Identification Of Joint Management Structures For Shared Aquifers:

Identification of Joint Management Structures for Shared Aquifers Eran Feitelson, Marwan Haddad, 1998-01-01

Overcoming the scarcity and temporal variance of water availability in semi arid regions or the excess of water in temperate regions often requires cooperation This paper describes the approach taken by an Israeli Palestinian team to identify joint management structures for the aquifers shared by these two parties and some of the lessons learned from the experience of this team An Environmental Study of Artisanal, Small, and Medium Mining in Bolivia, Chile, and Peru Gary

McMahon, 1999-01-01 Mining exploration investment in the Latin American and Caribbean region has increased 130 percent in the last five years a figure which increases to 500 percent if Chile is excluded Governments have revamped mining legislation to enable private investment while becoming more sensitive to environmental factors In light of this legislation this report examines the environmental effects of artisanal small and medium mines in three Latin American Countries Bolivia Chile and Peru Four of the most important elements to be considered are The age of the mine Management of tailings The heterogeneity of the artisanal and small mine sectors The increasing need to take cultural considerations into account in the decision making process The paper contains results of the studies on the various mining sectors strategy and policy recommendations and country study summaries Latin American Insolvency Systems Malcolm Rowat, José

Astigarraga, 1999 Modern society has eliminated the inhumane debtors prisons for handling the insolvent debtor and in their stead have enacted benign modern laws in the area of bankruptcy Unscrupulous merchants now use these benign laws for fraudulent purposes Based on case studies in Argentina Brazil Mexico and Venezuela this is the first publication to provide recommendations about the important legal and institutional issues that are involved in bankruptcy reform in a critical region of the global economy The authors note that effective bankruptcy policy balances several requirements for the conduct of a stable successful economy For example it might be in the greatest interests to all parties if a company is given an opportunity to restructure and make use of the scarce resources remaining in its possession On the other hand inefficient firms especially those that have long survived only on state subsidies may need to fail in order to free space in the market for more efficient better managed companies Finally there are the needs to enforce loan contracts and provide an equitable system of debt collection Regional and International Trade Policy Csaba Csáki, John Nash, 1999-01-01 With appropriate preparation and policies the enlargement of the European Union EU will result in a broader and higher level integration of European agriculture create an environment more conducive to further liberalization of global agricultural trade and lead to further opening of European markets As part of the World Bank s Strategic Compact Initiative the Bank has coordinated activities to help the ten EU accession countries achieve EU membership These activities include the preparation of studies to facilitate implementation of necessary reforms and sponsoring seminars and workshops to disseminate and analyze the results This volume presents the major papers and summaries of one of the Workshop deliberations This volume includes the following topics lessons learned from other regional agricultural trade agreements the evolution of the Common Agricultural Policy CAP an analysis of the economic impact of trade flows the harmonization of agricultural policies within trade agreements the implications of the external trade environment for the accession countries the role of sanitary and phytosanitary trade rule in EU accession quantifying the incentive and farm income effects of agricultural support policies in transition economies major challenges to agricultural input regulation and trade during transition and EU accession concluding comments by the World Bank

Ready for Europe Barbara Nunberg, 2000-01-01 As the ongoing political and economic transition in the Central and Eastern Europe countries CEE moves into the next century the most advanced countries in the region are preparing to deal with their prospective entry into the European Union More a process than an event joining the EU is likely to place heightened demands on public administrations throughout the region To assist these countries with their efforts the Bank conducted a study of the regions The results of that study are included in this volume Ready for Europe specifies and clarifies the administrative requirements of accession The author uses in depth case studies for three pre accession countries Estonia Hungary and the Czech Republic to make these specifications The book defines the performance level countries will need to attain for a range of administrative tasks so the countries may reach a minimal threshold for EU membership It applies selected standards to determine each country s readiness for accession and for the longer term transition agenda The author focuses on these three critical areas of administrative performance in the context of EU accession How advanced is the development of a politically neutral professional human resource cadre in the civil service Do countries have the necessary institutional infrastructure at the government s core that is cabinet level to formulate and coordinate policymaking in an efficient and democratic manner How well are the dedicated institutional structures and processes established to shepherd countries through the accession process working

