Proceedings of the International Conference on AI Research Carlos Goncalves, Jose Carlos Dias Rouco, Empowering Women in Academia: Improving Methods, Practices, and Approaches for Change and Transformation (IMPACT) Kincade, Lolita L., Brossette, Alicia, Lacy, Constance, Benjamin, Crystal, 2025-03-07 Empowering women in academia is essential for fostering diversity equity and inclusion within educational institutions The Improving Methods Practices and Approaches for Change and Transformation IMPACT initiative aims to address systemic barriers that hinder women's advancement in academic careers by advocating for structural changes developing support networks and promoting leadership opportunities By rethinking traditional academic practices and embracing innovative approaches IMPACT seeks to create an equitable environment where women can thrive as researchers educators and leaders Further research of the initiative may inspire a more inclusive and transformative future for academia that benefits all students faculty and institutions Empowering Women in Academia Improving Methods Practices and Approaches for Change and Transformation IMPACT explores the recruitment retention and success of women administrators faculty and staff in academic environments It examines the lived experiences of women faculty and leaders including unique intersectional experiences and experiences of women from underrepresented groups This book covers topics such as gender studies imposter syndrome and sociology and is a useful resource for educators administrators academicians sociologists and researchers Research in Education, 1974 Success for College Students with Learning Disabilities Susan A. Vogel, Pamela B. Adelman, 2012-12-06 JANET W LERNER This timely volume explores issues pertinent to the emerging subject of college education for adults with learning disabilities The inspiration for the book was a conference held at Barat College in Lake Forest Illinois on April 7 1990 entitled College Students with Learning Disabilities Reviewing the 80s and Planning for the 90s The occasion was the celebration of the tenth anniversary of Barat College's program for college students with learning disabilities Papers presented at this conference plus several additional invited chapters and those of the co editors are included in this much needed publication Only a few years ago college was out of the question for most adults with learning disabilities It is heartening to note that this situation has changed substantially over the last 15 or so years with great strides in opportunities for adults with learning disabilities to acquire a college level education From a slow beginning with programs such as the one at Barat College there are today programs and support services in a variety of settings at a growing number of colleges and universities Many individuals with learning disabilities can look forward to experiencing college and better preparing themselves for the future The collection of papers in this book offers a comprehensive review of this exciting and challenging field How to Enhance Learning Efficiency When Online Learning is Popular and Indispensable: Theory, Research and Practice Rong Lian, Chang Liu, Juzhe Xi, 2024-07-17 Online learning has become more and more common globally whether for comfort adapting to work hours or just having the freedom to study from anywhere And now under the coronavirus pandemic as people are having to stay at home it has become more important than ever Although the popularity of wireless network and portable smart device makes it possible for people to acquire and learn knowledge anytime and anywhere it does not necessarily mean an increased learning performance Relevant research in cognitive science has revealed possible limitations in online learning For example the knowledge acquired through online learning tends to be fragmented and lacks guidance for integrated thinking among different subjects which makes it difficult for learners to form a systematic knowledge structure Learners may experience cognitive overload metacognitive illusion and low learning efficiency in self regulated learning It follows that in the post COVID 19 era online learning puts forward new requirements and challenges to the contemporary students not only to their learning strategies but positive character traits in learning Most of the current learning theories were developed in the early 20th century and may not fit in well with the current situation then possibly leading to inefficient learning and increased learning burden Therefore it is necessary and important to reexplore the influencing factors and mechanisms that affect the learning efficiency of students at all levels nowadays based on which we could construct a theoretical model of efficient learning model

Towards a Framework for Representational Competence in Science Education Kristy L. Daniel, 2018-06-20 This book covers the current state of thinking and what it means to have a framework of representational competence and how such theory can be used to shape our understanding of the use of representations in science education assessment and instruction Currently there is not a consensus in science education regarding representational competence as a unified theoretical framework There are multiple theories of representational competence in the literature that use differing perspectives on what competence means and entails Furthermore dependent largely on the discipline language discrepancies cause a potential barrier for merging ideas and pushing forward in this area While a single unified theory may not be a realistic goal there needs to be strides taken toward working as a unified research community to better investigate and interpret representational competence An objective of this book is to initiate thinking about a representational competence theoretical framework across science educators learning scientists practitioners and scientists As such we have divided the chapters into three major themes to help push our thinking forward presenting current thinking about representational competence in science education assessing representational competence within learners and using our understandings to structure
