Bulletin Stanley Kunitz, Marie Duvernoy Loizeaux, 1946 The New (Ethno)musicologies Henry Stobart, 2008-05-05 Over the past twenty years a range of radical developments has revolutionized musicology leading certain practitioners to describe their discipline as New What has happened to ethnomusicology during this period Have its theories methodologies and values remain rooted in the 1970s and 1980s or have they also transformed What directions might or should it take in the new millennium The New Ethno musicologies seeks to answer these questions by addressing and critically examining key issues in contemporary ethnomusicology Set in two parts the volume explores ethnomusicology's shifting relationship to other disciplines and to its own mythic histories and plots a range of potential developments for its future It attempts to address how ethnomusicology might be viewed by those working both inside and outside the discipline and what its broader contribution and relevance might be within and beyond the academy Henry Stobart has collected essays from key figures in ethnomusicology and musicology including Caroline Bithell Martin Clayton Fabian Holt Jim Samson and Abigail Wood as well as Europea series editors Martin Stokes and Philip V Bohlman The engaging result presents a range of perspectives reflecting on disciplinary change methodological developments and the broader sphere of music scholarship in a fresh and unique way and will be a key source for students and scholars The World-System as Unit of Analysis Roberto Patricio Korzeniewicz, 2017-09-22 World system analyses have recast the study of between and within nation country inequality as constituent aspects of a single field of inquiry the study of inequality and social stratification as processes that always have been global in their very essence World system analyses maintain that global social stratification pivots around institutional arrangements that render distributional outcomes as simultaneously national gendered racialized and global processes This book takes stock of some of the enduring theoretical and empirical contributions of a world system perspective and identifies promising directions for future inquiry and discussion Some chapters reassess the scope and methodologies of world system analysis around several key problems e g the spatial and temporal boundaries of global commodity chains the construction and challenge of various dimensions of social inequality systemic and antisystemic social movements Others take stock of areas in which world systems are promoting methodological innovation and or generating useful global data and identify questions that demand additional methodological and empirical attention for future research In different ways this book help us to critically reconsider some of the enduring legacies within a world system perspective such as Karl Polanyi's concept of the double movement or the distinction drawn by Giovanni Arrighi or Immanuel Wallerstein between systemic and antisystemic movements As argued by many of the authors in this book a world historical approach calls for greater sensitivity to the manifold ways in which conceptual boundaries change over time and space Taking seriously the issue of unit of analysis this book explores critically productive ways for better understanding global patterns of continuity and change form of capitalism technological capitalism not emerged binding science to innovation harmony between faith and capitalism would have prevailed However scientific advances deepen on empirical evidence that is buttressed by critical debate which is anathema to powerful elites in countries saturated with religious nationalism Consequently easy cooperation between capitalism and religion is blocked in these lands and so their potential for economic progress withers Thus many of these states trapped in the invidious stranglehold of religion are condemned to sustained poverty African Political Thought G. Martin, 2012-12-23 Focusing on individual political thinkers and beginning with indigenous African political thought the book successively examines African nationalism African socialism populism and Marxism Africanism and pan Africanism concluding with contemporary perspectives on democracy development and the African state
