immense fortune qui lui venait de ses parents Adeptes de voyages au long cours il ne sort guère de sa cabine ou de son hôtel se contentant de sentir le monde extérieur qui dans sa réalité ne l'a jamais intéressé C'est sans doute la raison pour laquelle son univers romanesque est le pur produit de son imagination et des procédés littéraires qu'il a inventés Son modèle en littérature restera toujours Jules Verne qui il vouait une admiration sans bornes Cette influence a certainement contribué au fait que Locus Solus tourne autour des inventions prodigieuses que le savant Martial Canterel dévoile petit à petit ses invités traversent un parcours initiatique dans le parc de sa propriété Parmi toutes ces merveilles relevons entre autres un chat sans pelage qui dans le cristal de Canterel nage autour d'un chef humain composé uniquement de matière crânière de muscles et de nerfs dernier vestige de la tête de Danton Il excite les nerfs pendants de ce débris morbide par l'intermédiaire d'un cornet électrique qu'il porte comme un masque Les muscles s'agitent font tourner en tous sens ses yeux absents et ce qui reste de la bouche semble encore proférer des bribes de discours que Canterel traduit pour ses invités Ou encore ces cadavres que le savant a pu préserver de la décomposition grâce à une injection de resurrectine produit miracle qui a comme propriété de donner l'illusion de la vie et qui ainsi peuvent jouer indéfiniment la scène cruciale de leur existence Hanté par la mort et la folie ce roman paru en 1914 et dernier de Roussel n'est pourtant jamais macabre ou alors au sens d'une danse macabre telle la scène finale du Septième Sceau de Bergman L'esprit du conte traditionnel tient le lecteur en haleine le déroute le surprend en permanence et lui laisse entrevoir une réalité inquiétante dans laquelle il se sent entraîné malgré lui Locus solus Raymond Roussel, 1977

Locus Solus Selen Ansen, Süreyya Evren, 2022-06-01 Arter initiated a new publication series ARTER BACKGROUND in 2019 to accompany exhibitions drawn from its collection which holds more than 1 400 works of art The fourth book of the series accompanies Locus Solus which brings together selected works from the Arter Collection with several large scale installations including site specific new productions with an aim to explore the idea of nature through the lens of facts fictions and emotions In the book excerpts of textual and visual contents selected around the ideas active in the curatorial process of the exhibition are complemented by new works produced specifically for this context While the exhibition curated by Selen Ansen deals with the ways in which nature and culture permeate and affect each other the accompanying publication through its distinctive editorial structure features texts pointing towards extinct territories subconscious landscapes foreign lands fictive rooms heres elsewheres and nowheres wonderlands heavenly earthly and subterranean realms alongside commissioned essays by Sena Baş and Pascal Janovjak and Su Pola This book reflects the exhibition which it accompanies and whose spaces and reflections on the idea of nature it extends It amounts to a territory the contours of which are fluid semi autonomous inhabited by a variety of spaces and times One may peruse it while sitting standing or lying down in broad daylight or when the night has fallen in clear or foul weather in or outdoors just as one would with any other book that fell into one's hands One will probably make one's way into it unaccompanied since it is customary to read alone and in silence Once inside it will be preferable to keep one's eyes open in order to understand where one sets foot yet not to neglect to close them so as to be able to wander off beyond its borders This neither too long neither too short book is also a body a hybrid body composed of heterogeneous worlds and points of view assembled according to the good neighbour principle so cherished by Aby Warburg It compiles fragments of texts uprooted from their original context some of which are published as a whole others devised within the framework of the exhibition It also contains images some speechless others quite talkative which again have been deterritorialised moved out of their original context in order to become reterritorialised in new surroundings One will find less theory here than fiction fewer essays than narrations versified poetry and free prose a manifesto dictionary and encyclopaedia pages more solitude than crowds more vegetation than concrete at least as many unspoken as vocalised thoughts Selen Ansen with contributions by Sena Ba z John Berger Jen Bervin