In The Event Reading Journalism Reading Theory:

In the Event Deborah Esch, 1999 Assuming the burden of reading imposed by the correlation of the order of language and the order of events this book argues that the possibility of reading and writing history is tied to the endurance of traces of the past and their coming to legibility allegorically at a given time Through attentive readings of a range of texts including theoretical writings diaries newspaper reports and live television broadcasts In the Event elaborates the ways in which allegory disrupts our presumptions of continuity and simultaneity between the image whatever its medium and what we take it to represent The author demonstrates that a theoretical corpus must be understood not merely as a discrete set of arguments but as work that takes place in time and on which time itself is at work Against the temptation to regard a text including a text of philosophical aesthetics or critical linguistics as explained or defined by a fixed temporal context this book emphasizes the textual operation of time This attention to temporality opens the possibility of reading the notoriously difficult and resistant text of television The book's central chapters analyze the seductions of live broadcasting an incisive account of news coverage of the Gulf War for example reveals how the unproblematic articulation of live television with the real has its impulse in a broader realist ideology that finds its opportunity in the failure to reflect on the distances of space and time that characterize the medium The author also explores the very different punctuality of the journal in evocative readings of the diaries of Alice James and Derek Jarman both journals of survival written at the uncertain boundary of life and death Here and throughout the book the readings argue that what we take to be historical events are actually produced even constituted by an array of discursive technologies including language itself

Reading Media Theory Brett Mills, David M.

Barlow, 2014-06-11 What does the Frankfurt School have to say about the creative industries Does the spread of Google prove we now live in an information society How is Madonna an example of postmodernism How new is new media Does the power of Facebook mean we're all media makers now This groundbreaking volume part reader part textbook helps you to engage thoroughly with some of the major voices that have come to define the landscape of theory in media studies from the public sphere to postmodernism from mass communication theory to media effects from production to reception and beyond But much more than this by providing assistance and questions directly alongside the readings it crucially helps you develop the skills necessary to become a critical informed and analytical reader Each reading is supported on the facing page by author annotations which provide comments dissect the arguments explain key ideas and terminology make references to other relevant material and pose questions that emerge from the text Key features Opening chapters What is theory and What is reading bring alive the importance of both as key parts of media scholarship Pre-reading substantial Introductory sections set each text and its author in context and show the relevance of the reading to contemporary culture Post-reading Reflection sections summarise each reading's key points and suggests further areas to explore and think about 4 types of annotations help you engage with the reading context content structure and writing style as well as questions to provoke further thought

Split into 4 sections Reading theory Key thinkers and schools Approaches and Media Theory in context New to the second edition New chapters on New Media and Audiences as Producers Reading Media Theory will assist you in developing close reading and analytic skills It will also increase your ability to outline key theories and debates assess different case studies critically link theoretical approaches to a particular historical context and to structure and present an argument As such it will be essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of media studies cultural studies communication studies the sociology of the media popular culture and other related subjects

In the Event Deborah Esch, 1999 On journalistic coverage and live broadcasting

Technics and Time, 3 Bernard Stiegler, 2010-12-15 In the first two volumes of Technics and Time Bernard Stiegler worked carefully through Heidegger's and Husserl's relationship to technics and technology Here in volume three he turns his attention to the problematic relationship to technics he finds in Kant's Critique of Pure Reason particularly in the two versions of the Transcendental Deduction Stiegler relates this problematic to the cinematic nature of time which precedes cinema itself but reaches an apotheosis in it as the exteriorization process of schema through tertiary retentions and their mechanisms The book focuses on the relationship between these themes and the culture industry as defined by Adorno and Horkheimer that has supplanted the educational institutions on which genuine cultural participation depends This displacement Stiegler says has produced a malaise from which current global culture suffers The result is potentially catastrophic

Committing the Future to Memory Sarah Clift, 2013-11-11 Whereas historical determinacy conceives the past as a complex and unstable network of causalities this book asks how history can be related to a more radical future To pose that question it does not reject determinacy outright but rather seeks to explore how it works In examining what it means to be determined by history it also asks what kind of openings there might be in our encounters with history for interruptions re readings and re writings Engaging texts spanning multiple genres and several centuries from John Locke to Maurice Blanchot from Hegel to Benjamin Clift looks at experiences of time that exceed the historical narration of experiences said to have occurred in time She focuses on the co existence of multiple temporalities and opens up the quintessentially modern notion of historical succession to other possibilities The alternatives she draws out include the mediations of language and narration temporal leaps oscillations and blockages and the role played by contingency in representation She argues that such alternatives compel us to reassess the ways we understand history and identity in a traumatic or indeed in a post traumatic age

