This is how love rolls. For teacher Ava Williams, some subjects are not up for debate. Like history, specifically the one she has with Grace Jones, bowling pro and local celeb. Who is now, for no identifiable reason, teaching at the same small town Georgia high school as Ava. Once upon a time they were thick as thieves, best friends, rivals who pushed each other and total bowling nerds. Then they shared a kiss, sweet and confusing, and after that they split and nothing was ever the same. Ava is pretty sure she has every reason to hate Grace. Especially when the school's soggy potato of a principal announces finally that the students can have the bowling team. Ava has been pushing for years only to hand it to Grace. Now they're expected to be partners and lead their new bowling team to victory in six months. And with that, their rivalry is back. Fierce, ultracompetitive, and with an undeniable attraction that pushes, pulls, and crashes together. It's history. It's chemistry. And it's just a matter of time before it explodes one way or the other.

The Oral History Workshop Cynthia Hart, Lisa Samson, 2009-11-26 We all know that we should ask now, before it's too late, before the stories are gone forever. But knowing and doing are two different things. Cynthia Hart, author of Cynthia Hart's Scrapbook Workshop, shows exactly how to collect, record, share, and preserve a family member's or a friend's oral history in this practical and inspirational guide. The Oral History Workshop breaks down what too often feels like an overwhelming project into a series of easily manageable steps: how to prepare for an interview, how to become a better listener, why there's always more beneath the surface, and the questions to ask to get there; the pros and cons of video recording, including how your subjects should dress so the focus is on their words; four steps to keeping the interview on track; how to be attentive to your subject's energy levels; and the art of archiving or scrapbooking the interview into a finished keepsake. At the heart of the book are hundreds of questions designed to cover every aspect of your subject's history: Do you remember when and how you learned to read? Who in your life showed you the most kindness? What insights have you gained about your parents over the years? Would you describe yourself as an optimist or a pessimist? In what ways were you introduced to music? What is the first gift you remember giving? If you could hold on to one memory forever, what would it be? When the answers are pieced together, a mosaic appears: a living history.

A Rose From The Executioner Edward Izzi, 2019-02-14 Nobody Kills Like This Anymore. Detective Philip Dorian of the 16th Chicago Precinct is called to investigate the serial killing and mutilation of retired former pedophile priests in the Chicagoland area. It becomes later discovered that Monsignor Joseph Kilbane, chief of staff to the Cardinal, had previously approached his childhood friend Anthony Little Tony DiMatteo to lend him a hit man to commit the murders of these pedophile ex-priests for their insurance money. Although the plot sounds interesting, Little Tony isn't interested, and the Monsignor abandons the idea. During the reigns of prior Chicago bishops and cardinals over the last fifty years, many of these former pedophile priests were allegedly forced to resign and sheltered away from criminal prosecution with the caveat that they allow the Archdiocese of Chicago to be the beneficiary of their large life insurances policies These policies were taken out on these former priests as a form of penance for their lives of being sexual predators With the innumerate sexual child abuse lawsuits that have been currently filed and settled by the Archdiocese they are now on the brink of bankruptcy A serial killer is now out there and Monsignor Kilbane has no idea who is perpetrating these gruesome homicides essentially framing him and the Archdiocese for these Pedophile Priest Murders From Whence We Come Maurice W.
