Brown, Valerie Smith, 2015 Race and Real Estate brings together new work by architects sociologists legal scholars and literary critics that qualifies and complicates traditional narratives of race property and citizenship in the United States Rather than simply rehearsing the standard account of how blacks were historically excluded from homeownership the authors of these essays explore how the raced history of property affects understandings of home and citizenship While the narrative of race and real estate in America has usually been relayed in terms of institutional subjugation dispossession and forced segregation the essays collected in this volume acknowledge the validity of these histories while presenting new perspectives on this story

Black Madness : Therí Alyce Pickens, 2019-06-07 In Black Madness Mad Blackness Ther Alyce Pickens rethinks the relationship between Blackness and disability unsettling the common theorization that they are mutually constitutive Pickens shows how Black speculative and science fiction authors such as Octavia Butler Nalo Hopkinson and Tananarive Due craft new worlds that reimagine the intersection of Blackness and madness These creative writer theorists formulate new parameters for thinking through Blackness and madness Pickens considers Butler s Fledgling as an archive of Black madness that demonstrates how race and ability shape subjectivity while constructing the building blocks for antiracist and anti ableist futures She examines how Hopkinson s Midnight Robber theorizes mad Blackness and how Due s African Immortals series contests dominant definitions of the human The theorizations of race and disability that emerge from these works Pickens demonstrates challenge the paradigms of subjectivity that white supremacy and ableism enforce thereby pointing to the potential for new forms of radical politics

Ghosthunting Maryland Michael J. Varhola, Michael H. Varhola, 2010-10-01 All the sites in the book have been chosen with an eye toward several criteria including how accessible they are to the public how evocative experience a trip to them is likely to produce and the extent to which they actually appear to be haunted A great many in the various regions of Maryland have some connection to the Colonial era the War of 1812 or the Civil War all significant aspects of the state's haunted history Maryland is divided into six regions for purposes of this book Baltimore Central D C Metro Eastern Shore Southern and Western Geographically speaking Maryland is not a large state It is however among the oldest in the country and has a rich varied and turbulent history that has contributed to an exceptionally high number of haunted sites. Because it is relatively compact, Maryland is in many ways an ideal state for a haunted roadtrip, especially in an era of historically high gasoline prices and many haunted sites within the same area can easily be reached on a single weekend long trip. Indeed, although my own home is currently in Northern Virginia on the southern side of the Potomac River from Maryland, its furthest point from me is still somewhat less than 300 miles as opposed to nearly 500 for some of the most distant points in southwestern Virginia. Note that this outline includes more listings than there will be room for in the book and that a number of these will either be cut, reduced to sidebars within larger chapters, or listed in the appendix of additional haunted sites. As with Ghosthunting Virginia, research revealed early on a striking number of sites reputed by various sources to be haunted. With space in this volume for only a limited number of these, the authors carefully attempted to identify a representative selection that both emphasized variety and struck a balance between must-include sites such as the graveyard where Edgar Allan Poe is buried and more obscure ones that do not appear in any other books.

Masterplots Two Tyrone Williams, 2009 Williams, Xavier U. presents 367 three to four page essays, 101 commissioned new for this edition on significant African American works of literature from Afrocentricity. The Theory of Social Change a work of cultural criticism by Molefi K. Asante to Zami: A New Spelling of My Name the biomythography of Audre Lorde. The works covered range from early colonial era writings through works of the beginning of the 21st century. Most of the essays address a single long work while others review an author's work in a certain genre such as short fiction, poetry, essays, or speeches. Each entry begins with information on title, subtitle, author's name, and birth/death dates, type of work, date of first publication, and production. For fiction, information is also presented on type of plot, setting, and principal characters. The essays then describe events or contents of the work and address broad themes and meanings connected to the work. Essays on fiction works include discussion of main character or characters while nonfiction work includes sections on form and content and analysis. All essays end with discussion of critical context. Also included with the essays are annotated bibliographies on secondary sources. The final volume includes indexes organized by type of work, title, and authors. Examples of works covered in addition to the two already mentioned include Ain't I a Woman by bell hooks, The Autobiography of Malcolm X by Malcolm X, Babel 17 by Samuel R. Delany, The Black Muslims in America by C. Eric Lincoln, The Content of Our Character by Shelby Steele, Kindred by Octavia E. Butler, Roots by Alex Haley, The Signifying Monkey by Henry Louis Gates Jr., Up from Slavery by Booker T. Washington, and Walkin' the Dog by Walter Mosley. Annotation 2009 Book News, Inc.
