Lightning Suzanne Harper,1997 Discusses ancient legends about lightning as well as what scientists have learned about this phenomenon in recent years and includes information about thundercloud and lightning formation types of lightning and safety tips Ball Lightning Mark Stenhoff,2005-12-16 Down comes a deluge of sonorous hail Or prone descending rain Wide rent the clouds Pour a whole flood and yet its flame unquenched Th unconquerable lightning struggles through Ragged and fierce or in red whirling balls And fires the mountains with redoubled rage Black from the stroke above the smould ring pine Stands a sad shattered trunk and stretched below A lifeless group the blasted cattle lie James Thompson The Seasons 1727 have been investigating ball lightning for more than two decades I published a ball lightning report in Nature in 1976 that received worldwide publicity and I consequently many people wrote to me with accounts of their own experiences Within a very short time I had accumulated about 200 firsthand accounts and the file has continued to grow steadily since then Several things impressed me Few of those who wrote to me had any detailed foreknowledge of ball lightning at the time of their observation Nonetheless once reports of other phenomena such as St Elmo s fire had been eliminated the remaining descriptions were remarkably consistent Furthermore nearly all who contacted me were keen to have an explanation of what they had seen and seemed entirely sincere 1001 Questions Answered About Barbara Tufty,2012-08-03 This highly

Meteorology Charles Fitzhugh Talman,2014-10-31 Meteorology is the science of the atmosphere and its phenomena including weather Nowadays when we speak of a meteor we generally mean a shooting star but formerly this term was applied and it still often is in technical literature to a great variety of phenomena and appearances in the atmosphere including clouds rain snow rainbows and so forth That is how the science of the atmosphere came to have its present name Meteorology is not a branch of astronomy These two sciences are as different from each other as zoology is from botany They are both founded on physics and they overlap each other to some extent just as every science does certain others but if you want information about the atmosphere weather and climate an astronomical observatory is not the place to seek it while if you wish to make inquiries about comets sun spots eclipses standard time or the date on which Easter fell in the year 1666 do not apply to the Weather Bureau In the city of Washington the Government maintains an astronomical and timekeeping institution known as the Naval Observatory and it maintains in the same city the central office of the United States Weather Bureau The two establishments are a mile apart in space and nearly a whole library apart in the subjects with which they are concerned The fact that their functions are persistently confounded by the public indicates the necessity of writing this preface to a popular book on meteorology
