King Of Kiriwina The Adventures Of Sergeant Saville In The South Seas:

King of Kiriwina Gordon Saville, John Austin, 1974 Hollywood's South Seas and the Pacific War S. Brawley, C. Dixon, 2012-08-06 This book explores the expectations experiences and reactions of Allied servicemen and women who served in the wartime Pacific and viewed the South Pacific through the lens of Hollywood's South Seas Based on extensive archival research it explores the intersections between military experiences and cultural history The Trobriand Islanders' Ways of Speaking Gunter Senft, 2010-07-19 Bronislaw Malinowski claimed in his monograph Argonauts of the Western Pacific that to approach the goal of ethnographic field work requires a collection of ethnographic statements characteristic narratives typical utterances items of folk lore and magical formulae as a corpus inscriptionum as documents of native mentality This book finally meets Malinowski's demand Based on more than 40 months of field research the author presents documents and illustrates the Trobriand Islanders' own indigenous typology of text categories or genres covering the spectrum from ditties children chant while spinning a top to gossip songs tales and myths The typology is based on Kilivila metalinguistic terms for these genres and considers the relationship they have with registers or varieties which are also metalinguistically distinguished by the native speakers of this language Rooted in the ethnography of speaking paradigm and in the anthropological linguistics linguistic anthropology approach the book highlights the relevance of genres for researching the role of language culture and cognition in social interaction and demonstrates the importance of understanding genres for achieving linguistic and cultural competence In addition to the data presented in the book its readers have the opportunity to access the original audio and video data presented via the internet on a special website which mirrors the structure of the book Thus the reader can check the transcriptions against the original data recordings This makes the volume particularly valuable for teaching purposes in general Austronesian Oceanic documentary and anthropological linguistics and ethnology Kilivila Gunter Senft, 2011-06-01 The series builds an extensive collection of high quality descriptions of languages around the world Each volume offers a comprehensive grammatical description of a single language together with fully analyzed sample texts and if appropriate a word list and other relevant information which is available on the language in question There are no restrictions as to language family or area and although special attention is paid to hitherto undescribed languages new and valuable treatments of better known languages are also included No theoretical model is imposed on the authors the only criterion is a high standard of scientific quality Natives and Exotics Judith A. Bennett, 2009-07-15 Ambitious in its scope and scale this environmental history of World War II ranges over rear bases and operational fronts from Bora Bora to New Guinea providing a lucid analysis of resource exploitation entangled wartime politics and human perceptions of the vast Oceanic environment Although the war's physical impact proved significant and oftentimes enduring this study shows that the tropical environment offered its own challenges Unfamiliar tides left landing craft stranded unseen microbes carrying endemic diseases disabled thousands of troops Weather terrain plants animals all played an active role as enemy or ally At the heart of Natives and Exotics is the author's analysis of the changing visions and perceptions of the environment not only among the millions of combatants but also among the Islands peoples and their colonial administrations in wartime and beyond Judith Bennett reveals how prewar notions of a paradisiacal Pacific set up millions of Americans Australians New Zealanders and Japanese for grave disappointment when they encountered the reality She shows that objects usually considered distinct from environmental concerns souvenirs cemeteries war memorials warrant further examination as the emotional quintessence of events in a particular place Among native people wartime experiences and resource utilization induced a shift in environmental perceptions just as the postwar colonial agenda demanded increased diversification of the resource base Bennett's ability to reappraise such human perceptions and productions with an environmental lens is one of the unique qualities of this study Impeccably researched Natives and Exotics is essential reading for those interested in environmental history Pacific studies and a different kind of war story that has surprising relevance for today's concerns with global warming The Kula Martha MacIntyre, 1983-05-19