Food Safety Issues in the Developing World Laurian Unnevehr, Nancy Hirschhorn, 2000-01-01 Food safety is receiving more attention worldwide with the rising incidence of foodborne disease concern over new potential hazards and growth in agricultural trade Investments to improve food safety in developing countries can reduce the burden of disease and remove the barriers to fresh food product exports providing another source of income for the rural sector International disputes over sanitary and phytosanitary SPS measures influence the ability of developing countries to compete in export markets These countries need to evaluate their interest in the SPS agreement under the World Trade Organisation WTO participate more fully in international agencies responsible for harmonisation develop the capacity to assess equivalence for process standards which are increasingly used for fresh food products and resist the imposition of inappropriate standards

Structural Change in the Farming Sectors in Central and Eastern Europe Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, 2000-01-01 Farm structures in Central and Eastern Europe CEE today cover a whole spectrum of forms which include small subsistence oriented household plots medium sized commercial family farms and large corporations The agricultural sector in CEE definitely has not embraced the family farm as the dominant farming structure thus confounding the original expectations of Western experts On the other hand agriculture did not collapse because of fragmentation and privatization as predicted by conservative doomsayers To address the concerns of the farming sector in CEE with relation to EU accession a workshop was held in Warsaw Poland in June 1999 This volume represents a selection of papers presented at this workshop It examines the reforms and policy changes necessary in the food and agriculture sectors of the ten countries that have started the accession process for eventual membership in the European Union Bulgaria Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Romania Slovakia and Slovenia The papers are organized around the following three topics Evolving farm structures and competitiveness in agriculture Land laws and legal institutions for development of land markets and farm restructuring and Development of farm services for improved competitiveness This volume will be of interest to agricultural policy makers and government officials in the candidate countries EU officials World Bank and FAO staff development scholars and all others interested in the process of agricultural reform in CEE

The East Asian Miracle and Information Technology Nagy Hanna, 1999 World Bank Discussion Paper No 326 Draws on the successful experiences of five East Asian economies Japan the Republic of Korea Singapore Taiwan China and Hong Kong to show how they have exploited the opportunities made possible by the information technology revolution and built sustainable competitive advantages in many high value added industries and services The study examines the role of government in unleashing private sector response promoting the information technology industry diffusing technology and focusing resources on strategic elements of the national information infrastructure It also explores the role of the private sector in influencing the development and use of the new technologies

DeMISTifying MIS Luc Lecuit, 1999-01-01 Managers are often far from the real action so they need something that will tell them what is going on Luckily the rapid evolution of tools for collecting analyzing and diffusing information has greatly improved our ability to manage from a distance However the speed of technological change means that changes in management practices and tools are inescapable Development of Management Information Systems MIS for social funds has become essential due to some of the characteristics unique to these types of projects or organizations Among these unique characteristics are the need for transparency and efficiency because of the highly visible nature of the activities These guidelines define MIS and underscore its importance They also outline specific tools to assist in selection of an MIS and summarize its design and implementation These guidelines are meant to be a practical tool to help those who are setting up or managing a social fund navigate in MIS waters Technical jargon is kept to a minimum and a glossary of technical terms is provided to assist readers who do not have a technical background However special Technical Boxes have been included for the experts in this field

Subnational Budgeting in Russia Lev M. Freinkman, Daniel Treisman, Stepan Titov, 1999-01-01 Not only are Russia's regions economically diverse but the policies that regional governments have adopted to deal with the strains of economic transition also vary widely Some regions have generally embraced market reforms while others have sought to preserve enclaves of socialism with price restrictions large subsidies and barriers to trade Reforms of Russia's budgetary system at the subnational level are vital to preserve macroeconomic stability improve the efficiency and accountability of government and enhance incentives for local and regional governments to vigorously support economic growth Previous analytical and reform efforts have focused on possible changes at the federal level and in the system of center region relations An opportunity now exists to make progress by providing reform advice and conditional aid to policymakers at the regional and subregional level This report focuses on opportunities for reform at the subnational level It reviews recent trends in fiscal adjustment budgeting and government debt at the regional and local levels in Russia It analyzes major problems and suggests a number of measures and performance indicators that could form part of a reform strategy initiated by the Government of Russia

