been adverse Some people have objected to a frivolity of tone but as the tone is not in my opinion at all frivolous this objection did not impress me and had no weightier reproach been put forward I might almost have been persuaded that the volume was flawless A more serious stricture has however been offered not in the press but by sundry obviously sincere correspondents and I must deal with it A reference to page 43 will show that I anticipated and feared this disapprobation The sentence against which protests have been made is as follows In the majority of instances he the typical man does not precisely feel a passion for his business at best he does not dislike it He begins his business functions with some reluctance as late as he can and he ends them with joy as early as he can And his engines while he is engaged in his business are seldom at their full h p We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience Mediterranean Scenes: Rome--Greece--Constantinople Arnold Bennett,1928