War at the Margins Lin Poyer, 2022 War at the Margins offers a broad comparative view of the impact of World War II on Indigenous societies Using historical and ethnographic sources Lin Poyer examines how Indigenous communities emerged from the trauma of the wartime era with social forms and cultural ideas that laid the foundations for their twenty first century emergence as players on the world's political stage With a focus on Indigenous voices and agency a global overview reveals the enormous range of wartime activities and impacts on these groups connecting this work with comparative history Indigenous studies and anthropology The distinctiveness of Indigenous peoples offers a valuable perspective on World War II as those on the margins of Allied and Axis empires and nation states were drawn in as soldiers scouts guides laborers and victims Questions of loyalty and citizenship shaped Indigenous combat roles from integration in national armies to service in separate ethnic units to unofficial use of their special skills where local knowledge tilted the balance in military outcomes Front lines crossed Indigenous territory most consequentially in northern Europe Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands but the impacts of war go well beyond combat Like others around the world Indigenous civilian men and women suffered bombing and invasion displacement forced labor military occupation and economic and social disruption Infrastructure construction and demand for key resources affected even areas far from front lines World War II dissolved empires and laid the foundation for the postcolonial world Indigenous people in newly independent nations struggled for autonomy while other veterans returned to home fronts still steeped in racism National governments saw military service as evidence that Indigenous peoples wished to assimilate but wartime experiences confirmed many communities commitment to their home cultures and opened new avenues for activism By century's end Indigenous Rights became an international political force offering alternative visions of how the global order might make room for greater local self determination and cultural diversity In examining this transformative era War at the Margins adds an important contribution to both World War II

history and to the development of global Indigenous identity The Art of Kula Shirley F. Campbell, 2023-08-04 Nearly a century ago it was predicted that Kula the exchange of shell valuables in the Massim region of Papua New Guinea would disappear Not only has this prophecy failed to come true but today Kula is expanding beyond these island communities to the mainland and Australia This book unveils the many deep motivations and meanings that lie behind the pursuit of Kula Focusing upon the visually stimulating carved and painted prow boards that decorate canoes used by the Kula voyagers Campbell argues that these designs comprise layers of encoded meaning The unique colour associations and other formal elements speak to Vakutans about key emotional issues within their everyday and spiritual lives How is mens participation in the Kula linked to their desire to achieve immortality How do the messages conveyed by the canoe boards converge with those presented in Kula myths and rituals In what ways do these systems of meaning reveal a male ideology that competes with the prevailing female ideology Providing an alternative way of understanding the significance of Kula in the Trobriand Islands The Art of Kula makes an influential new contribution to the ethnography of Papua New Guinea Land of the Unexpected Brian D. Smith, 2007 When an architect who had previously lived for six years in Fiji finds an advertisement in the Daily Telegraph it starts off an exciting adventure Take a seat and fly to the Land Of The Unexpected and learn of Papua New Guinea made up of a mountainous mainland and far flung islands Go along with your guide on many trips in a variety of transport Find out how the people of this country have been treated or mistreated in their historical time and experience their talents and beliefs Travel around learning how each province differs in nature artefacts customs and so much more At times you will feel as if you are in a different period of time when reading about hotels and colonial contribution along with other countries input through your guide s eyes In Colonial New Guinea Naomi M. McPherson, 2001 Because Papua and New Guinea were administered by Germany Britain and Australia at different points in their history the experiences of the islands indigenous inhabitants were diverse and sometimes contradictory In Colonial New Guinea provides an anthropological view of colonialism and its culture in Papua New Guinea The rich and nuanced set of testimonies and reflections upon which the contributors draw enable a broad range of historical personae to comment on the reality of colonial life What emerges is a detailed ethnography that offers new perspectives not only on the history of Papua New Guinea but also on colonialism in general Book jacket Whitaker's Cumulative Book List, 1975 South Pacific Bibliography, 1988 Foreign and Commonwealth Office, Accessions to the Library, May 1971-June 1977: Classified catalogue Great Britain. Foreign and Commonwealth Office. Library, 1979 National Union Catalog, 1978 Includes entries for maps and atlases The Pacific Theater Geoffrey Miles White, Lamont Lindstrom, 1990 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1975 Language and Linguistics in Melanesia, 1992 Catalog of the South Pacific Collection University of California, Santa Cruz. University Library, 1978 British Books in Print, 1978 Anthropos, 1985
