Marc Blitzstein Howard Pollack, 2012-10-01 A composer and lyricist of enormous innovation and influence Marc Blitzstein remains one of the most versatile and fascinating figures in the history of American music his creative output running the gamut from films scores and Broadway operas to art songs and chamber pieces A prominent leftist and social maverick Blitzstein constantly pushed the boundaries of convention in mid century America in both his work and his life Award winning music historian Howard Pollack's new biography covers Blitzstein's life in full from his childhood in Philadelphia to his violent death in Martinique at age 58 The author describes how this student of contemporary luminaries Nadia Boulanger and Arnold Schoenberg became swept up in the stormy political atmosphere of the 1920s and 1930s and throughout his career walked the fine line between his formal training and his populist principles. Indeed, Blitzstein developed a unique sound that drew on everything contemporary from the high modernism of Stravinsky and Hindemith to jazz and Broadway show tunes. Pollack captures the astonishing breadth of Blitzstein's work from provocative operas like The Cradle Will Rock (No for an Answer and Regina) to the wartime Airborne Symphony composed during his years in service to lesser-known ballets, film scores, and stage works. A courageous artist, Blitzstein translated Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill's The Threepenny Opera during the heyday of McCarthyism and the red scare and turned it into an off-Broadway sensation; its Mack the Knife becoming one of the era's biggest hits. Beautifully written, drawing on new interviews with friends and family of the composer and making extensive use of new archival and secondary sources, Marc Blitzstein presents the most complete biography of this important American artist. Catalog of Copyright Entries. Copyright Office, 1971 American Library Resources: 1961-1970 Robert Bingham Downs, 1972 Hammett Unwritten Owen Fitzstephen, 2013-02-12 A worthless bird statuette, the focus of Dashiell Hammett's The Maltese Falcon. And much more. As Dashiell Hammett closes his final case as a private eye, the details of which will later inspire his most famous book, he acquires at a police auction the bogus object of that case: an obsidian falcon statuette. He casually sets the memento on his desk, where for a decade it bears witness to his literary rise. Until he gives it away. Now suffering writer's block, the famous author begins to wonder about rumors of the falcon's metaphysical qualities, which link it to a powerful wish-fulfilling black stone cited in legends from around the world. He can't deny that when he possessed the statuette, he wrote one acclaimed book after another, and that without it, his fortunes have changed. As his block stretches from months to years, he becomes entangled again with the scam artists from the old case, each still fascinated by the real black bird and its alleged talismanic power. A dangerous maze of events takes Hammett from 1930s San Francisco to the glamorous Hollywood of the 1940s, a federal penitentiary at the time of the McCarthy hearings, and finally to a fateful meeting on New Year's Eve 1959 at a Long Island estate. There, the dying Hammett confronts a woman from his past who proves to be his most formidable rival. And his last hope. From the Trade Paperback edition. The Broadcast 41 Carol A. Stabile, 2018-10-16 How forty-one women, including Dorothy Parker, Gypsy Rose Lee, and Lena Horne, were forced out of American television and radio in the 1950s. Red Scare. At the dawn of the Cold War era, forty-one women working in American radio and television were placed on a media blacklist and forced from their industry. The ostensible reason: so-called Communist influence. But in truth, these women, among them Dorothy Parker, Lena Horne, and Gypsy Rose Lee, were by nature of their diversity and ambition a threat to the traditional portrayal of the American family on the airwaves. This book from Goldsmiths Press describes what American radio and television lost when these women were blacklisted, documenting their aspirations and achievements. Through original archival research and access to FBI blacklist documents, The Broadcast 41 details the blacklisted women's attempts in the 1930s and 1940s to depict America as diverse, complicated, and inclusive. The book tells a story about what happens when non-male non white perspectives are excluded from media industries and it imagines what the new medium of television might have looked like had dissenting viewpoints not been eliminated at such a formative moment The all white male dominated Leave it to Beaver America about which conservative politicians wax nostalgic existed largely because of the forcible silencing of these forty one women and others like them For anyone concerned with the ways in which our cultural narrative is constructed this book offers an urgent reminder of the myths we perpetuate when a select few dominate the airwaves
