First Planning Conference on Biomedical Experiments in Extraterrestrial Environments United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration,1961 Environmental Protection Sue Elworthy,Jane Holder,1997-06 This book is targeted to students studying environmental law as well as legal academics researchers and undergraduates from other disciplines including economics political science and natural sciences U.S. International Environmental Policy United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations,1985 Advancing Obesity Solutions Through Investments in the Built Environment National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Health and Medicine Division,Food and Nutrition Board,Roundtable on Obesity Solutions,2018-06-14 The built environment the physical world made up of the homes buildings streets and infrastructure within which people live work and play underwent changes during the 20th and 21st centuries that contributed to a sharp decline in physical activity and affected access to healthy foods Those developments contributed in turn to the weight gain observed among Americans in recent decades Many believe therefore that policies and practices that affect the built environment could affect obesity rates in the United States and improve the health of Americans The National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine convened a workshop in September 2017 to improve understanding of the roles played by the built environment in the prevention and treatment of obesity and to identify promising strategies in multiple sectors that can be scaled up to create more healthful and equitable environments This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop The Social Aesthetics of Human Environments Arnold Berleant,2023-08-24 Across these essays Arnold Berleant demonstrates how aesthetic values and theory can be used to reappraise our social practices He tackles issues within the built environment everyday life and politics breaking down the dichotomy between the natural and the human His work represents a fresh approach to traditional philosophical questions in not only ethics but in metaphysics truth meaning psychology phenomenology and social and moral philosophy Topics covered include the cultural aesthetics of environment ecological aesthetics the aesthetics of terrorism and the subversion of beauty The corruption of taste by the forces of commercial interests as well as how aesthetics can advance our understanding of violence are also considered Berleant s exploration is supported by his analysis of 19th century art to the present day starting with impressionism through to postmodernism and contemporary artistic interventions By critically examining the field in this way and casting new light on social understanding and practice this collection makes a substantive contribution in identifying and clarifying central human issues guided by an understanding of aesthetic engagement as a powerful tool for social critique Ocean of Compassion Tenzin Norbu,2012-03 Ocean of Compassion A Guide to the Life of Universal Loving provides inspirational guidance for the cultivation of the essential virtues necessary to live a life whose purpose is to overcome our mistaken ways of acting and thinking and become a Buddha for the benefit of all It explains how to cultivate

this motivation called Bodhichitta in Buddhism and how to shape universal loving into a truly transformational life through the practice of the virtues of generosity patience effort moral discipline concentration and wisdom Expressed in poetic form the book can help you change your thoughts words and actions so as to live a meaningful life of service to others one in which you truly love your neighbor as yourself

Following the Trend Andreas F. Clenow, 2012-11-21 During bull and bear markets there is a group of hedge funds and professional traders which have been consistently outperforming traditional investment strategies for the past 30 odd years They have shown remarkable uncorrelated performance and in the great bear market of 2008 they had record gains These traders are highly secretive about their proprietary trading algorithms and often employ top PhDs in their research teams Yet it is possible to replicate their trading performance with relatively simplistic models These traders are trend following cross asset futures managers also known as CTAs Many books are written about them but none explain their strategies in such detail as to enable the reader to emulate their success and create their own trend following trading business until now Following the Trend explains why most hopefuls fail by focusing on the wrong things such as buy and sell rules and teaches the truly important parts of trend following Trading everything from the Nasdaq index and T bills to currency crosses platinum and live hogs there are large gains to be made regardless of the state of the economy or stock markets By analysing year by year trend following performance and attribution the reader will be able to build a deep understanding of what it is like to trade futures in large scale and where the real problems and opportunities lay Written by experienced hedge fund manager Andreas Clenow this book provides a comprehensive insight into the strategies behind the booming trend following futures industry from the perspective of a market participant The strategies behind the success of this industry are explained in great detail including complete trading rules and instructions for how to replicate the performance of successful hedge funds You are in for a potentially highly profitable roller coaster ride with this hard and honest look at the positive as well as the negative sides of trend following Philosophy and the Natural Environment Robin Attfield, Andrew Belsey, 1994-09-30 Leading international environmental philosophers further the debate about the environment and the metaphysical ethical social and international implications Handbook of Environmental Psychology and Quality of Life Research Ghazlane Fleury-Bahi, Enric Pol, Oscar Navarro, 2016-08-12 This Handbook presents a broad overview of the current research carried out in environmental psychology which puts into perspective quality of life and relationships with living spaces and shows how this original analytical framework can be used to understand different environmental and societal issues Adopting an original approach this Handbook focuses on the links with other specialties in psychology especially social and health psychology together with other disciplines such as geography architecture sociology anthropology urbanism and engineering Faced with the problems of society which involve the quality of life of individuals and communities it is fundamental to consider the relationships an individual has with his different living spaces This issue of the links between quality of life and environment is becoming increasingly significant with at a local level problems resulting from different types of annoyances such as pollution and noise while at a global level there is the central question of climate change with its harmful consequences for humans and the planet How can the impact on well being of environmental nuisances and threats for example natural risks pollution and noise be reduced How can the quality of life within daily living spaces home cities work environments be improved Why is it important to understand the psychological issues of our relationship with the global environment climatic warming ecological behaviours This Handbook is intended not only for students of various disciplines geography architecture psychology town planning etc but also for social decision makers and players who will find in it both theoretical and methodological perspectives so that psychological and environmental dimensions can be better taken into account in their working practices

