Husserl Intentionality And Cognitive Science:

Husserl, Intentionality, and Cognitive Science Hubert L. Dreyfus, Harrison Hall, 1982-01 This new anthology will serve as an ideal introduction to phenomenology for analytic philosophers both as a text and as the single most useful source book on Husserl for cognitive scientists Husserl - intentionality and cognitive science Hubert L. Dreyfus, 1987

Husserl Intentionality and Cognitive Science/ Hubert L. Dreyfus, Ed. in Collaboration with Harrison Hall Hubert L. Dreyfus, 1987 The Phenomenological Mind Shaun Gallagher, Dan Zahavi, 2013-01-11 The Phenomenological Mind is the first book to properly introduce fundamental questions about the mind from the perspective of phenomenology Key questions and topics covered include what is phenomenology naturalizing phenomenology and the cognitive sciences phenomenology and consciousness consciousness and self consciousness time and consciousness intentionality the embodied mind action knowledge of other minds situated and extended minds phenomenology and personal identity This second edition includes a new preface and revised and improved chapters Also included are helpful features such as chapter summaries guides to further reading and a glossary making The Phenomenological Mind an ideal introduction to key concepts in phenomenology cognitive science and philosophy of mind Husserl's Ethics and Practical Intentionality Susi Ferrarello, 2015-12-17 Husserl's 20th century phenomenological project remains the cornerstone of modern European philosophy The place of ethics is of importance to the ongoing legacy and study of phenomenology itself Husserl's Ethics and Practical Intentionality constitutes one of the major new interventions in this burgeoning field of Husserl scholarship and offers an unrivaled perspective on the question of ethics in Husserl's philosophy through a focus on volumes not yet translated into English This book offers a refreshing perspective on stagnating ethical debates that pivot around conceptions of relativism and universalism shedding light on a phenomenological ethics beyond the common dichotomy The Phenomenological Mind Shaun Gallagher, Dan Zahavi, 2007-11-12 The Phenomenological Mind is the first book to properly introduce fundamental questions about the mind from the perspective of phenomenology Key questions and topics covered include What is phenomenology naturalizing phenomenology and the empirical cognitive sciences phenomenology and consciousness consciousness and self consciousness including perception and action time and consciousness including William James intentionality the embodied mind action knowledge of other minds situated and extended minds phenomenology and personal identity Interesting and important examples are used throughout including phantom limb syndrome blindsight and self disorders in schizophrenia making The Phenomenological Mind an ideal introduction to key concepts in phenomenology cognitive science and philosophy of mind Competing Interpretations of Husserl's Noema Peter M. Chukwu, 2009 Edmund Husserl introduces the term noema in Ideas I in order to explicate his theory of intentionality Given the ambiguities in Husserl's own usage of the noema it is no surprise that the term is the subject of conflicting interpretations by scholars This book undertakes a critical assessment of two such interpretations the gestalt psychological interpretation of Aron Gurwitsch and the linguistic philosophical interpretation of the Frege scholars David Woodruff Smith and Ronald McIntyre The author argues that the ambiguities in Ideas I can only be resolved by appeal to Husserl's other works especially his newly published texts and research manuscripts Husserlian Intentionality and Non-Foundational Realism J.J. Drummond, 2012-12-06 The rift which has long divided the