Faith In Art World Of Display S:

Displays of Power Steven C. Dubin, 1999 An examination of some of the USA's most controversial museum exhibitions of the 1990s In its analysis of these episodes of America struggling to redefine itself in the late 20th century the book draws upon interviews with museum administrators community activists curators and scholars American Pragmatism and Communication Research David K. Perry, 2001 This volume examines the past present and potential relationships between pragmatism and communication research For scholars and students in communication study Who Runs the Artworld Brad Buckley, John Conomos, 2017-09-01 Who Runs the Artworld Money Power and Ethics examines the economics and mythologies of today's global artworld It unmask the complex web of relationships that now exist among high profile curators collectors museum trustees and corporate sponsors and the historic and ongoing complicity between the art and money markets The book examines alternative models being deployed by curators and artists influenced by the 2008 global financial crisis and the international socio political Occupy movement with a particular focus on a renewed activism by artists This activism is coupled with an institutional and social critique led by groups such as Liberate Tate the Precarious Workers Brigade and Strike Debt Who Runs the Artworld Money Power and Ethics brings together a diverse range of thinkers who draw on the disciplines of art theory social sciences and cultural economics and curatorship and the lived experience of artists The contributors to this book are in their respective contexts working at the forefront of these compelling issues

The Life, Art and Religious Iconography of David Wright Peter French, 2016-01-14 This book showcases the contribution Australian contemporary glass artist David Wright has made to Australian art and international glassmaking From 1970 until 2014 David Wright produced hundreds of high quality art glass windows for Australian public private and sacred spaces including significant national churches chapels and synagogues yet little scholarly research on the artist and his place in Australian art history exists Including the first catalogue raisonné ever produced on the artist combined with a close examination of his opus his influences manufacturing methods and personal history this book demonstrates for the first time the extraordinary contribution David Wright made to Australian art and contemporary glassmaking Museums, Equality and Social Justice Richard Sandell, Eithne Nightingale, 2013-05-20 The last two decades have seen concerns for equality diversity social justice and human rights move from the margins of museum thinking and practice to the core The arguments both moral and pragmatic for engaging diverse audiences creating the conditions for more equitable access to museum resources and opening up opportunities for participation now enjoy considerable consensus in many parts of the world A growing number of institutions are concerned to construct new narratives that represent a plurality of lived experiences histories and identities which aim to nurture support for more progressive ethically informed ways of seeing and to actively inform contemporary public debates on often contested rights related issues At the same time it would be misleading to suggest an even and uncontested transition from the museum as an organisation that has been widely understood to marginalise exclude and oppress to one which is wholly inclusive Moreover there are signs that momentum towards making museums more inclusive and equitable is slowing down or in some contexts reversing Museums Equality and Social Justice aims to reflect on and crucially to inform debates in museum research policy and practice at this critical time It brings together new research from academics and practitioners and insights from artists activists and commentators to explore the ways in which museums galleries and heritage organisations are engaging with the fast changing equalities terrain and the shifting politics of identity at global national and local levels and to investigate their potential to contribute to more equitable fair and just societies
