Archaeology, Annales, and Ethnohistory A. Bernard Knapp, 1992-04-16 This collection considers the relevance of the Annales school for archaeology The Annales movement regarded orthodox history as too much concerned with events too narrowly political too narrative in form and too isolated from neighbouring disciplines Annalistes attempted to construct a total history dealing with a wide range of human activity and combining divergent material documentary and theoretical approaches to the past Annales oriented research utilizes the techniques and tools of various ancillary fields and integrates temporal spatial material and behavioural analyses Such an approach is obviously attractive to archaeologists for even though they deal with material data rather than social facts they are just as much as historians interested in understanding social economic and political factors such as power and dominance conflict exchange and other human activities Three introductory essays consider the relationship between Annales methodology and current archaeological theory Case studies draw upon methodological variations of the multifaceted Annales approach The volume concludes with two overviews one historical and the other archaeological What Is Archaeology? Paul Courbin, 1988 Reprint Originally published in 1982 by Payot Paris Courbin emphatically argues that the primary task of archaeology is the establishment of facts stratigraphies time sequences and identifications of tools bones potsherds and that archaeology is a distinct discipline separate from history and anthropology Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Archaeological Theory Norman Yoffee, Andrew Sherratt, 1993-07-22 This volume assesses the real achievements of archaeology in increasing an understanding of the past Without rejecting the insights either of traditional or more recent approaches it considers the issues raised in current claims and controversies about what is appropriate theory for archaeology The first section looks at the process of theory building and at the sources of the ideas employed The following studies examine questions such as the interplay between expectation and evidence in ideas of human origins social role and material practice in the formation of the archaeological record and how the rise of states should be conceptualised further papers cover issues of ethnoarchaeology visual symbols and conflicting claims to ownership of the past The conclusion is that archaeologists need to be equally wary of naive positivism in the guise of scientific procedure and of speculation about the unrecorded intentions of prehistoric actors Working with the Past: Towards an Archaeology of Recycling Dragos Gheorghiu, Phil Mason, 2017-07-24 This book invites archaeologists to approach the significant process of recycling within the archaeological record at two different levels of artefacts and of landscape Towards Reflexive Method in Archaeology Ian Hodder, 2017-10-01 In the early 1990s the University of Cambridge reopened excavations at the Neolithic site of atalh y k in central Turkey abandoned since the 1960s This is Volume 2 in the atalh y k Research Project series Here Ian Hodder explains his vision of archaeological excavation where careful examination of context and an awareness of human bias allows researchers exciting new insights into prehistoric cognition The aim of the volume is to discuss some of the reflexive or postprocessual methods that have been introduced at the site in the work there since 1993 These methods involve reflexivity interactivity multivocality and contextuality or relationality Archaeology, Narrative, and the Politics of the Past Julia A. King, 2012-07-15 In this innovative work Julia King moves nimbly among a variety of sources and disciplinary approaches archaeological historical architectural literary and art historical to show how places take on convey and maintain meanings Focusing on the beautiful Chesapeake Bay region of Maryland King looks at the ways in which various groups from patriots and politicians of the antebellum era to present day archaeologists and preservationists have transformed key landscapes into historical indeed sacred spaces The sites King examines include the region's vanishing tobacco farms St Mary's City established as Maryland's first capital by English settlers in the seventeenth century and Point Lookout the location of a prison for captured Confederate soldiers during the Civil War As the author explores the historical narratives associated with such places she uncovers some surprisingly durable myths as well as competing ones St Mary's City for example early on became the center of Maryland's founding narrative of religious tolerance a view commemorated in nineteenth century celebrations and reflected even today in local museum exhibits and preserved buildings And at Point Lookout one private group has established a Confederate Memorial Park dedicated to those who died at the prison thus nurturing the Lost Cause ideology that arose in the South in the late 1800s while nearby the custodians of a 1 000 acre state park avoid controversy by largely ignoring the area's Civil War history preferring instead to concentrate on recreation and tourism an unusually popular element of which has become the recounting of ghost stories As King shows the narratives that now constitute the public memory in southern Maryland tend to overlook the region's more vexing legacies particularly those involving slavery and race Noting how even her own discipline of historical archaeology has been complicit in perpetuating old narratives King calls for research particularly archaeological research that produces new stories and counter narratives that challenge old perceptions and interpretations and thus convey a more nuanced grasp of a complicated past Julia A King is an associate professor of anthropology at St Mary's College of Maryland where she coordinates the Museum Studies Program and directs the SlackWater Center a consortium devoted to exploring documenting and interpreting the changing landscapes of Chesapeake communities She is also coeditor with Dennis B Blanton of Indian and European Contact in Context The Mid Atlantic Region Sussex Archaeological Collections Relating to the History and Antiquities of the County Sussex Archaeological Society, 1920 Oxford Symposium on Food & Cookery, 1990 Harlan Walker, 1991 There was a fine range of papers submitted to this Symposium in 1990 The keynote talks were by Theodore Zeldin Astri Riddervold Bjorn Fjellheim and Marit Ekne Ruud as the names may indicate these last three authors hail from Norway The sorts of feasts discussed by the various contributors include medieval banquets by Professor Phyllis Bober the Bayeux Tapestry by Robert Chenciner Early Greek Banquets by Andrew Dalby Anatolian Feasts by Nevin Halici Thai Feasts by Philip Iddison The First Communion Banquet by Alicia Rios and Table Decoration in the Netherlands by Joop Witteveen