philosophical world into opposed schools the Continental school owing its origins to the phenomenology of Husserl and the analytic school derived from Frege is finally closing But this closure is occurring in ways both different and in certain respects at odds with one another On the one hand scholars are seeking to rediscover the concerns and positions common to both schools positions from which we can continue fruitfully to address important philosophical issues On the other hand successors to both traditions have developed criticisms of basic assumptions shared by the two schools They have suggested that we must move not merely beyond the conflict between these two modern schools but beyond the kind of philosophy represented in the unity of the two schools and thereby move towards a new postmodern philosophical style On the one hand then and for example Husserl scholarship has in recent years witnessed the development of an interpretation of Husserl which more closely aligns his phenomenology with the philosophical concerns of the analytic tradition In certain respects this should come as no surprise and is long overdue It is true after all that the early Husserl occupied himself with many of the same philosophical issues as did Frege and the earliest thinkers of the analytic tradition Examples include the concept of number the nature of mathematical analysis meaning and reference truth formalization and the relationship between logic and mathematics Husserl's Phenomenology Dan Zahavi, 2003 Drawing upon both Husserl's published works and posthumous material Husserl's Phenomenology incorporates the results of the most recent Husserl research It can consequently serve as a concise and updated introduction to his thinking Comparing Husserl's Phenomenology and Chinese Yogacara in a Multicultural World Jingjing Li, 2022-05-05 How is constructive cultural exchange possible when traditions hold such contradictory views Jingjing Li brings Edmund Husserl's phenomenology and Chinese Yogacara Buddhism into dialogue to explore the concept of essence While phenomenology and Yogacara Buddhism are both known for their investigations of consciousness there exists a core tension between them phenomenology affirms the existence of essence whereas Yogacara Buddhism argues that everything is empty of essence svabhava Answering this question and positioning both philosophical traditions in their respective intellectual and linguistic contexts Li argues that what Husserl means by essence differs from what Chinese Yogacarins mean by svabhava We see how Husserl problematizes the substantialist understanding of essence in European philosophy Detailing the process of finding a middle ground between the two traditions Li's rich study demonstrates how both can thrive together in order to overcome Orientalism She reveals that Chinese Yogacara has developed a distinct account of self transformation ethics and social ontology that renders it much more than simply a Buddhist version of Husserlian phenomenology Perception and Knowledge Walter Hopp, 2011-04-07 This book offers a provocative clear and rigorously argued account of the nature of perception and its role in the production of knowledge Walter Hopp argues that perceptual experiences do not have conceptual content and that what makes them play a distinctive epistemic role is not the features which they share with beliefs but something that in fact sets them radically apart He explains that the reason giving relation between experiences and beliefs is what Edmund Husserl called fulfilment in which we find something to be as we think it to be His book covers a wide range of central topics in contemporary philosophy of mind epistemology and traditional phenomenology It is essential reading for contemporary analytic philosophers of mind and phenomenologists alike

