Thiele, 2014-10-29 Interdisciplinarity has seemingly become a paradigm for modern and meaningful research Clearly the interdisciplinary modus of deliberation enables to unfold relevant but quite different disciplinary perspectives to the reflection of broader scientific questions or societal problems However whether the comprehensive results of interdisciplinary reflection prove to be valid or to be acceptable in trans disciplinary terms depends upon certain preconditions which have to be fulfilled for securing scientific quality and social trust in advisory contexts The present book is written by experts and practitioners of interdisciplinary research and policy advice It analyses topical and methodological approaches towards interdisciplinarity starting with the current role of scientific research in society The volume continues with contributions to the issues of knowledge and acting and to trans disciplinary deliberation The final conclusions address the scientific system as substantial actor itself as well as the relevant research and education politics Transforming Biodiversity Governance Ingrid J. Visseren-Hamakers, Marcel T. J. Kok, 2022-06-16 Over fifty years of global conservation has failed to bend the curve of biodiversity loss so we need to transform the ways we govern biodiversity The UN Convention on Biological Diversity aims to develop and implement a transformative framework for the coming decades However the question of what transformative biodiversity governance entails and how it can be implemented is complex This book argues that transformative biodiversity governance means prioritizing ecocentric compassionate and just sustainable development This involves implementing five governance approaches integrative inclusive adaptive transdisciplinary and anticipatory governance in conjunction and focused on the underlying causes of biodiversity loss and unsustainability Transforming Biodiversity Governance is an invaluable source for academics policy makers and practitioners working in biodiversity and sustainability governance This is one of a series of publications associated with the Earth System Governance Project For more publications see www.cambridge.org/earth-system-governance This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core Fish and Wildlife Protection in the Planning and Construction of the Trans-Alaska Oil Pipeline Thomas A.

LIU, Aggregation function is an important component in an information aggregation or information fusion system Interrelationships usually exist between the input arguments e g the criteria in the multicriteria decision making of an aggregation function In this paper we make a comprehensive survey on the aggregation operators AOs that consider the argument interrelationships in crisp and fuzzy settings In particular we discuss the mechanisms of modeling the argument interrelationships of the Choquet integral CI the power average PA the Bonferroni mean BM the Heronian mean HM and the Maclaurin symmetric mean MSM operators and introduce their extended e g generalized or weighted forms and their applications in different fuzzy sets In addition we compare these ve types of operators and summarize their advantages and disadvantages Furthermore we discuss the applications of these operators Finally we identify some future research directions in the AOs considering the argument interrelationships The reviewed papers are mainly about the development of the CI the PA the BM the HM and the MSM in fuzzy MCDMs most of which fall in the period of 2009 2018
