Human Rights and Human Diversity Alan John Mitchell Milne, 1986 This original and provocative book is concerned with fundamental questions in moral political and legal philosophy It challenges both supporters and sceptics alike to rethink their ideas about human rights The author explains that human life is not the same everywhere noting that there are different traditions of culture and civilization He argues that an adequate idea of human rights must take such a diversity seriously and unlike the UN Declaration it must not presuppose Western institutions and values This theory of human rights developed by Milne deals systematically with the philosophical issues it raises He shows that human rights can only be a minimum standard not a panacea for the troubles of humanity And that this significance although modest should not be underrated