Holocaust Images and Picturing Catastrophe Angi Buettnner, 2016-12-05 Holocaust Images and Picturing Catastrophe explores the phenomenon of Holocaust transfer analysing the widespread practice of using the Holocaust and its imagery for the representation and recording of other historical events in various media sites It investigates the use of Holocaust imagery in political and legal discourses in critical thinking and philosophy as well as in popular culture to provide a fresh theorisation of the manner in which the Holocaust comes loose from its historical context and is applied to events and campaigns in the contemporary public sphere Richly illustrated with concrete examples including prominent international animal rights activism the Israeli Palestinian conflict and the genocide in Rwanda this book traces the visual rhetoric of Holocaust imagery and its application to events other than the genocide of Jewish people With its discussion of the wide range of issues arising with this form of Holocaust transfer the generalization of the Holocaust as a metaphor in representations of catastrophe as well as in other cultural locations Holocaust Images and Picturing Catastrophe will appeal to those working in the fields of holocaust studies cultural and visual culture studies sociology and media studies

The Anthropology of News and Journalism S. Elizabeth Bird, 2010 This title explores the role of news and journalism in contemporary culture from an anthropological perspective Essays by leading scholars look at communities of professional and nonprofessional journalists

The End of the Poem Giorgio Agamben, Daniel Heller-Roazen, 1999 This book by one of Italy's most important and original contemporary philosophers represents a broad general and ambitious undertaking nothing less than an attempt to rethink the nature of poetic language and to rearticulate relationships among theology poetry and philosophy in a tradition of literature initiated by Dante The author presents literature as a set of formal or linguistic genres that discuss or develop theological issues at a certain distance from the discourse of theology This distance begins to appear in Virgil and Ovid but it becomes decisive in Dante and in his decision to write in the vernacular His vernacular Italian reaches back through classical allusion to the Latin that was in his day the language of theology but it does so with a difference It is no accident that in the Commedia Virgil is Dante's guide The book opens with a discussion of just how Dante's poem is a comedy and it concludes with a discussion of the ends of poetry in a variety of senses enjambment at the ends of lines the concluding lines of poems and the end of poetry as a mode of writing this sort of literature Of course to have poetry end does not mean that people stop writing it but that literature passes into a period in which it is concerned with its own ending with its own bounds and limits historical and otherwise Though most of the essays make specific reference to various authors of the Italian literary tradition including Dante Polifilo Pascoli Delfini and Caproni they transcend the confines of Italian literature and engage several other literary and philosophical authors Plato Aristotle the Stoics Boethius the Provençal poets Mallarmé and Hölderlin among others

Random Order Branden Wayne Joseph, Robert Rauschenberg, 2003 An examination of the artistic development of Robert Rauschenberg focusing on his relationship with John Cage and his role in the making of the American neo avant garde

Democracy, Revolution, and Monarchism in Early American Literature Paul Downes, 2002-08-15 Paul Downes combines literary criticism and political history in order to explore responses to the rejection of monarchism in the American revolutionary era Downes analysis considers the Declaration of Independence Franklin's autobiography Crèvecoeur's Letters from an American Farmer and the works of America's first significant literary figures including Charles Brockden Brown Washington Irving and James Fenimore Cooper He claims that the post revolutionary American state and the new democratic citizen inherited some of the complex features of absolute monarchy even as they were strenuously trying to assert their difference from it In chapters that consider the revolution's mock execution of George III the Elizabethan notion of the king's two bodies and the political significance of the secret ballot Downes points to the traces of monarchical political structures within the practices and discourses of early American democracy This is an ambitious study of an important theme in early American culture and society The Highest Poverty Giorgio Agamben, 2023-05-25 The acclaimed philosopher and author of Homo Sacer contemplates the possibility of true human freedom through a deep analysis of monastic stricture What is a rule if it appears to become confused with life And what is a human life if in every one of its gestures of its words and of its silences it cannot be distinguished from the rule It is to these questions that Giorgio Agamben's new book turns by means of an impassioned reading of the phenomenon of Western monasticism from Pachomius to St Francis The Highest Poverty meticulously reconstructs the lives of monks with their obsessive attention to temporal articulation and to the Rule to ascetic techniques and to liturgy But Agamben's thesis is that the true novelty of monasticism lies not in the confusion between life and norm but in the discovery of a new dimension in which life is affirmed in its autonomy and in which the claim of the highest poverty and use challenges the law in ways that we must still grapple with today How can we think a form of life that is a human life released from the grip of law and a use of bodies and of the world that never becomes an appropriation How can we think life as something not subject to ownership but only for common use Taking Care of Youth and the Generations Bernard Stiegler, 2010 The book presents a powerful reminder of adults responsibility for the development of long term attention and thus of maturity in children particularly in the face of the techniques of attention destruction practiced by the programming industries Celan Studies Peter Szondi, 2003 Peter Szondi's Celan Studies marked the beginning of critical work on Paul Celan the most important German poet of the second half of the twentieth century The book's three studies each concentrate on a different Celan poem The Poetry of Constancy Paul Celan's Translation of Shakespeare's Sonnet 105 investigates a historical turn from a poetry that claims to present its object to a poetry that only promises to do so Reading Engführung follows the movement of poetic language into territory undisclosed to epistemic reason Eden addresses Du liegst a poem on the murder of Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht Szondi actually was with Celan when the poem was written It analyzes the relation between the historical facts to which a poem refers and its composition The book contains as appendixes Szondi's notes for three more projected studies of Celan poems left unwritten at the time of his death in 1971 Book of Addresses Peggy Kamuf, 2005 This book consists of a series of essays that all turn around questions of the address of speech or writing They argue and demonstrate that meaning is not just a matter of the active intention of a subject for example speaker writer or other signatory of a meaningful act but also of its reception at another's address The book's main concern is therefore with a theory of meaning and of action that is not centered on the intentional self-conscious subject The fifteen chapters explore this problematic within three broad areas love jealousy and sexual difference fiction or literature and political or public discourse

