Semantics and Lexicography Herbert Ernst Wiegand, 2011-05-02. This volume is a compilation of nine articles translated from German. They deal with those lexicographic texts or text excerpts which have been formulated in order to convey the meaning of a lexical unit to a potential dictionary user who is not familiar with that meaning. The articles not only critically analyze lexicographic practice in particular the so-called lexicographic definitions and the items giving the synonyms in correlation with the examples in the light of different semantic approaches.

They also present ways towards a common understanding in the context of lexicographically imparting knowledge of meaning i.e. on the basis of an actional semantics approach which takes into account results obtained from analyses of everyday dialogs about word meanings. Moreover they discuss how meaning conveying texts can serve their purposes in dictionary look up situations and they lay out all those aspects which are particularly to be taken into consideration in the formulation of lexicographic texts aimed at conveying meaning in dictionaries belonging to different types

Linguistic Semiotics Mingyu Wang, 2020-02-25 This is the first book of its kind that explains the basic concepts theoretical foundations and systematic research of linguistic semiotics so as to establish a well founded framework for linguistic semiotics as an independent discipline. Elements of Semiology Roland Barthes, 1977-04 In his Course in General Linguistics first published in 1916 Saussure postulated the existence of a general science of signs or Semiology of which linguistics would form only one part. Semiology therefore aims to take in any system of signs whatever their substance and limits images gestures musical sounds objects and the complex associations of all these which form the content of ritual convention or public entertainment these constitute if not languages at least systems of signification. The Elements here presented have as their sole aim the extraction from linguistics of analytical concepts which we think a priori to be sufficiently general to start semiological research on its way. In assembling them it is not presupposed that they will remain intact during the course of research nor that semiology will always be forced to follow the linguistic model closely. We are merely suggesting and elucidating a terminology in the hope that it may enable an initial albeit provisional order to be introduced into the heterogeneous mass of significant facts. In fact what we purport to do is furnish a principle of classification of the questions. These elements of semiology will therefore be grouped under four main headings borrowed from structural linguistics: I Language and Speech II Signified and Signifier III Syntagm and System IV Denotation and Connotation. Roland Barthes from his Introduction

Semiotics in Poland 1894-1969 J. Pelc, 2012-12-06 In the Introduction to the Polish language version of the present book I expressed the hope that Polish studies in semiotics would before long be numerous enough to make possible another anthology on semiotics in Poland containing material published since 1970. That hope has in fact come true. The fact that semiotic research has been gaining momentum in this country is reflected in the growing interest in the discipline in expanding international contacts and in the steady increase in the number of publications Thus 1972 saw the setting up of the Department of Logical Semiotics headed by the present writer at Warsaw University Institute of Philosophy The seminar on semiotics which I started in 1961 had met more than two hundred times by the end of 1976 since 1968 meetings have been held jointly with the Polish Semiotic Society Another seminar confined to university staff and concerned with logical semiotics which was initiated in 1970 had met more than fifty times by the end of 1976 The former seminar often plays host to foreign visiting professors so far scholars from Australia Belgium Britain Canada Czechoslovakia France the German Democratic Republic Italy the Netherlands the Soviet Union and the United States have attended