Karl Blossfeldt Richard Brautigan Charles Burns Joseph Conrad Julio Cort zar Karel apek Evliy elebi Ferit Edg Helmut Eisendle Gianni Guadalupi Marlen Haushofer Robert Hooke Pascal Janovjak Kamo no Ch mei Gizem Karaka Tetsumi Kudo D H Lawrence Leo Lionni Lucretius Maurice Maeterlinck Xavier de Maistre Alberto Manguel Winsor McCay Claudio Morandini Murathan Mungan Bar Pirhasan Pliny the Elder Su Pola Robert Pufleb Jochen Rai Iv n Repila Raymond Roussel Nadine Schlieper Carl Seelig Gertrude Stein Michel Tournier Robert Walser Aby Warburg Lynd Ward Volkan Yalazay Locus Solus II. John Ashbery, Gregory Corso, William S. Burroughs, Joseph Ceravolo, Kenward Elmslie, John Perreault, Frank O'Hara, 1961 The Plot Machine Kai Mikkonen, 2021-11-01 This book presents a new and exciting theory of the modern French novel by developing the notion of the narrative as a textual machine Many turn of the century French novels thematically identified their means of narration through the various machines that they depicted The narrative devices that were particularly important in this self reflection included the temporal order of the plot the question of a narrative s beginning and end the hierarchy of narrative voices and the techniques of the point of view The question of mechanization became central on all these fronts Has the novel become automated or machine like At the same time the machine metaphors in the novels of Alfred Jarry Emile Zola Jules Verne Villiers de l Isle Adam Raymond Roussel combined the question of the narrative form with new ways to think about man s relationship with technology and the cultural environment The early modernist texts drew upon contradictory notions of technological promise and threat while they also depicted new forms of identity and behavior related to or modeled after machines These texts highlighted cultural assumptions concerning technological innovations and critiqued mainly through parody and through various figures of man machine fusion the positivistic belief in progress Such writers looked for evidence of advanced forms of consciousness arising out of encounters with new technology such as telephones trains bicycles telegraphy phonographs and electricity This volume will be of interest to anyone working in the field of modern French literary and cultural history It will especially appeal to anyone intrigued with the origins of the modernist novel the history of narrative forms and the question of how the experience of new technology may be portrayed in literary texts Theory of the Novel Michael McKeon, 2000-12 McKeon and others delve into the significance of the novel as a genre form issues in novel techniques such as displacement the grand theory narrative modes such as subjectivity character and development critical interpretation of the structure of the novel and the novel in historical context Raymond Roussel François Caradec, 2001 Atlas Arkhive 8 Translated by Ian Monk The major biography of this extraordinary French poet novelist playwright musician homosexual drug addict and probable suicide Based on intensive research and access to a large hoard of Roussel's personal papers diaries and photographs that only came to light in 1989 it fully details his bizarre life his relationship with the surrealists and other avant garde literary movements as well as such figures as Proust and Cocteau Illustrated Impossibility Fiction Derek Littlewood, Peter Stockwell, 1996 Impossibility fiction is an intergenre that has recently been the resort of many writers searching for new ways of understanding and expressing the real world of the imagination making use of fantasy alternative history and science fiction Coping with ideas that are both impossible and realistically constructed is the ultimate contemporary challenge of our technology The chapters of this book move towards establishing appropriate readings that allow contemporary readers to negotiate unreality a skill that the end of the millennium is making inevitably necessary Such strategies have long been the preserve of literary and cultural study and here a number of well regarded scholars and some new to the field make their contribution to an area that has become increasingly important in recent years From Mary Shelley to Philip K Dick Iain M Banks to J G Ballard taking in African American science fiction Jurassic Park and Kurt Vonnegut and exploring issues of alternative history and ideology feminism the holocaust characterisation and impossible geography this collection is an important source book for all those interested in the literature culture and philosophy of realistic impossible worlds