Economic Reform and Environmental Performance in Transition Economies Gordon Hughes, Magda Lovei, 1999-01-01 transition has proved to be a much longer and more difficult process than most had anticipated and progress has varied By 1998 only one country Poland which embarked on economic reform before the rest of the region had reestablished sustained economic growth and surpassed the pretransition level of real gross domestic product GDP From Economic Reform and Environmental Performance in Transition Economies Most global economy and environmental watchers expect the transition to a market economy to yield environmental benefits The changing incentives that a market economy introduces should foster more efficient production better use of resources and increased community input The advanced reformers of the Central and Eastern European CEE countries proved this to be the case They improved energy efficiency and reduced emissions intensity of pollutants The slower reforming countries of the Newly Independent States NIS also experienced lower pollution However that downturn coincided with the economic decline which shut down many major polluters This report reviews progress in environmental trends since transition began It looks at air and water pollution and health indicators in the trends and in light of the environmental issues identified in the Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe It continues and builds on the World Bank's work in analyzing the environmental effects of transition restructuring and privatization with a view to identifying priority areas for investment and policy initiatives The report will interest environmental policy makers and practitioners

EU Investment Grants Review Iain Begg, 1999-01-01 This study is the first of a three stage research program that aims to investigate institutional arrangements for local and regional capital investment in selected CEECs and assess whether these arrangements provide appropriate signals to economic agents with regard to EU accession This publication is a Technical Paper sponsored by the Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network of the World Bank's Europe and Central Asia Division It is part of a comprehensive series regarding the many important factors that influence European Union EU accession in the Central and East European countries CEEC The topics in the series cover both the social and economic aspects of accession across a broad range of sectors The series also provides background information for specific acceding countries These publications will be of interest to EU member and candidate countries their ministries and any one studying the accession issue

Financial Integration, Vulnerabilities to Crisis, and EU Accession in Five Central European Countries Mustapha K. Nabli,1999-01-01 A major source of vulnerability in the CE5 is their nascent financial systems and their ability to handle large and increasing volume of capital As the experience of East Asia demonstrates a high priority should be given to improving the quality and performance of the banking system From Financial Integration Vulnerabilities to Crisis and EU Accession in Five Central European Countries The objective of this study is to help assess the possible vulnerabilities in a number of Central European countries as they proceed with global financial integration and EU accession The report focuses on those countries slated to be the first in the region to join the EU the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Poland Slovenia CE5 The study Discusses the context and presents a short description of the CE5 countries experience in attracting capital flows Analyzes the manifestations of vulnerability to financial crises and sustainability of foreign capital flows to the CE5 Interprets the results and draws implications in view of the initial conditions of the various countries Compares the EU accession of the CE5 to the Southern Mediterranean countries accession to the EC in the 1980s Draws conclusions and makes recommendations

Economic Research on the Determinants of Immigration George J. Borjas,1999-01-01 This publication summarizes some of the key research findings from current literature and applies the lessons from it to the potential migration problem faced by countries in the EU Its main objective is to present a review of existing economic theory and empirical evidence to evaluate the likelihood of migration flows from acceding or neighboring countries toward the current EU member states This publication is a Technical Paper sponsored by the Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network of the World Bank s Europe and Central Asia Division It is part of a comprehensive series regarding the many important factors that influence European Union EU accession in the Central and East European countries CEEC The topics in the series cover both the social and economic aspects of accession across a broad range of sectors The series also provides background information for specific acceding countries These publications will be of interest to EU member and candidate countries their ministries and any one studying the accession issue

