It explores the idea that a genuinely intelligent computer will be able to interact naturally with humans To form this bridge computers need the ability to recognize understand and even have instincts similar to humans The author organizes the book into three parts He starts by describing primitive problem solving discussing topics like default mode learning tool making pheromones and foraging Part two then explores behavioral models of instinctive cognition by looking at the perception of motion and event patterns appearance and gesture behavioral dynamics figurative thinking and creativity The book concludes by exploring instinctive computing in modern cybernetics including models of self awareness stealth visual privacy navigation autonomy and survivability Instinctive Computing reflects upon systematic thinking for designing cyber physical systems and it would be a stimulating reading for those who are interested in artificial intelligence cybernetics ethology human computer interaction data science computer science security and privacy social media or autonomous robots

The Cinema of Errol Morris David Resha, 2015-04-08 The Cinema of Errol Morris offers close analyses of the director's films from box office successes like The Thin Blue Line and The Fog of War to Morris's early works like Vernon Florida and controversial films like Standard Operating Procedure Film scholar David Resha's reappraisal of Morris's films allows us to rethink the traditional distinction between stylistically conservative documentaries which are closely invested in evidence and reality and stylistically adventurous films which artfully call to question such claims of nonfiction and truth According to Resha Errol Morris does not fit neatly in this division of the documentary tradition Rather his experiments with documentary conventions constitute another way to investigate reality in particular to examine the ways in which his subjects understand and misunderstand themselves and the world around them Seen within the nonfiction tradition an Errol Morris documentary is a flexible form of lively engaging storytelling and shrewd cutting in depth reportage Hardcover is un jacketed

Digital Uncanny Kriss Ravetto-Biagioli, 2019 We are now confronted with a new type of uncanny experience an uncanny evoked by parallel processing aggregate data and cloud computing The digital uncanny does not erase the uncanny feeling we experience as d j vu or when confronted with robots that are too lifelike Today's uncanny refers to how non human devices surveillance technologies algorithms feedback and data flows anticipate human gestures emotions actions and interactions thus intimating that we are but machines and that our behavior is predicable precisely because we are machinic It adds another dimension to those feelings in which we question whether our responses are subjective or automated automated as in reducing one's subjectivity to patterns of data and using those patterns to present objects or ideas that would then elicit one's genuinely subjective yet effectively preset response In fact this anticipation of our responses is a feedback loop that we humans have produced by designing software that can study our traces inputs and moves In this sense one could say that the digital uncanny is a trick we play on ourselves a trick that we would not be able to play had we not developed sophisticated digital technologies Digital Uncanny explores how digital technologies particularly software systems working through massive amounts of data are transforming the meaning of the uncanny that Freud tied to a return of repressed memories desires and experiences to their anticipation Through a close reading of interactive and experimental art works of Rafael Lozano Hemmer Bill Viola Simon Biggs Sue Hawksley and Garth Paine this book is designed to explore how the digital uncanny unsettles and estranges concepts of self affect feedback and aesthetic experience forcing us to reflect on our relationship with computational media and by extension our relationship to each other and our experience of the world

How to Make War (Fourth Edition) James F. Dunnigan, 2003-04-01 An indispensable guide to how wars are fought James F Dunnigan's classic text has been enormously popular with citizens, professional soldiers and journalists alike. Now it's been revised to include a stunning array of new subjects. From the cutting edge of cyberwar to the current concern about terrorism, How to Make War presents a clear picture of complex weapons, armed forces and tactics. Describing a new world order, one with a greater number of equipped players than the Big Two, the United States and the former Soviet Union, this updated edition features all the elements of traditional warfare along with a discussion of terrorist techniques, nuclear, chemical and biological weapons and Third World ballistic missiles. Past editions of How to Make War were chillingly accurate in assessing and predicting the outcomes of all the major conflicts in the past two decades. Loaded with expertise and the latest information, this edition is an essential reference for any military library and a work that forewarns and forearms the Free World for the conflicts ahead.

