Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt,1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature

Be Always Converting, be Always Converted Rob Wilson,2009 Wilson s reconceptualization of the American project of conversion begins with the story of Henry p kaha ia the first Hawaiian convert to Christianity torn from his Native Pacific homeland and transplanted to New England Wilson argues that p kaha ia s conversion is both remarkable and prototypically American

Sources and Methods in Indigenous Studies Chris Andersen,Jean M. O'Brien,2016-12-19 Sources and Methods in Indigenous Studies is a synthesis of changes and innovations in methodologies in Indigenous Studies focusing on sources over a broad chronological and geographical range Written by a group of highly respected Indigenous Studies scholars from across an array of disciplines this collection offers insight into the methodological approaches contributors take to research and how these methods have developed in recent years The book has a two part structure that looks firstly at the theoretical and disciplinary movement of Indigenous Studies within history literature anthropology and the social sciences Chapters in this section reveal that while engaging with other disciplines Indigenous Studies has forged its own intellectual path by borrowing and innovating from other fields In part two the book examines the many different areas with which sources for indigenous history have been engaged including the importance of family gender feminism and sexuality as well as various elements of expressive culture such as material culture literature and museums Together the chapters offer readers an overview of the dynamic state of the field in Indigenous Studies This book shines a spotlight on the ways in which scholarship is transforming Indigenous Studies in methodologically innovative and exciting ways and will be essential reading for students and scholars in the field Travel and Ethics Corinne Fowler, Charles Forsdick, Ludmilla Kostova, 2013-12-13 Despite the recent increase in scholarly activity regarding travel writing and the accompanying proliferation of publications relating to the form its ethical dimensions have yet to be theorized with sufficient rigour Drawing from the disciplines of anthropology linguistics literary studies and modern languages the contributors in this volume apply themselves to a number of key theoretical questions pertaining to travel writing and ethics ranging from travel as commoditization to encounters with minority languages under threat Taken collectively the essays assess key critical legacies from parallel disciplines to the debate so far such as anthropological theory and postcolonial criticism Also considered and of equal significance are the ethical implications of the form s parallel genres of writing such as ethnography and journalism As some of the contributors argue innovations in these genres have important implications for the act of theorizing travel writing itself and the mode and spirit in which it continues to be conducted In the light of such innovations how might ethical theory maintain its critical edge Sons for the Return Home Albert Wendt, 1996-06-30 Originally published in 1973 this story of star crossed lovers spotlights the complex nature of love freedom and racism in New Zealand Samoan writer Albert Wendt s first novel Sons for the Return Home has long been out of print Yet readers continue to respond to the clarity of vision in this simple powerful story of cross cultural encounter

Postcolonial Nations, Islands, and Tourism Helen Kapstein, 2017-07-11 Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism examines how real and literary islands have helped to shape the idea of the nation in a postcolonial world Through an analysis of a variety of texts ranging from literature to prison correspondence to tourist questionnaires it exposes the ways in which nationalism relies on fictions of insularity and intactness which the island and island tourism appear to provide The island space seems to offer the ideal replica of the nation and tourist practices promise the liberation of leisure the gaze and mobility However the very reliance on the constantly shifting and eroding island form exposes an anxiety about boundaries and limits on the part of the postcolonial nation In appropriating island tourism the new nation tends to recapitulate the failures and crises of the colonial nation before it Starting with the first literary tourist Robinson Crusoe Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism goes on to show how authors such as JM Coetzee Romesh Guneseckera and Julian Barnes have explored the outlines and implications of islandness It argues that each text expresses a profound discomfort with national form by undoing the form of the island through a variety of narrative strategies and rhetorical manoeuvres By throwing the category of the island into crisis these texts let uncertainties about the postcolonial nation and its violent practices emerge as doubt in the narratives themselves Finally in its selection of texts that shuttle between South Africa Great Britain and Sri Lanka equalizing the former colonial metropole and its outposts it offers an alternative disciplinary mapping of current postcolonial writing

Word Across the Water Tom Smith,2024-10-15 In Word Across the Water Tom Smith brings the histories of Hawai i and the Philippines together to argue that US imperial ambitions towards these Pacific archipelagos were deeply intertwined with the work of American Protestant missionaries As self styled interpreters of history missionaries produced narratives to stoke interest in their cause locating US imperial interventions and their own evangelistic projects within divinely ordained historical trajectories As missionaries worked in the shadow of their nation s empire however their religiously inflected historical narratives came to serve an alternative purpose They emerged as a way for missionaries to negotiate their own status between the imperial and the local and to come to terms with the diverse spaces peoples and traditions of historical narration that they encountered across different island groups Word Across the Water encourages scholars of empire and religion alike to acknowledge both the pernicious nature of imperial claims over oceanic space underpinned by religious and historical arguments and the fragility of those claims on the ground
