

Tae a Thistle

Tae Scots yer mair than jist a flower
Yer a symbol o' great strength an' power
Wrapped in shades o' purple an' green
Yer the bonniest flower this land has seen

Some folk say that yer jist a weed
But we Scots ken yer a mighty breed
Yer delicate yet strong an' bold
An' worth mair tae us than silver or gold

Aye yer loved by Scottish heart's
An' ye always wur right fae the start
Wi' yer purple heeds and yer spiny stems
Yer the richest o' all oor Scottish gems

The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland Sebastiaan Verweij, 2016-03-24

This study presents a history of the literary culture of early modern Scotland 1560 1625 based on extensive study of the literary manuscript It argues for the importance of three key places of production of such manuscripts the royal court burghs and towns and regional houses stately homes but also minor lairdly and non aristocratic households This attention to place facilitates a discussion of respectively courtly urban or civic and regional literary cultures Sebastiaan Verweij's methodology stems from bibliographical scholarship and the study of the History of the Book and more specifically from a school of manuscript research that has invigorated early modern English literary criticism over the last few decades The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland will also intersect with a programme of reassessment of early modern Scottish culture that is currently underway in Scottish studies Traditional narratives of literary history have often regarded the Reformation of 1560 as heralding a terminal cultural decline and the Union of Crowns of 1603 with the departure of king and court was thought to have brought the briefest of renaissances in the 1580s and 1590s to an early end This book purposefully straddles the Union in order to make possible the rediscovery of Scotland's refined and sophisticated renaissance culture