The New Biographical Dictionary of Film David Thomson, 2010

Thomson, independent scholar, writing of The Biographical Dictionary of Film aka A Biographical Dictionary of the Cinema. 1975 edition described it as a personal, opinionated and obsessive biographical dictionary of the cinema. Thirty-five years and several editions later, that description still holds true of this expanded work. The new dictionary summarizes salient facts about its subjects' lives and discusses their film credits in terms of the quality of the filmmakers' work. In ambition, it has competitors including Leslie Halliwell's various editions of Halliwell's Filmgoers Companion (12th ed 1997) and Halliwell's Who's Who in the Movies (edited by John Walker, 4th ed rev and updated 2006) which cover films and technical terms, categories not included in Thomson's but whose entries are neutral and exceedingly brief. Additionally, Francophile Richard Roud's edited Cinema: A Critical Dictionary: The Major Filmmakers (2 v 1980) is as passionate a work as Thomson's but narrower in scope, with entries written by various experts rather than only by Roud. Finally, the multivolume magnum opus The International Dictionary of Films and Filmmakers (4th ed 2000, ed by T Pendergast and S Pendergast, 2nd ed ed by N Thomas) (v 1 CH May 91, 1st ed ed by C Lyon, v 1 2 CH Jan 85, v 3 CH Apr 87, v 4 5 CH Jun 88) covers everything: films, directors, actors, writers and production artists, with generous, measured, scholarly entries and lavish illustrations. However, it looms large and heavy, unlike the handy one-volume work by Thomson. Arguably, Thomson's work, for its scope, is the most fun, the most convenient and the most engaging title. All libraries supporting people interested in film should buy it. It will get lots of use and provide very good value for the money.

Being Zen Ezra Bayda, 2003-03-25

A straightforward, simple and wise guide to living an awakened life through mindfulness and meditation. Jack Kornfield, author of A Path with Heart, We can use whatever life presents to strengthen our spiritual practice, including the turmoil of daily life. What we need is the willingness to just be with our experiences, whether they are painful or pleasing, and open ourselves to the reality of our lives without trying to fix or change anything. But doing this requires that we confront our most deeply rooted fears and assumptions in order to gradually become free of the constrictions and suffering they create. Then we can awaken to the loving kindness that is at the heart of our being. While many books aspire to bring meditation into everyday experience, Ezra Bayda's Being Zen gives us practical ways to actually do it, introducing techniques that enable the reader to foster qualities essential to continued spiritual awakening. Topics include how to cultivate Perseverance, staying with anger, fear, and other distressing emotions; Stillness abiding with chaotic experiences without becoming overwhelmed; Clarity seeing through the conditioned beliefs and fears that run us. Direct experience encountering the physical reality of the present moment even when that moment is exactly where we don't want to be. Like Pema Chödrön, the best-selling author of When Things Fall Apart, Ezra Bayda writes with clear, heartfelt simplicity, using his own life stories to illustrate the teachings in an immediate and accessible way that will appeal to a broad spectrum of readers.

The Documentary Makers David A. Goldsmith, 2003. A series of in their own words interviews with 15 directors whose work has in some way extended the boundary of the documentary. They constitute a tiny proportion of those working in the field, but they represent the state of the documentary across the world, from the limited resources of China's only independent director with no access to his nation's television to the big-budget series that attract tens of millions of American viewers. Some will only work on film with all its paraphernalia of moviemaking, while others insist on working alone with nothing more than a Handicam. Some question, even abhor, the use of commentary; others wouldn't dream of doing without. Some work by the rules of cinema verité and some use dramatization, while still labeling their work documentary. Regardless of the where and the how, they all seek to reproduce reality, whatever that might be.

