Lightyears Poems 1973-1976:

Collected Poems, 1930-1973 May Sarton, 2014-12-23 A splendidly edited anthology of the greatest poems of one of America's finest writers. From the very beginning of May Sarton's career in her fiction, memoir, and poetry, her work has been touched by a deep sense of order. The careful structure of her work provides an elegant backdrop against which her emotions are free to unfold, rising up through the cracks and fissures of her poems' architecture only to pass through and disappear like a summer thunderstorm. The author's search for reason, love of nature, and diverse passions are on full display in this masterful collection illustrating why May Sarton is considered one of the twentieth century's finest literary minds.

Lightyears Beth Brown, 1982 Poetry by American Women 1975-1989 Joan Reardon, 1990-12 Lists the volumes of some 1,565 women who have published poetry in America since the base volume came out in 1979. Those who have qualified for inclusion have published at least one volume during the years 1975-1989, excluding audio-visual works, mixed genre, foreign language editions, broadsides, and a Dudley Randall, Broadside Press, and the Black Arts Movement in Detroit, 1960-1995 Julius E. Thompson, 2005-02-15 In 1965 Dudley F. Randall founded the Broadside Press, a company devoted to publishing, distributing, and promoting the works of black poets and writers. In so doing, he became a major player in the civil rights movement. Hundreds of black writers were given an outlet for their work and for their calls for equality and black identity. Though Broadside was established on a minimal budget, Randall's unique skills made the press successful. He was trained as a librarian and had spent decades studying and writing poetry; most importantly, Randall was totally committed to the advancement of black literature. The famous and relatively unknown sought out Broadside, including such writers as Gwendolyn Brooks, Margaret Walker, Mae Jackson, Lance Jeffers, Etheridge Knight, Sonia Sanchez, Nikki Giovanni, Audre Lorde, and Sterling D. Plumpp. His story is one of battling to promote black identity and equality through literature and thus lifting the cultural lives of all Americans. Original Light Albert Goldbarth, 1983 Contemporary American Poetry Lloyd M. Davis, 1985 Lists over 5,200 titles of books published by American poets between 1973 and 1983. The Pennsylvania Writers Collection, 1986 International Who's Who in Poetry 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 Provides up-to-date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets. Adam of Ifé Naomi Cornelia Long Madgett, 1992 Collection of poetry from Lotus Press. This ground-breaking anthology of poetry contains an informative foreword by the editor Naomi Long Madgett which traces the historical influences that have cast so many contemporary African American men in a negative light. The book is divided into eight sections: Fathers, Brothers, Sons and Other Youth, Lovers, Street Scene, Beacons, Music Makers, In Light and Shadow, and In This Sad Place. Each of these section titles is preceded by a group of four portraits drawn by the late Carl Owens. This is an extremely important book that educates its readers, portraying African American men in many positive ways and denying the stereotypical images that too often prevail. The message is not overshadowed by the fine literary quality of the poems by 55 African American women. The title refers to Ife, a city in Nigeria which, according to legend was the birthplace of mankind Wild Blessings Hilary Holladay, 2012-05-16 This book offers the first full length study of Lucille Clifton's poetry drawing on a broad knowledge of the American poetic tradition and African American poetry In addition to a new preface written after Clifton's death in 2010 this updated edition includes an epilogue that discusses the poetry she published after 2004 Page 4 of cover Light Years James Alinder, 1987 This book was originally published prior to 1923 and represents a reproduction of an important historical work maintaining the same format as the original work While some publishers have opted to apply OCR optical character recognition technology to the process we believe this leads to sub optimal results frequent typographical errors strange characters and confusing formatting and does not adequately preserve the historical character of the original artifact We believe this work is culturally important in its original archival form While we strive to adequately clean and digitally enhance the original work there are occasionally instances where imperfections such as blurred or missing pages poor pictures or errant marks may have been introduced due to either the quality of the original work or the scanning process itself Despite these occasional imperfections we have brought it back into print as part of our ongoing global book preservation commitment providing customers with access to the best possible historical reprints We appreciate your understanding of these occasional imperfections and sincerely hope you enjoy seeing the book in a format as close as possible to that intended by the original publisher Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, L.W. The Lost Planets John Wenz, 2019-10-08 A fascinating account of the pioneering astronomer who claimed erroneously to have discovered a planet outside the solar system There are innumerable planets revolving around innumerable stars across our galaxy Between 2009 and 2018 NASA's Kepler space telescope discovered thousands of them But exoplanets planets outside the solar system appeared in science fiction before they appeared in telescopes Astronomers in the early decades of the twentieth century spent entire careers searching for planets in other stellar systems In The Lost Planets John Wenz offers an account of the pioneering astronomer Peter van de Kamp who was one of the first to claim discovery of exoplanets Van de Kamp working at Swarthmore College s observatory announced in 1963 that he had identified a planet around Barnard s Star the second closest star system to the Sun He cited the deviations in Barnard s star s path wobbles that suggested a large object was lurching around the star Van de Kamp became something of a celebrity appearing on a television show with Mr Wizard Don Henry but subsequent research did not support his claims Wenz describes van de Kamp s stubborn refusal to accept that he was wrong discusses the evidence found by other researchers and explains recent advances in exoplanet detection including transit radial velocity direct imaging and microlensing Van de Kamp retired from Swarthmore in 1972 and died in 1995 at 93 In 2009 Swarthmore named its new observatory the Peter van de Kamp Observatory In the 1990s astronomers discovered and confirmed the first planet outside our solar system In 2018 an exoplanet was detected around Barnard s Star not however the one van de Kamp thought he had discovered in 1963 Light and Shadows Thomas W.
