Interests Of Criticism:

Foucault Contra Habermas Samantha Ashenden, David Owen, 1999-07-21 Foucault contra Habermas is an incisive examination of and a comprehensive introduction to the debate between Foucault and Habermas over the meaning of enlightenment and modernity. It reprises the key issues in the argument between critical theory and genealogy and is organised around three complementary themes defining the context of the debate: examining the theoretical and conceptual tools used and discussing the implications for politics and criticism. In a detailed reply to Habermas' Philosophical Discourse of Modernity, this volume explains the difference between Habermas' philosophical practice and Foucault's between the analytics of truth and the politics of truth. Many of the most difficult arguments in the exchange are subject to a detailed critical analysis. This examination also includes discussion of the ethics of dialogue, the practice of criticism, the politics of recognition and the function of civil society and democracy.

Media Accountability in the Era of Post-Truth Politics Tobias Eberwein, Susanne Fengler, Matthias Karmasin, 2019-06-28 Bringing together both leading international scholars and emerging academic talent, Media Accountability in the Era of Post-Truth Politics maps the current state of media accountability in Europe and provides fresh perspectives for future developments in media and communication fields. As the integrity of the international media landscape is challenged by far-reaching transformations and the rise of fake news, the need for a functional system of media regulation is greater than ever. This book addresses the pressing need to re-evaluate and redefine the notion of accountability in the fast-changing field of journalism and information provision. Using comparative research and empirical data, the book's case studies address the notion of media accountability from various perspectives, considering political and societal change, economic, organisational and technological factors, and the changing role of media audiences. By collecting and juxtaposing these studies, the book provides a new discussion for the old question of how we can safeguard free and responsible media in Europe, a question that seems more urgent than ever. Media Accountability in the Era of Post-Truth Politics is an essential read for students and researchers in journalism, media and communication studies.

The Knowledge Book Steve Fuller, 2014-11-27 The Knowledge Book is a unique interdisciplinary reference work for students and researchers concerned with the nature of knowledge. It is the first work of its kind to be organized on the assumption that whatever else knowledge might be, it is intrinsically social. The book consists of 42 alphabetically arranged entries on key concepts at the intersection of philosophy and sociology, what used to be called sociology of knowledge but is now increasingly called social epistemology. The entries include concepts common to disciplines that in recent years have devoted more of their attention to knowledge: cultural studies, communication studies, information science, education policy studies, and business studies. Special attention is given to concepts from the emerging field of science and technology studies. Each entry presents a short self-contained essay providing an overview of a concept and concludes with suggestions for further reading. All the entries are fully cross-referenced allowing readers to both make connections and follow their own interests An Integrated Approach to Communication Theory and Research Don W. Stacks, Michael B. Salwen, Kristen C. Eichhorn, 2019-03-14 This new edition provides a comprehensive overview of current theory and research written by the top theorists and researchers in each area. It has been updated to address the growing influence of technology changing relationships and several growing integrated approaches to communication and includes seven new chapters on Digital Media Media Effects Privacy Dark Side Applied Communication Relational Communication Instructional Communication Communication and the Law. The book continues to be essential reading for students and faculty who want a thorough overview of contemporary communication theory and research.

Political Reason and Interest Herman H.H. van Erp, 2018-02-05 This title was first published in 2000. Politics cannot be conceived of as just a subsystem of society or as a network of particular interests. The concept of interests and their role within the normative political debate is given a new interpretation by this book which examines how political interest market mechanisms and rational choice theories exist in the light of democratic freedom and social justice. The book builds on different concepts of procedural justice from Schumpeter, Buchanan and Habermas's conceptions of democracy and the role of political compromise and coalition in the idea of consensus as a condition for political legitimation.

Double Reading Jeffrey Thomas Nealon, 1993 Looks beyond the apparent fall of deconstruction and shows that its insights have a continuing role to play in postmodernist critical debates. Outlines a postmodern approach based on Derrida's overlooked notion of double reading: critical analysis that begins within a traditional meaning but is supplemented by an additional reading that undermines the first. Dworkin and His Critics Justine Burley, 2008-04-15 Dworkin and His Critics provides an in-depth analytical discussion of Ronald Dworkin's ethical, legal and political philosophical writings and it includes substantial replies from Dworkin himself. Includes substantial replies by Ronald Dworkin, a comprehensive bibliography of his work and suggestions for further reading. Contributors include Richard Arneson, G. A. Cohen, Frances Kamm, Will Kymlicka, Philippe van Parijs, Eric Rakowski, Joseph Raz and Jeremy Waldron. Makes an important contribution to many ongoing debates over abortion, euthanasia, the rule of law, distributive justice, group rights, political obligation and genetics.

In 1989 most observers believed that China's political reform process had been violently short circuited but few would now dispute that China is in a very important transition Central to this transition has been an extraordinary change in the formal intellectual conception of democracy In this book Yijiang Ding presents a multi dimensional picture of China at the political crossroads Chinese Democracy looks at the significant change in the state society relationship in contemporary China in three interrelated areas intellectual social and cultural Drawing heavily on recent Chinese scholarship Ding shows that the emergent theory on the dualism of state and society is contemporaneous with a new cognitive and cultural appreciation of the people's independence from state authority Is China moving toward liberal democracy Does Western engagement with China contribute economically and politically to this shift These are the questions at the heart of the book Which are especially timely given the recent reconstruction of political regimes worldwide Manifest Rationality Ralph H.

Johnson,2012-11-12 This book works through some of the theoretical issues that have been accumulating in informal logic over the past 20 years At the same time it defines a core position in the theory of argument in which those issues can be further explored The underlying concern that motivates this work is the health of practice of argumentation as an important cultural artifact A further concern is for logic as a discipline Argumentative and dialectical in nature this book presupposes some awareness of the theory of argument in recent history and some familiarity with the positions that have been advanced It will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced undergraduate and graduate students in the disciplines of logic rhetoric linguistics speech communication English composition and psychology Contractual Relations David

Campbell,2022-09-15 Written by one of the leading contributors to the relational theory of contract Contractual Relations authoritatively explains the form of the existing law of contract by relating it to its economic legal and sociological foundations This volume demonstrates that economic exchange and legal contract rest on a moral relationship by which each party legitimately pursues its self interest through recognition of the self interest of the other This essential relationship of mutual recognition is in stark contrast to the pursuit of solipsistic self interest that is central to the classical law of contract Self interest of this sort is not morally defensible nor does it enhance economic welfare It is for these reasons that the classical law is legally incoherent The fundamental inadequacies of the classical law's treatment of agreement consideration and remedy have emerged as the doctrines of the positive law of contract have been progressively developed to give effect to the relationship of mutual recognition The welfarist criticism of the classical law has however failed to develop a workable concept of self interest and so is at odds with what must be retained from the classical law's facilitation of economic exchange and the market economy The relational law of contract restates self interest in a morally economically and legally attractive manner as the foundation of the social market economy of liberal socialism Contractual Relations is a fundamental critique of the classical law of contract and the welfarist response to the classical law and a major statement of the relational theory of contract This is an essential work for academics advanced students and others wishing to understand the fundamental law economics and sociology of contract and exchange Literary Criticism C.