Awake in the Dark Roger Ebert, 2022-12-22. A collection of greatest film reviews from a critic who understands how to pop the hood of a movie and tell us how it runs. Steven Spielberg, Pulitzer Prize-winning film critic Roger Ebert wrote movie reviews for the Chicago Sun Times for over forty years. His wide knowledge, keen judgment, and sharp sense of humor made him America's most celebrated film critic, the only one to have a star dedicated to him on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. His hit TV show At the Movies made two thumbs up a coveted hallmark in the industry. From The Godfather to GoodFellas, from Cries and Whispers to Crash, the reviews in Awake in the Dark span some of the most exceptional periods in film history, from the dramatic rise of rebel Hollywood and the heyday of the auteur to the triumph of blockbuster films such as Star Wars and Raiders of the Lost Ark to the indie revolution. The extraordinary interviews included capture Ebert engaging with such influential directors as Martin Scorsese, Steven Spielberg, Woody Allen, Robert Altman, Werner Herzog, and Ingmar Bergman, as well as respected actors as diverse as Robert Mitchum, James Stewart, Warren Beatty, and Meryl Streep. Also gathered here are some of his most admired essays, among them a moving appreciation of John Cassavetes and a loving tribute to the virtues of black and white films. A treasure trove for film buffs, Awake in the Dark is a compulsively readable chronicle of film since the late 1960s. Ebert has a keen understanding of the way movies work. Martin Scorsese: Ebert's criticism shows a nearly unequalled grasp of film history and technique. A. O. Scott

New York Times Remaking the American College Campus Jonathan Silverman, Meghan M. Sweeney, 2016-10-06 The built and landscaped spaces of colleges and universities radiate and absorb the values of the cultures in which they were created As economic and political forces exert pressure on administrators and as our understanding of higher education shifts these spaces can transform dramatically Focusing on the utopian visions and the dystopian realities of American campus life this collection of new essays examines campus spaces from the perspective of those who live and work there Topics include disability sustainability first year writing underrepresented groups on campus online education adjunct labor and the way profit driven agendas have shaped colleges and universities Spectacular Posthumanism Drew Ayers, 2019-04-18 Spectacular Posthumanism examines the ways in which VFX imagery fantasizes about digital disembodiment while simultaneously reasserting the importance of the lived body Analyzing a wide range of case studies including the films of David Cronenberg and Stanley Kubrick image technologies such as performance capture and crowd simulation Game of Thrones Terminator Genisys Planet Earth and 300 Ayers builds on Miriam Hansen's concept of vernacular modernism to argue that the vernacular posthumanism of these media objects has a phenomenological impact on viewers As classical Hollywood cinema initiated viewers into the experience of modernism so too does the VFX image initiate viewers into digital posthuman modes of thinking and being Ayers's innovative close reading of popular mass market media objects reveals the complex ways that these popular media struggle to make sense of humanity's place within the contemporary world Spectacular Posthumanism argues that special and visual effects images produce a digital posthuman vernacular one which generates competing fantasies about the utopian and dystopian potential of a nonhuman future As humanity grapples with such heady issues as catastrophic climate change threats of anonymous cyber warfare an increasing reliance on autonomous computing systems genetic manipulation of both humans and nonhumans and the promise of technologically enhanced bodies the anxieties related to these issues register in popular culture Through the process of compositing humans and nonhumans into a seemingly seamless whole digital images visualize a utopian fantasy in which flesh and information might easily coexist and cohabitate with each other These images however also exhibit the dystopic anxieties that develop around this fantasy Relevant to our contemporary moment Spectacular Posthumanism both diagnoses and offers a critique of this fantasy arguing that this posthuman imagination overlooks the importance of embodiment and lived experience Beyond the Brain Louise Barrett, 2015-03-22 A new approach to understanding animal and human cognition When a chimpanzee stockpiles rocks as weapons or when a frog sends out mating calls we might easily assume these animals know their own motivations that they use the same psychological mechanisms that we do But as Beyond the Brain indicates this is a dangerous assumption because animals have different evolutionary trajectories ecological niches and physical attributes How do these differences influence animal thinking and behavior Removing our human centered spectacles Louise Barrett investigates the mind and brain and offers an alternative approach for understanding animal and human cognition Drawing on examples from animal behavior comparative psychology robotics artificial life developmental psychology and cognitive science Barrett provides remarkable new insights into how animals and humans depend on their bodies and environment not just their brains to behave intelligently Barrett begins with an overview of human cognitive adaptations and how these color our views of other species brains and minds Considering when it is worth having a big brain or indeed having a brain at all she investigates exactly what brains are good at Showing that the brain s evolutionary function guides action in the world she looks at how physical structure contributes to cognitive processes and she demonstrates how these processes employ materials and resources in specific environments Arguing that thinking and behavior constitute a property of the whole organism not just the brain Beyond the Brain illustrates how the body brain and cognition are tied to the wider world
