Burr, Frank H. Leavenworth, John J. Oliver, 1913 How Should We Live? John Kekes, 2014-09-08 A lucid careful tenacious and always accessible inquiry into practical morality for everyday life by the author of The Roots of Evil Notre Dame Philosophical Reviews For centuries moral philosophers have sought a single overriding ideal that should guide everyone always everywhere And after centuries of debate we're no closer to arriving at one In How Should We Live philosopher John Kekes offers a refreshing alternative eschewing absolute ideals and considering our lives as they really are day by day subject to countless vicissitudes and unforeseen obstacles Kekes argues that ideal theories are abstractions from the realities of everyday life The well known arenas where absolute ideals conflict such as abortion euthanasia plea bargaining privacy and other hotly debated topics should not be the primary concerns of moral thinking Instead Kekes focuses on quotidian dilemmas such as how we should use our limited time energy or money how we balance short and long term satisfactions how we deal with conflicting loyalties how we control our emotions how we deal with people we dislike and so on Along the way Kekes engages some of our most important theorists including Donald Davidson Thomas Nagel Christine Korsgaard Harry Frankfurt Charles Taylor Alasdair MacIntyre and Bernard Williams to demonstrate that no single ideal whether autonomy love duty happiness or truthfulness trumps any other Instead How Should We Live offers a way of balancing them using a practical and pluralistic approach How to Live Forever Marc Freedman, 2018-11-20 Using this helpful book learn how the secret to happiness and longevity can be found through mentoring the next generation In How to Live Forever Encore.org founder and CEO Marc Freedman tells the story of his thirty year quest to answer some of contemporary life's most urgent questions With so many living so much longer what is the meaning of the increasing years beyond 50 How can a society with more older people than younger ones thrive How do we find happiness when we know life is long and time is short In a poignant book that defies categorization Freedman finds insights by exploring purpose and generativity digging into the drive for longevity and the perils of age segregation and talking to social innovators across the globe bringing the generations together for mutual benefit He finds wisdom in stories from young and old featuring ordinary people and icons like jazz great Clark Terry and basketball legend Kareem Abdul Jabbar But the answers also come from stories of Freedman's own mentors a sawmill worker turned surrogate grandparent a university administrator who served as Einstein's driver a cabinet secretary who won the Presidential Medal of Freedom and the gym teacher who was Freedman's father How to Live Forever is a deeply personal call to find fulfillment and happiness in our longer lives by connecting with the next generation and forging a legacy of love that lives beyond us

How Are We to Live? Peter Singer, 2010-03-19 Many people have an uneasy feeling that they may be missing out on something basic that would give their lives a significance it currently lacks But how should we live What is there to stop us behaving selfishly In this account which makes reference to a wide variety of sources and everyday issues Peter Singer suggests that the conventional pursuit of self interest is individually and collectively self defeating Taking into consideration the beliefs of Jesus Kant Rousseau and Adam Smith amongst others he looks at a number of different cultures including America Japan and the Aborigines to assess whether or not selfishness is in our genes and how we may find greater satisfaction in an ethical lifestyle Harper's Magazine, 1926 Scott Nearing John A.
