Improvisations on a Missing String Nazik Saba Yared, 1997-01-01 As she awaits an operation in hospital in Beirut Saada Rayyis a teacher of Arabic literature ponders the meaning of her Christian Arab heritage An examination of biculturalism The Other Side of Nowhere Daniel Fischlin, Ajay Heble, 2004-03-30 Scholars composers and performers write about the art of jazz improvisation Hikayat Roseanne Saad Khalaf, 2012-11-01 From Lebanon's golden age through years of civil conflict and its aftermath these women offer a captivating portrait of a country in flux Well known authors such as Emily Nasarallah Hanan al Shaykh and Alawiya Sobh alongside newer voices share the desire to push boundaries tackling subjects from the crippling effects of war in past decades through longing for romantic adventures in a conservative society to the functioning of families across the divides of emigration and generational conflict The characters in these stories are on the brink of something whether it be religious or social divides or sexual awakening The language reflects the great tension and the great beauty in their transformation And the collection as a whole reveals the rich diversity of the complex multi cultural society out of which these stories have emerged In turn lyrical sensuous comic and ironic rare and fascinating Independent Some truly insightful engaging work New Statesman Ageing in the Modern Arabic Novel Aghacy Samira Aghacy, 2020-09-21 There are more than 15 million people aged over 65 currently living in the MENA region yet little attention has been paid to the cultural significance of growing old This book recognises the widespread silence by countering the critical corpus that reads modern Arabic novels as a political discourse with an emphasis on youth achievement By assembling a range of fictional works from different parts of the Arab world that incorporate older characters this book draws on a range of theoretical approaches to aging particularly from the perspective of gender and feminism to reconcile the biological and cultural understandings of old age It reveals that there is no standard female or male experience and no single prototype of oldness in the modern Arabic novel and that men and women manifest a multiplicity of identities concerns and experiences as they grow older Improvisations on a Missing String , 1997 As she awaits an operation in hospital in Beirut Saada Rayyis a teacher of Arabic literature ponders the meaning of her Christian Arab heritage An examination of biculturalism Autobiographical Identities in Contemporary Arab Culture Valerie Anishchenkova, 2014-07-16 Over the last 40 years autobiography in Arab societies has moved away from exemplary life narratives and toward more unorthodox techniques such as erotic memoir writing postmodernist self fragmentation cinematographic self projection and blogging Valerie Anishchenkova argues that the Arabic autobiographical genre has evolved into a mobile unrestricted category arming authors with narrative tools to articulate their selfhood Reading works from Arab nations such as Egypt Iraq Morocco Syria and Lebanon Anishchenkova connects the century's rapid political and ideological developments to increasing autobiographical experimentation in Arabic works The immense scope of her study also forces consideration of film and online forms of self representation and offers a novel theoretical framework to these various modes of autobiographical