Husserl's Phenomenology of Intersubjectivity Frode Kjosavik, Christian Beyer, Christel Fricke, 2018-12-07 This collection examines the instrumental role of intersubjectivity in Husserl's philosophy and explores the potential for developing novel ways of addressing and resolving contemporary philosophical issues on that basis This is the first time Iso Kern offers an extensive overview of this rich field of inquiry for an English speaking audience Guided by his overview the remaining articles present new approaches to a range of topics and problems that go to the heart of its core theme of intersubjectivity and methodology Specific topics covered include intersubjectivity and empathy intersubjectivity in meaning and communication intersubjectivity pertaining to collective forms of intentionality and extended forms of embodiment intersubjectivity as constitutive of normality and finally the central role of intersubjectivity in the sciences The authors' perspectives are strongly influenced by Husserl's own methodological concerns and problem awareness and are formed with a view to applicability in current debates be it within general epistemology analytic philosophy of language philosophy of mind meta ethics or philosophy of science With contributions written by leading Husserl scholars from across the Analytic and Continental traditions Husserl's Phenomenology of Intersubjectivity is a clear and accessible resource for scholars and advanced students interested in Husserl's phenomenology and the relevance of intersubjectivity to philosophy sociology and psychology

Technology and Place Steven A. Moore, 2011-01-20 Developing sustainable architectural and agricultural technologies was the intent behind Blueprint Farm an experimental agricultural project designed to benefit farm workers displaced by the industrialization of agriculture in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas Yet despite its promise the very institutions that created Blueprint Farm terminated the project after just four years 1987-1991 In this book Steven Moore demonstrates how the various stakeholders competing definitions of sustainability technology and place ultimately doomed Blueprint Farm He reconstructs the conflicting interests and goals of the founders including Jim Hightower and the Texas Department of Agriculture Laredo Junior College and the Center for Maximum Potential Building Systems and shows how ironically they unwittingly suppressed the self-determination of the very farm workers the project sought to benefit From the instructive failure of Blueprint Farm Moore extracts eight principles for a regenerative architecture which he calls his nonmodern manifesto

Introduction to Phenomenology Robert Sokolowski, 2000 Introductory volume presenting the major philosophical doctrines of phenomenology

Continental Anti-Realism Richard Sebold, 2014-11-03 There has been a resurgence of interest in the problem of realism the idea that the world exists in the way it does independently of the mind within contemporary Continental philosophy Many if not most of those writing on the topic demonstrates attitudes that range from mild skepticism to outright hostility Richard Sebold argues that the problem with this is that realism is correct and that the question should then become what happens to Continental philosophy if it is committed to the denial of a true doctrine Sebold outlines the reasons why realism is superior to anti realism and shows how Continental philosophical arguments against realism fail Focusing on the work of four important philosophers Kant Hegel Nietzsche and Husserl all of who have had a profound influence on more recent thinkers he provides alternative ways of interpreting their apparently anti realist sentiments and demonstrates that the insights of these Continental philosophers are nevertheless valuable despite their problematic metaphysical beliefs

Understanding the Artificial: On the Future Shape of Artificial Intelligence Massimo Negrotti, 2012-12-06 In recent years a vast literature has been produced on the feasibility of Artificial Intelligence AI The topic most frequently discussed is the concept of intelligence with efforts to demonstrate that it is or is not transferable to the computer Only rarely has attention been focused on the concept of the artificial per se in order to clarify what kind depth and scope of performance including intelligence it could support Apart from the classic book by H A Simon The Sciences of the Artificial published in 1969 no serious attempt has been made to define a conceptual frame for understanding the intimate nature of intelligent machines independently of its claimed or denied human like features The general aim of this book is to discuss from different points of view what we are losing and what we are gaining from the artificial particularly from AI when we abandon the original anthropomorphic pretension There is necessarily a need for analysis of the history of AI and the limits of its plausibility in reproducing the human mind In addition the papers presented here aim at redefining the epistemology and the possible targets of the AI discipline raising problems and proposing solutions which should be understood as typical of the artificial rather than of an information based conception of man

The Look of Things Carsten Strathausen, 2020-05-01 Examining the relationship between German poetry philosophy and visual media around 1900 Carsten Strathausen argues that the poetic works of Rainer Maria Rilke Hugo von Hofmannsthal and Stefan George focused on the visible gestalt of language as a means of competing aesthetically with the increasing popularity and reality effect of photography and film Poetry around 1900 self reflectively celebrated its own words as both transparent signs and material objects Strathausen says In Aestheticism this means that language harbors the potential to literally present the things it signifies Rather than simply describing or picturing the physical experience of looking as critics have commonly maintained modernist poetry claims to enable a more profound kind of perception that grants intuitive insights into the very texture of the natural world Epistemology and History Anna Zeidler-Janiszewska,1996 ISBN 9042000635 paperback NLG 90 00 The papers in this volume are arranged under the following headings Humanistic knowledge On explanation and humanistic interpretation The historical dimension of culture and its studies Problems of artistic practice and its interpretation through genealogy and psychoanalysis The New Yearbook for Phenomenology and Phenomenological Philosophy Burt Hopkins,Steven Crowell,2015-03-24 The New Yearbook for Phenomenology and Phenomenological Philosophy provides an annual international forum for phenomenological research in the spirit of Husserl s groundbreaking work and the extension of this work by such figures as Scheler Heidegger Sartre Levinas Merleau Ponty and Gadamer