 The book engages principally with contemporary French thought and includes important new readings of work by Jacques

Derrida H l ne Cixous Maurice Blanchot and Jean Luc Nancy What Is Real? Giorgio Agamben,2018-11-13 Eighty years ago Ettore Majorana a brilliant student of Enrico Fermi disappeared under mysterious circumstances while going by ship from Palermo to Naples How is it possible that the most talented physicist of his generation vanished without leaving a trace It has long been speculated that Majorana decided to abandon physics disappearing because he had precociously realized that nuclear fission would inevitably lead to the atomic bomb This book advances a different hypothesis Through a careful analysis of Majorana s article The Value of Statistical Laws in Physics and Social Sciences which shows how in quantum physics reality is dissolved into probability and in dialogue with Simone Weil s considerations on the topic Giorgio Agamben suggests that by disappearing into thin air Majorana turned his very person into an exemplary cipher of the status of the real in our probabilistic universe In so doing the physicist posed a question to science that is still awaiting an answer What is Real

Care Crosses the River Hans Blumenberg,2010-08-16 In this collection of short meditations on various topics Hans Blumenberg eschews academic ponderousness and writes in a genre evocative of Montaigne s Essais Walter Benjamin s Denkbilder or Adorno s Minima Moralia Drawing upon an intellectual tradition that ranges from Aesop to Wittgenstein and from medieval theology to astrophysics he works as a detective of ideas scouring the periphery of intellectual and philosophical history for clues metaphors gestures anecdotes essential to grasping human finitude Images of shipwrecks attempts at ordering the world and questions of foundations are traced through the work of Goethe Schopenhauer Simmel Husserl Thomas Mann and others The book s reflections culminate in a rereading of the fable Care Crosses the River that lies at the center of Heidegger s analysis of Dasein in which the fable s elided Gnostic center is recovered Care creates the human in its own image as a reflection of its narcissism At stake throughout are two inextricable elements of Blumenberg s thought a theory of nonconceptuality as essential to philosophizing and an exploration of culture understood as humanity s unceasing attempts to relieve itself of the weight of the absolutism of reality

The Declared Enemy Jean Genet,2004 This posthumous work brings together texts that bear witness to the many political causes and groups with which Genet felt an affinity including May 68 and the treatment of immigrants in France but especially the Black Panthers and the Palestinians Genet speaks for a politics of protest with an uncompromising outrage that today might seem on the verge of being forgotten

Being Singular Plural Jean-Luc Nancy,2000 This book by one of the most innovative and challenging contemporary thinkers rethinks community and the very idea of the social Nancy s fundamental argument is that being is always being with that I is not prior to we that existence is essentially co existence

British art cinema Paul Newland,Brian Hoyle,2019-07-23 This is the first book to provide a direct and comprehensive account of British art cinema Film history has tended to view British filmmakers as aesthetically conservative but the truth is they have a long tradition of experiment and artistry both within and beyond the mainstream Beginning with the silent period and running up to the 2010s the book draws attention to this tradition while acknowledging that art cinema in Britain is a complex and fluid concept that needs to be considered within broader concerns It will be of particular interest to scholars and students of British cinema history film genre experimental filmmaking and British cultural history Creation and Anarchy Giorgio Agamben, 2023-05-25 The acclaimed Italian philosopher interrogates the concept of creation in art religion and economics in this collection of five essays Creation and the giving of orders are closely entwined in Western culture where God commands the world into existence and later issues the injunctions known as the Ten Commandments The arche or origin is always also a command and a beginning is always the first principle that governs and decrees This is as true for theology where God not only creates the world but governs and continues to govern through continuous creation as it is for the philosophical and political tradition according to which beginning and creation command and will together form a strategic apparatus without which our society would fall apart The five essays collected here aim to deactivate this apparatus through a patient archaeological inquiry into the concepts of work creation and command Giorgio Agamben explores every nuance of the arche in search of an archaic exit strategy By the book's final chapter anarchy appears as the secret center of power brought to light so as to make possible a philosophical thought that might overthrow both the principle and its command
