Fundraising Mistakes that Bedevil All Boards (and Staff Too) Kay Sprinkel Grace, 2004 Fundraising mistakes are a thing of the past Or rather there's no excuse now for making any serious mistake And that goes for board members staff novice or veteran If you blunder from this day forward it's simply evidence you haven't read Kay Sprinkel Grace's new book Fundraising Mistakes that Bedevil All Boards in which she exposes all of the errors Well not every conceivable one but at least the top ones that thwart us time and again This is an ingenious book and it's a wonder it wasn't written years ago Sure if you've attended a fundraising seminar or read a Jerry Panas book or perused one of the field's journals you're familiar with a dozen or so mistakes to avoid But the appeal of this book and it will become a classic is that in one place it gathers and discusses ALL of the biggest errors Some like the following will be second nature if you've been in the field for long o Tax deductibility is a powerful incentive It isn't as you know o People will give just because yours is a good cause They won't o

Wealth is mostly what determines a person's willingness to give. Not so. Other factors are equally important. Other mistakes aren't as apparent. For example, you need a powerful board to have a successful campaign. Truth be told, many are convinced that without a powerful board they can't succeed. Grace shows otherwise. Then too, there are more nuanced mistakes. We can't raise big money, we don't know any rich people. Don't believe it. You can raise substantial dollars. Most people don't like to give. To the contrary, many find joy in it. Without a track record in annual giving, you can't have a successful capital campaign. In fact, you can, but your tactics will be different. And that touches on only seven of the 40 mistakes Grace explores and explodes. Just as anyone involved in journalism should own a copy of Strunk and White's The Elements of Style, anyone involved in fundraising—board member, staff, volunteer—should have Fundraising Mistakes that Bedevil All Boards by their side. When Grace makes it so easy to avoid costly errors, it is imprudent to risk repeating them. Five Good Ideas Alan Broadbent, Ratna Omidvar, 2011-11-29. Nonprofits are big business. According to a recent Johns Hopkins report, third sector institutions in Belgium, the Czech Republic, Japan, the U.S., and Canada have been growing at an average rate that is twice the growth rate of their GDPs. Canada is home to the second largest non-profit workforce in the world, employing 2 million paid staff and contributing 112 billion to our economy each year. We are also recognized worldwide as an important generator of ideas and agent of social change. Maytree, a Canadian foundation established in 1982, has long been immersed in the dialogue surrounding the growth of the non-profit sector. From its extensive network of non-profit, government, and corporate sector leaders, Alan Broadbent and Ratna Omidvar have amassed a collection of practical ideas for running nonprofits. As the sector expands to embrace new issues, there is increased pressure for accountability, relevancy, and efficiency. Practitioners are expected to be experts in a variety of fields. Five Good Ideas offers information, strategies for action, and management solutions that are easy to implement and will improve how organizations function. It is a testament to what can happen when people from a variety of backgrounds get together to share their skills and knowledge. Fundraising For Dummies John Mutz, Katherine Murray, 2010-02-04. The fun and easy way to raise money for your cause. Fundraising For Dummies 3rd Edition shows you how to take advantage of the latest strategies and resources available for raising money through everything from special events to online donations in both good and bad economic times. The authors teach you how to market your organization using the most up-to-date tools and technologies available through the Internet. This expanded edition also offers information about philanthropy and tax law. Contains new tips and techniques for creating materials that bring in contributions and support for the more than 1.4 million charitable and nonprofit organizations in the United States. Explains how to use social media to keep donors and volunteers engaged through Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, and Web technologies. Covers grassroots online fundraising and how to host big events on a shoestring budget. You'll also find tips on negotiating without alienating donors and developing long-term organizational goals. All these strategies are what makes this resource indispensable. 7 Essential Steps to Raising Money by Mail Sandra Sims, Sandy Rees, Key Resources on

Institutional Advancement A. Westley Rowland,1986 Effective Fund-Raising Management Kathleen S. Kelly,2012-12-06 In a ground breaking departure from existing works almost all of which are how to manuals based on anecdotal evidence this is the first academic textbook on fund raising By integrating practical knowledge with social science theory and research it presents a comprehensive approach to the function from its legal and ethical principles to the managerial process by which gifts are raised Territory previously uncharted in the literature is explored such as the historical and organizational contexts of contemporary practice Explanations of programs techniques and publics introduce a new system for understanding fund raising s major concepts Unlike efforts in established fields most of the material represents original scholarship undertaken to produce a first time text The book s main purpose is to teach students about fund raising a high demand high paying occupation that will continue to expand into the 21st century as the need for trained practitioners exceeds the supply During the last decade fund raising education moved into the formal classroom and away from an apprenticeship tradition of senior practitioners mentoring newcomers Yet until now there has not been a textbook to support this evolving professionalism Faculty have been reluctant to define fund raising as an academic subject in the absence of a theory based teaching resource and courses usually have been assigned to part time instructors hired from the practice This textbook addresses the void It is designed for graduate and upper level undergraduate courses dealing with fund raising as a primary or secondary subject Among its features each chapter points out research gaps and opportunities such as problems and theories for master s theses and doctoral dissertations and ends with a list of suggested readings The text is appropriate for the diverse academic areas in which fund raising nonprofit management and philanthropy are taught including public administration management arts and humanities education social work economics and sociology Because of its public relations orientation it is particularly suited for courses offered in that discipline Additional audiences are practitioners enrolled in professional development programs CEOs trustees and others interested in self study and scholars who need serious literature on the subject FHWA News ,2009 The Special Events Advisor David Sorin,2004-05-10 There s no dearth of books on the logistics of event planning but not much has been published to address the legal and business issues that concern the thousands of companies that make up this industry This book covers all the legal and business issues that special events professionals need to understand from contractual considerations to little known governmental regulations with heavy ramifications Ignorance of the law can prove very costly in an industry in which expectations must be met the first time and in our ever more litigious society the need for this niche title is clear Strategic Marketing for Nonprofit Organizations Philip Kotler,O. C. Ferrell,Charles W. Lamb,1987 Abstract This text applies the basic principles and practices of marketing to a nonprofit environment and introduces the reader to basic concepts and tools for developing and implementing and managing a marketing effort Part One focuses on developing a philosophy for marketing and is keyed primarily on the notion of developing a customer orientation Part Two deals primarily with strategic planning and organization and covers the topical areas of the strategic marketing planning process marketing research market measurement and forecasting marketing planning organization leveraging limited resources and fund raising Part Three discusses a wide array of conceptual tools for determining an acceptable marketing mix In Part Three the authors explain the notion of a marketing mix describes differences in marketing programs for products services and desirable social behaviors discusses management of the marketing effort as well as basic concepts in the communication process and their relationship to marketing Part Four deals exclusively with the notion of evaluation and control in the marketing process International Encyclopedia of