Overcoming Obstacles to Liberalization of the Telecom Sector in Estonia, Poland, the Czech Republic, Slovenia, and Hungary Robert Bruce,1999-01-01 This study emerges from discussions with representatives of the World Bank and high level representatives of government and the telecommunications services industry in Hungary Estonia Poland the Czech Republic Slovenia and Hungary It considers the problems inherent with the liberalization of the telecom sector This publication is a Technical Paper sponsored by the Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network of the World Bank s Europe and Central Asia Division It is part of a comprehensive series regarding the many important factors that influence European Union EU accession in the Central and East European countries CEEC The topics in the series cover both the social and economic aspects of accession across a broad range of sectors The series also provides background information for specific acceding countries These publications will be of interest to EU member and candidate countries their ministries and any one studying the accession issue Managing Transboundary Waters of Latin America Asit Biswas,2013-09-13 Definitive analyses of transboundary water management in Latin America are conspicuous by their absence The situation is a little better for rivers compared to groundwater resources Transboundary water management in Latin America has been evolving in a somewhat different manner compared to other continents The book includes eight authoritative case studies of Latin American transboundary rivers and aquifers as well as a thinkpiece on the complexities of managing aquifers based on global experiences The case studies are of different scales ranging from the mighty Amazon to small Silala The overall focus of the book is on ways in which such difficult and complex rivers and aquifers that are shared by two or more countries can be managed efficiently and equitably and on the lessons both positive and negative that other regions can learn from the Latin American experience This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development

Food and Agriculture in the Czech Republic Csaba Csáki,Michel Debatisse,Oskar Honisch,1999-01-01 Becoming a member of the European Union is one of the most important objectives of the Czech Republic for the coming years both for the government and for the Czech society as a whole With the exception of a few traditional Czech products the Czech Republic is not a major exporter of agricultural goods due to its land locked position and relatively poor product differentiation Since the velvet revolution in 1989 agricultural production has declined To conform to European Union standards for accession the Czech Republic needs to make some adjustments This report reviews the current state of Czech agriculture and agro industry in the context of EU accession It analyzes institutional reforms and their actual impacts and proposes a series of adjustments to complete the reforms in the agricultural sector This report is intended for agricultural scientists public officials agricultural and agro industrial leaders and researchers interested in the transformation of agriculture in the transition economies and in issues pertaining to accession of Central and East European candidate countries to the European Union From Transition to Accession Esen Ulgenerk,Leila Zlaoui,2000-01-01 Bulgaria is recovering from a severe economic and financial crisis after more than half a decade of macroeconomic mismanagement As a candidate country for accession to the EU Bulgaria will need to establish stable well regulated and competitive financial markets and institutions This paper reviews developments in the financial markets Ukraine--review of Farm

Restructuring Experiences Zvi Lerman,Csaba Csáki,2000-01-01 Restructuring has produced a definite favorable impact on labor relations and workers behavior in the reorganized farms Managers of reorganized farm enterprises give a much more positive assessment of the behavioral patterns of their workers than managers of non reorganized farms Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Ukraine is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique feature of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Farm surveys have been conducted by the World Bank in many countries of the CIS Russia Ukraine Moldova Armenia Georgia Turkmenistan Belarus and Central and Eastern Europe Poland Romania Bulgaria Hungary Albania Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank s recommendation much more credible and relevant The new findings for Ukraine will similarly provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country s government and supply the many international donors active on the local scene with essential information for the design of their strategic programs

Legal Impediments to Effective Rural Land Relations in Eastern Europe and Central Asia Roy L. Prosterman, Timothy M. Hanstad, 1999-01-01

Excessive concentration of land ownership as is feared by many transition governments has not been a feature of land markets where they have been allowed to function relatively freely and where land has been allocated in kind to households and individuals The World Bank has long been active in the Europe and Central Asia region in monitoring and evaluating land reform developments and supporting the development of land markets Bank efforts to date have made a significant impact in our client countries and studies produced by the Bank have been used as impartial references on this subject by both international organizations and the countries themselves This report was developed as a result of these efforts It focuses on The principal issues faced by the transition economies of Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union The potential approaches for resolving specific problem issues