Tackling Environmental Health Inequalities in a South African City? Rob Couch, 2023-05-03 South Africa is widely recognised as a middle income industrialised nation but it also ranks amongst the most unequal countries in the world in terms of its income distribution and human development Environmental health remains a considerable public health challenge in the 21st century as Environmental Health Practitioners EHPs try to tackle local environmental health inequalities in the face of historically disadvantaged populations suspicious of their motives and demands that far exceed any resources available Based on an empirical research project that explores how local government Environmental Health Practitioners regulate environmental health in one of South Africa's largest fastest growing and most unequal cities Urbington this book explores the many influences on their decision making including the limits of the law organisational controls the views of EHPs themselves and their relations with businesses communities politicians and others Tackling Environmental Health Inequalities in a South African City argues that if we are to meet the environmental health challenges of the 21st century it is in our best interests to rediscover this vital local public health workforce This book is essential reading for students practitioners and policymakers in environmental health and public health as well as those interested in urban development and policy particularly in African cities

Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2012 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies, 2011 NASA Conference Publication, 1990 Agriculture-environmental and Consumer Protection Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1975 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations, 1974 Experiencing the Environment Seymour Wapner, 2012-12-06 The purpose of this volume is to explore theory problem formulation and methodology in experiencing the environment In this embryonic field the writings of a number of individuals already stand out as representative of distinctive viewpoints In order to facilitate further development of the field a conference was proposed to gather in one place representatives of a number of major viewpoints with regard to the embryonic field of environmental psychology It was hoped that a colloquy among such representatives would facilitate a clarification of the similarities and differences between the various perspectives and might enable proponents of any given point of view to benefit from the insights of others with different orientations Hopefully it might also promote a greater articulation for this emerging field of inquiry With these ends in mind the sponsors of the conference asked the various prospective participants to present their theoretical positions and representative research illustrative of those positions Some of the perspectives represented at the conference emphasized the point that the construal of phenomena depends heavily on the values and needs of perceivers Implicit in this kind of position is the thesis that anyone who seeks to describe a complex happening is likely to shape it in terms of presup positions biases etc that may not be shared by others

Environmental Leadership Deborah Rigling Gallagher, 2012-09-19 This reference handbook tackles issues relevant to leadership in the realm of the environment and sustainability Lieutenant General Ernest Graves, U.S. Army Ernest Graves (Lt. Gen.), 1997

Environmental Politics for a Changing World Ronnie D. Lipschutz, Doreen Stabinsky, 2018-07-12 This book argues that environmental problems are first and foremost political and therefore about power Using a framework of political economy and political ecology the authors deconstruct current environmental problems to identify root causes and address those problems through mobilization of collective action and social power The second edition also offers Updated examples and stories of political struggles and the actors involved Explicit attention to various forms of power in environmental politics including structural and social power Local politics and collective action as related to global environmental politics Discussion of emerging issues such as synthetic biology commodification and financialization of nature including carbon markets and geoengineering
