Environmental Risk Through Insurance Paul K. Freeman,Howard Kunreuther,2012-12-06 Can insurance be used as a means to obtain compliance with environmental policy Answering this question requires examination of a broad mosaic of academic issues including current systems available for providing compensation and deterrence use of contracts including insurance as substitutes for tort law limitations of regulatory policy making by government agencies pre conditions for creation of insurance products and market mechanisms necessary for insurance to be purchased or sold The purpose of Managing Environmental Risk Through Insurance is to highlight the potential role that insurance and performance standards can play in managing environmental risk Insurance can play a significant role in dealing with one of the most problematic issues facing society today how to compensate for environmental exposures This book analyzes the ability of insurance to play a role in managing environmental risk It begins by outlining the role insurance plays in society in contrast to other societal tools for addressing risk government benefit programs and imposition of involuntary liability using the court system

By so doing the book describes the comparative advantages of insurance The book then analyzes the insurability of the risks Finally the book applies the insurability analysis to three concrete environmental examples Industrial Pollution Prevention Thomas T. Shen, 2013-06-29 Sustainable economic development is necessary to improve the standard of living and quality of life in the developing countries It is also required to maintain or enhance their attributes for those lands already commercially developed Past experience indicates that one of the most important elements in the economic growth is the development of industry It should be also recognized that developing industry if pursued according to the traditional means entails the additional inefficient consumption of limited national resource and generation of large amount of residue that called industrial pollution In general industry has three generations of pollution problems The first generation pollution problem is from the manufacturing facilities The second generation pollution problem is related to the use of the products after leaving the site of manufacturing The final disposal of the used or unused products represents the third generation pollution problem for industry The traditional way of controlling pollution by industry is building costly waste treatment facilities added on to the end of manufacturing processes Industry also has to commit continuous funding to maintain and operate these facilities for their entire life span The waste treatment facilities were supposed to solve the manufacturing related pollution problem for industry i.e the first generation problem In fact these facilities in according to the Law of Conservation do not make the pollution disappeared Effective and Safe Waste Management Robert L.
