Human Development Report 2004 United Nations Development Programme,2004 This is the 15th report prepared by a team of independent experts which explores major development issues of global concern The 2004 report focuses on issues of cultural liberty and concludes that countries must actively devise multicultural policies to prevent cultural discrimination whether on grounds of religion ethnicity or language since the expansion of cultural freedoms is at the core of human development Rather than presenting a threat to state unity the report argues that diversity is the only sustainable option to promote stability and democracy within and across societies Issues discussed include confronting extremist movements for cultural domination myths surrounding cultural liberty and development the impact of globalisation on cultural choice social exclusion human rights and participation It also includes data tables for the Human Development Index HDI which measures key social and economic indicators for rich and poor countries including life expectancy health and sanitation employment rights gender equality education and income per person The Implementation Game Carolyn Deere,2011-06-16 With the launch of the World Trade Organization WTO in 1995 its Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS emerged as a symbol of coercion in international economic relations In the decade that followed intellectual property became one of the most contentious topics of global policy debate This book is the first full length study of the politics surrounding what developing countries did to implement TRIPS and why Based on a review of the evidence from 1995 to 2007 this book emphasises that developing countries exhibited considerable variation in their approach to TRIPS implementation In particular developing countries took varying degrees of advantage of the legal safeguards and options commonly known as TRIPS flexibilities that the Agreement provides To explain this variation this book argues that TRIPS implementation must be understood as a complex political game played out among developing country governments and a range of stakeholders developed countries non governmental organisations NGOs intergovernmental organisations IGOs and industry groups The contested nature of the TRIPS bargain spurred competing efforts to revise the terms of TRIPS and to influence global IP regulation more broadly The intensity of the implementation game was amplified by an awareness among the various stakeholders that the IP reforms developing countries pursued would influence these ongoing international negotiations The book attributes the variation in TRIPS implementation to the interplay between these global IP debates international power pressures and political dynamics within developing countries The book includes historical analysis compilations of evidence and analysis supported by examples from across the developing world The Implementation Game will be of interest both to scholars of international relations law and international political economy as well as to policymakers commentators and activists engaged in debates on the global governance of intellectual property

Exclusion and Poverty in India and Central Asia Chittaranjan Senapati,2016-09-09 The early years of 1990s economic reform and change has neglected social sectors both in India and Central Asia As a result poverty has also increased in India and Central Asian countries The economic political and social situation has worsened in all Central Asian states due to transition from command economy to market economy The early 1990s political decision has been dominated by a narrowly conceived version of economic policy for both India and Central Asia As a result the quality and the structure of social protection changed in a negative way Indeed in some cases the pursuit of a strict economic orthodoxy has left various sections of the community marginalized and alienated Both the societies confront a number of challenges that is as profound as the economic changes of the past The process of globalization and technical change has influenced economy and society in complex ways including raising expectations of consumption and remuneration for skilled knowledge workers creating greater demand for some information skills and services causing unemployment amongst those with few qualifications and destabilizing some traditional ways of life and increasing social exclusion It detaches groups and individuals from social relations and institutions and prevents them from full participation in the normal activities of the society In India and Central Asia communities face social exclusion on the basis of their identity as ethnic groups socio economic groups religious community and gender Inclusive development therefore is essential and it should be the top priority in development programs of India and Central Asia Research in this area has not been touched upon so far Since Central Asian countries are relatively new and trying to establish their democratic institutions this piece of work will be helpful for their nation building processes So far as the mutual benefit for both the regions is concerned India is an old democracy and its inclusive policy can be lessons for Central Asian countries On the other hand the experience of Central Asias policy implementation can be a lesson for India This piece of work has potential impulses to policy makers academicians and researchers of these five Central Asian countries and India This work can make a distinction than the conventional researcher in India by focusing on development studies social exclusion inclusive policies and comparative studies in international developments Key words social exclusion poverty deprivation development diversity India Central Asia Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan

The African Union Omar Alieu Touray, 2016-12-01 This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the African Union during the organization s first ten years of existence It takes the reader through the various intergovernmental processes that preceded and followed the establishment of the Union and through the workings of key organs such as the Assembly of Heads of State the Council of Ministers the Pan African Parliament and the Commission The study argues that the African Union represented a rational choice of its member states who saw it as a means to advancing their individual and collective preferences for liberation peace and security good governance and socio economic development It maintains that the African Union did not only make marked progress in a number of areas the Union also established norms that had transformational effects on military and political elites at country and regional levels However like in most agent principal relations the autonomy of the Union was limited in many ways and this affected the Union s effectiveness in such areas as human and socio economic development as well as in sustaining peace support operations At a more general level the study argues that the African Union offers clear insights into integration as a multidimensional process that no single theoretical tradition can explain in a comprehensive manner The author s response to such a theoretical limitation is fusionism an integrated approach that amalgamates various analytical traditions in order to provide a better explanation of the processes of international integration The detailed analysis and bold proposals will undoubtedly make the study appealing not only to specialists in African Studies but equally to a broader spectrum of international relations and development scholars
