideaki Lakshmi Sabramanian Ota Atsushi James Francis Warren Fujita Tatsuo Murakami Ei and Toyooka Yasufumi Cosmopolitan Connections Mark Anthony Falzon, 2004-09-01 This volume looks at a diasporic community of Indian traders It draws on anthropological field research as well as archival sources to portray a cosmopolitan group united by ties of kinship and community which are reproduced across space through processes such as the circulation of women and family visiting These ties have their counterpart in the economic sphere which is characterised by sets of translocal trading linkages credit relations and a heightened knowledge of markets and a readiness to explore them A model for the relation between mobility and commerce is thus explored The book which includes a number of maps and original photographs is ground breaking in that it uses the technique of multi sited ethnography in which data from different sites are juxtaposed into a broad synthesis It is geared towards a broad audience
